"THE FAIR"

415 MAIN STREET

For all forms of nasal catarrh where there is dryness of the air passages with what is commonly called "stuffed up" especially when going to bed, Ely's Cream Balm gives immediate relief. Its benefit to me has been priceless.—A. G. Case, M. D., Millwood, Kansas.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm and, much to our surprise there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured. O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

The river is up to-day and continues rising.

The Marionetts at the opera house to-morrow night.

A. E. Barrett, we are sorry to say, is quite ill with something like an attack of typhoid fever.

A handsome Northern Pacific special "Salvator" went west the morning attached to No. 5.

Last night's rain was a splendid one and must have done much good after the hot drying winds for the past two days.

It is reported that Brown & Barrett are selling wall paper cheaper than any other house in the city.

The Sheedy trial at Lincoln cost Lancaster county $6,000, not counting the coroner's inquest or salaries of court officers.

The relatives of Mrs. Grusel in attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. Baily yesterday returned to Hastings this morning.

Reserved seats at the opera house only 35 cents for to-morrow night. Get your seats engaged at once or you will have to sit in the back row.

Jim Antill must be a great man for black birds; he shot eight out of a possible ten Tuesday, while that veteran sport and crack shot, W. D. Jones, only got five out of ten.

The Epworth League convention at Greenwood was largely attended, and much interest was manifested in the work of the organization. The labors of the convention will not close until this evening.

As fun-makers the Marionette comedy company, composed entirely of local talent, will prove the equal of any show that has been at the opera house this season. Don't fail to attend.

Judge Vanatta received the sad news this morning of the death of his daughter, Mrs. May Willer, at Sioux City. As the funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock the relatives in this city were unable to attend.

A fellow with a patent stink factory labeled as a new disinfectant left one of his machines at the B. & M. baggage room this morning for C. W. Sherman of the Journal. Whether it was done as a joke, or he thought a disinfectant was needed in that quarter we were unable to learn.

The Newell Davis elevator down near the shop yard took a slide last night and went down the hill 15 or 20 feet into the shop yards near the coal shed. The building was not wrecked as badly as one might suppose, yet it will have to be torn to pieces before it can be replaced. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

Peter Merges loaded his household goods for Omaha this morning where he expects to take up his permanent abode. Mrs. Merges will come back each week for a time to finish up her term of music teaching. Her presence will be specially missed in musical circles. As a successful teacher she had no superior in the city.

Miss Ethel Marsland, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Marsland of Lincoln, was married yesterday to Mr. James A. Drain, a book-keeper in the Citizens National Bank at Spokane, Washington. The many friends of the Marslands in this city tender their congratulations and best wishes to the bride, who was for several years a resident here.

The editor of the Journal is sorely grieved over the christening of the square as Garfield Park. If it had been named Jeff. Davis Park or Stonewall Jackson Park it would please our contemporary much better. When our neighbor discovered that Garfield was a traitor to Senator Sherman at the national convention, he made a discovery that Senator Sherman, who was on the ground at the time, never found out. Garfield had no warmer friend than John Sherman up to the day of his death.

The passenger department of the M. P. have taken under advisement the proposition to run a train from Nebraska City to Plattsmouth on the 29th and return in the evening, to attend the corner stone laying; also a train on the Fourth to attend the celebration, returning after the fireworks display in the evening. The rates will be half fare and the train will stop at all intermediate stations. As soon as it is known to a certainty that we can have the train, THE HERALD will give due notice.

A Fatal Wreck.

Word comes to THE HERALD to-day to the effect that a washout last night near Bradshaw, so loosened the supports to a bridge that the west bound engine on freight train No. 45 while crossing was precipitated to the bottom of the creek, killing the engineer, fireman, and head brakman. But meagre details of the awful disaster could be learned as the rail road men were not disposed to talk about it.

LATER—The latest news from the Bradshaw wreck is to the effect that the engineer Geo. Delaney, and his fireman—Bean, have been killed while the head brakman escaped with serious injuries. Seventeen box cars are piled up on top of and about the engine.

The Nebraska City ball team went home this morning as the rain spoiled the game.

St. Johns School
The closing exercises of St. Johns school were held in the opera house last evening and were attended by a large and appreciative audience. The program was carefully arranged each number being one of merit. The different drills were especially good and showed an infinite amount of work on the part of the sisters. The singing of the little folks gave emphatic evidence of skillful training by those well versed in music. The operetta entitled "Grandma's Birthday" was a charming juvenile opera that was rendered very pleasantly by the young people. The piano playing by Josie Murphy, Katie McCourt, Miss Lovell and one or two other little girls was well worthy of special mention.

The exercises last night marked the close of the schools during the hot summer months to begin again the work in September. To appreciate fully the splendid work being done by the sisters one should visit the school and note the care, zeal and ability shown by the instructors. Father Carney and the sisters deserve much from our people in return for the splendid educational facilities which are enjoyed at their hands.

These books are very much needed by the chorus now rehearsing music for the Fourth of July celebration and it is hoped any persons having in their possession copies of this book will respond to this request.

The overhauling of the street car line will be completed to-day if the rain does not interfere with the work. The electric company will then start the car and run it long enough to demonstrate the fact as to whether it can be made to work satisfactorily or not.

The monster ten-wheel engine on the bridge run had to be taken off to repair the tracks, and bridges across the river. They wouldn't stand the weight of the mogul without endangering the safety of the train.

Mrs. Peter Merges, expects to leave to-morrow for Omaha, her future home, she expected to bid her friends all a personal good by, but sickness prevented her doing so.

The Plattsmouth Turners accompanied by the B. & M. band leave to-night for the Turnfest at Fremont. They will not return until Sunday morning.

VERY FISHY BALL.

A Game Full of Wild and Wonderful Misplays.

A Great Attempt to Ruin the Popularity of the National Game.

Plattsmouth 15. Nebraska City 13.
Eighteen specimens of humanity drifted out to the base ball park yesterday and made great and noble stabs of playing ball. They worked the reciprocity racket in great shape and exchanged errors with the greatest of ease. Whenever an unfortunate caught a ball he was promptly hooted off the diamond and given to understand that such plays were not tolerated on that ground.

After the circus was over and the footings were made up it was found that Plattsmouth had beaten the visitors and had rolled up one more error than their competitors, which fact gratified the home club and its friends tremendously.

Nebraska City started out pretty brash for a lot of jays. They rolled up one score and left pretty big until Plattsmouth made four scores in her half.

In the second the Missourians couldn't see, and didn't score. Plattsmouth made two more runs by way of variety in her half.

Neither side had their specs with them in the third.

Nebraska City was blind in the fourth.

Plattsmouth in her half of the fourth added two more to their score, and made it stand 8 to 4, in favor of Plattsmouth.

Then right here the idea became prevalent among the home club that they were too speedy for the visitors, and they at once began to scheme how to even matters up. It didn't take them long to hit on a plan. They allowed the visitors to fill the bases and make a home run and quit the fifth inning with a score of 8 to 6, in favor of Plattsmouth.

Then the jays from the town down the river refused to have the game as a present, and in the next two innings they gave the home club seven scores. This made the score 15 to 6, and everybody got ready to go home.

But the locals didn't want that game. In fact, they determined rather than take that game they would sacrifice their manhood. So the mandate went forth that no man was to touch the ball, under penalty of instant removal from the team.

In the next two innings the visitors rolled up seven runs. They might as well have had nineteen or twenty, but they refused to take them.

Aside from the general disreputable playing of both clubs the feature of the game was the acrobatic performance of T. Herbert Pollock in right field. Herbert secured for himself a place in the secret archives of the club as a great Hindoo, or Hoodoo, juggler and tumbler.

Miller, of the Nebraska City's, pitched a good game and ought to have won, but his confederates wouldn't let him. Gadke caught a good game for the visitors.

The score is too harrowing to the public sight; it will be reserved as a priceless relic by the management.

The score by innings is as follows:
Plattsmouth ..... 2 0 2 0 4 3 0 7-15
Nebraska City ..... 1 0 0 0 5 0 0 6-13

Base Hits—Plattsmouth 15, Nebraska City 8.
Errors—Plattsmouth 12, Nebraska City 11.
Batteries—Patterson and Patrick, Miller and Gadke. Umpire—Mcroy.
