HE WASN'T ENTERED IN THE SHOW, BUT WAS GIVEN AN AWARD

He Was a Homely Brindle Cur of the Streets and He Saved His Little Gam-Master from a Watery Death—The Faithful Dog Receives Due Credit.

There was a touch show of dogs in the Central rink, and all the pugs, and terriers, and mastiffs, and St. Bernards, and bulldogs, and all the other high bred dogs who were sure to what class they belonged and whose owner could prove their right to be so classed were there.
 People were coming and going, and the papers had been full of descriptions of the affair, illustrated by wood cuts of some of the finest animals.

Over on another street of the same city was quite a different scene. In a narrow court near the river lay a shivering, white faced little shaver, whose clothes dripped water. Over him bent another boy with a quart of steaming hot liquid in his hand.

"Drink this here hot coffee, Jim," he said. "Bill's gone for to hunt up some dry duds, and maybe we can get yer interthat engine room ter dry. Don't yer go ter gettin' faint nor nothin' now. Want yer head raised a bit?"

But the boy raised himself on his elbow and looked around him. He took a drink of the coffee, and seeming to get strength said:

"Where's Buster?"

"Oh, he's around somewhere. Buster's all right. There comes the boys with the duds, and we'll have you all right, too, in a minute. Don't feel dizzy or nothin', do yer?"

"I'm beginning to feel first rate again.
 Where's Buster? Some of you whistle:
 I ain't got the wind."

But at that moment a bobtailed brindle dog came around the corner, closely pursued by a couple of boys.

"Let Buster alone! What are you chasing Buster for?" demanded the prostrate boy.

"Why, yer see," explained the others still keeping up the chase, "there was a man said if we could get him around to the dog show they'd give him a prize for pulling you out of the river, and he won't let us catch him."

LOOKING FOR A PRIZE.
 "Wot sort of a prize is it?" demanded the wet boy.

"Money, you woodenhead, you. They're all swells down there, and he said there's a prize for the best dog that saves a feller's life."

This was enough to satisfy the inquiries of the smaller boy, and to excite the best efforts of the others to capture the dog, but for some reasons he eluded them. Perhaps he had good reasons for being suspicious of boys who were too friendly. Anyway, he dodged and kept out of their way, almost causing one of them to be crushed under the wheels of a cable car, when the wet boy gave a low whistle and ordered the dog to "come ere."

The animal obeyed without a whine.
 "Now lay down!" The dog got down and put his nose between his paws. "You've got to go and get that there prize, and I'm going too."

It was doubtful at first if the boy would be able to keep his word, but by the help of the others, who had taken off his wet clothing and wrapped him up in something drier, he managed to go.

When he saw his master going the dog followed, and they soon stood before the bulletin board in front of the rink, announcing the bench show and the terms of admittance.

There was some consultation, and then while four of them stayed with the boy who had been in the water, one of the largest took the dog by the strap around his neck, and, paying the admission fee with the combined wealth of the company, undertook to drag the dog in with him.

"Here! leave that dog outside," commanded the doorkeeper. "You can't take that dog in with you, I say."

"What's the reason? Ain't I taking him in to get the prize?"

"What prize? There is no prize for such curs as that. Turn him out, I tell you."

A PRIZE WAS GIVEN.
 "Yes, there is a prize. Wot are you givin' us? Didn't a man tell me so? He ain't going to eat up none of your fine haired pups, but he's goin' to get that prize."

There might have been a fracas and an arrest, for the boy who had paid his money was positive and determined, but just then a gentleman chanced to step to the door and asked what was the matter.

"Oh, he's got a fool notion about a prize for brindle pups," explained the gatekeeper, "and is making a fuss about his dog going in."

"There isn't such a prize offered, I am positive," said the man. "I am one of the judges."

"What sort of a show is this here, then?"

"A dog show, of course."

"And no prize for the best dog?"

"It is for a certain kind of dogs—those that cost a great deal of money."

"And not for the kind that jumps into the ice and drags a boy outen the river?"

"Did your dog do that?"

"Yes; and that there's the boy he did it to."

The gentleman looked incredulous, but just then a newspaper reporter who had been watching the boys from the street stepped up and corroborated the statement.

"Wait here a minute," said the gentleman; and he disappeared within and went briskly to where a group of his friends were talking. In a minute he came back with something in his hand, and followed by several others.

"We have decided," he said, "that there ought to be a prize for that kind of a dog, and here is a five dollar gold piece for the owner of the dog," and at the same time he stepped forward and tied a knot of blue ribbon to the strap around the dog's neck.

A prouder lot of boys were never seen than those street waifs as they led the dog away.—Our Dumb Animals.
