REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The republican electors of the state of Nebraska are requested to send delegates from their several counties, to meet in convention in the city of Lincoln, Thursday, September 24, 1891, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for one associate justice of the supreme court, and two members of the board of regents of the state university, and to transact such other business as may be presented to the convention.

JOHN C. WATSON,
WALTER M. SEELY, Chairman,
Secretary.

A CABLEGRAM from London makes much of the statement that business property was recently sold in the English metropolis "at the rate of $2,500,000 per acre." Chicago is only half a century old, but the English boast is dwarfed by recent transactions in realty. The corner lot upon which the Inter Ocean Building stands cost $7,500 per front foot. This would mean at a rate of $8,157,500 per acre. This sale created so much of a stir that Fred Leslie, the English comedian, nightly sighed for "a scarf pin mounted with a lump of that corner lot dirt." The northeast corner of Clark and Washington, where the Reaper Block stands, was recently sold for $100 per square foot, and the northwest corner of State and Madison for $92. Both these sales would mean over $1,000,000 per acre.—Inter Ocean.

The sound money principles will win again in Ohio. Nothing is more certain. That state has gone through more than one fight on the financial question and the wise leadership of John Sherman has always resulted in victory for the right. Governor Campbell free silver platform is sufficient to condemn him and his party at polls in October if there were no other issues. The home of the man who brought about the resumption of specie payments, in the face of a virulent democratic opposition will not go back on him now. Campbell's defeat resolves itself into a question of how emphatic the level headed people of Ohio wish to condemn the relic of greenbackism and free-trade.

It was a grand rain that fell in great abundance this morning.

GOVERNOR BOIES of Iowa finds it up-hill work making a canvass against Hiram C. Wheeler, the farmer candidate for governor in that state.

EX-SENATOR INGALLS says he is republican to the core. The Globe-Democrat in speaking of some of his recent utterances thinks he needs a new core.

THE increase in government receipts in the half of the first month of the new fiscal year is certainly gratifying to republicans, and would be to democrats as well, if they did not place party supremacy above their patriotism and desire for good government.

I. W. LANSING, president of the republican state league of Nebraska, has issued an address to his fellow republicans congratulating them on the favorable outlook for party success and encouraging the rank and file to keep up an organization and a live party spirit.

NO WONDER St. Paul feels aggrieved. When she undertook to make her census Minneapolis poked in her nose and spoiled all the fun. When she spent some $20,000 for a little "trap" then the sheriff and the governor jumped in and threatened to arrest the town. St. Paul has about reached the conclusion that "this is no free country."—E. X.

ONE of the Southern orators the other day remarked, in speaking of Jefferson Davis, that "Virginia will guard and honor the remains of one who has sacrificed so much, not only for the Confederacy, but for the whole country as well." The general impression is, and has been for some time, that Jefferson Davis was the luckiest criminal ever produced upon American soil.

THE HERALD expressed an opinion on this election of governor business one day in advance of the Omaha or Lincoln dailies. We thought an election was not called for, hence we have not been compelled to flop, by the crystallization of public opinion against our theory. It men thought more of principle, and less of personal spite and personal aggrandizement, there wouldn't be any occasion for so much hedging and duplicity.

"IN 1886 there were 365,000 pensioners on the rolls, and in 1890 there were 538,000. The New York Herald publishes this and viciously adds: "These figures need no comment." Certainly not. They show that nearly 200,000 old soldiers refused to ask for a pension, even when entitled to it, so long as they were able to earn a living. But when age united with broken health to make them helpless they sent their names to Washington and received their pensions."

THE St. Louis papers are making a vigorous complaint against some of their citizens going to New York and Paris to trade, especially in carpets and household furniture. Nobody seems to be happy. We had supposed that when Plattsmouth people went to Omaha to trade they were alone in their villainy, but now we are told St. Louis is afflicted even worse. We should take comfort from the fact that our folks trade in Nebraska and don't go to New York and Paris as the St. Louis people do.

THE HERALD has always had a high regard for John Watson but we believe he made a mistake when he stirred up party politics by projecting this "governor business" onto public notice. He claims to have been moved solely by the demand which came to him by letter from leading republicans all over the state. The public would like to know the names of these "leading republicans" (?) who have been stirring up the chairman of the state central committee, as there is a lingering doubt in the minds of the people as to the demand having come from more than three or four men, and some of them now refuse to stand by it. Give us more data major, and let us see who wants an election held for governor this fall.

PRESIDENT OF THE LEAGUE.
The speech of General James S. Clarkson at the reception tendered him on his safe return from Europe had in it that broad spirit and true American ring which touches men's hearts, if heart they have. As President of the National Republican League, his utterances naturally attracted attention in advance as reflecting the spirit of the great national organization of which he is the head.

He came back from his European trip prouder than ever of America and American institutions. As he goes abroad to study other nations finds that the American is a composite of the better races of Europe and the discovery tends to broaden him and make him still more an American.

In the course of his address Gen. Clarkson showed his own broad American spirit by declaring that "Any enterprise which depends for success on human beings must have humanity represented in its standard-bearer. Give us breadth and increase the growing breadth of the party. The recruiting field of the republican party extends everywhere. The party is growing more tolerant in every way, and we are gaining many thousands of Irishmen, and there are half a million of Irishmen in the democratic party that belong to us. I am of Puritan origin and Protestant faith, but I have as much faith and confidence in the patriotism and loyalty of the members of the Catholic church as of any other denomination in America. Every battlefield in America has been wet with Catholic blood, shed in defense of the Republic."

These were sentiments worthy of the American and Christian patriot that General Clarkson is. They interpret the constitution aright. They wake responsive chords in the souls of all true Americans, Catholics and Protestants alike. They are sentiments to fire men's hearts together, to rouse enthusiasm, to lead to victory. They were characteristic of General Clarkson's entire speech, and mark him as one of her children of whom Columbia has good reason to feel proud.—Irish World.
