Jas. G. Blaine sees the tendency of the minds of the people toward free trade and to get ahead of the democratic plan for attaining it takes a near cut across lots and heads off the stampede by furnishing the demand under the guise of a new name: -reciprocity.-Lucas (Ia) Review.

In writing the above the author demonstrates that he does not wholly comprehend the meaning of the reciprocal trade relations, we have established with foreign countries and that in his conclusion he is not fair in dealing with the past record of Mr. Blaine on this question. Now the position taken by Mr. Blain, in the past-and he has stood equarely on the republican platform-has been a tariff for protection not for revenue only as revenue is needed to carry on the affairs of the government economically adminstered. They say let us place a tariff upon those articles, which, with sufficient protection we can produce at home and, which, in a short time will enable us to give employment to our own labor at higher wages, increase the wealth of our own country and above all, furnish our goods at a less figure than when depending upon the foreign monopoly; but, says Mr. Blaine, there are a great many articles produced in foreign countries, upon which we depend and must continue to depend, let our people have all protection possible, because of our utter inability to produce the articles such as: sugar from sugar cane, coffee, tea etc. Mr. Blaine says that a tariff on these articles is not protection for America but is a tax to consumers, and instead of operating to reduce tried many remedies, but none did the cost of the article, it enhances the cost to the amount of the tariff. M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Ave., Now comes the reciprocity feature, Boston Highlands, Mass.

the stipulations of which, provisions ther words reciprocal trade relatries goods which we connot produce, and give them in exchange goods they cannot produce.

Now how, in view of the facts in the case, one can assert that Mr. Blaine standing on the republican platform-has abandoned protection and espoused free trade is more than we can clearly see. Again our friend intimates that reciprocity is democratic doctrine. Nothing could be farther from the fact of the matter. The democratic party does not favor tariff for protection as does the republican party but a tariff for revenue. Then, since the reciprocity feature, provides for the mutual exchange of the commodaties - namely, those we cannot profitably produce here, which are the very article upon which the democratic party wishes a tariff. how our friend can give democracy credit for reciprocity we cannot see. If our friend doubts our word as to the policy of the democratic party, we refer him to the mills bill or the great Mesiah? And stuffed prophet Grover Cleveland. Our friend is more con ervative than the average democrat in admitting the good bound to come from reciprocity and we believe he could do good service in the republican party.

THE LATE MRS. POLK.

Few women of the present century have lived longer or more happily than the late Mrs. Polk. The century was but three years old when she was born and lacked but nine years of its completion when she died. She was a school girl when Jackson defeated the British at New Orleans, and was in her forty-fifth year when Scott's army entered the City of Mexico. Marriedat the early age of 19 she contributed largely to her husband's that has been done every year, the trout popularity by the grace and dignity are small and scarce. The miners use with which she presided over his household during the many years of his Congressional life and during the term of his Presidency. A rigidly orthodox Presbyterian, she excluded what she held to be "worldy amusements" from the White House during her occupancy of it, and held very much such a place in popular esteem as long fterward was held by Mrs. Hayes.

President Polk died in little more than three months after he had left of voice figures. A book on the subject the White House; for forty-three years his wife maintained a stately and a saintly widowhood. The cheerful gravity that distinguished her public life was natural to her It is recomended that no proxies and sat gracefully upon her in her Southern mansion. During the war the Union general whose armies first occupied Nashville called and paid their respects to the consort of the President under whose administration the Mexican war was fought and Texas and California added to the National domain. After peace was restored the Congress of the United States voted her a pension of $5,000 a year which she enjoyed to the day of her death. It may be long before another President's widow survives for nearly half a century the administration of her husband. Inter | in Healdsburg (on the Russian river, far Ocean.

The average age of the band was thirteen. They inaugurated their defiance of the law by boldly playing truant, and then they took refuge in the wilds of the Grunewald, where, in true brigand fashion, they hid themselves. After a night passed in this fashion they felt the pangs of hunger, and consequently they sallied forth at an early hour and seized the milk cans and baskets of new rolls which had been left at the doors of the neighboring villas. This, however, they thought was scarcely heroic, and their next step was to garrote an old gentleman who was taking a morning stroll in the park. Somehow or other the Berlin police got wind of the affair, and the juvenile bandits were seized. They are now languishing in grewsome dungeons, where, by meanof a cane administered at intervals, it ihoped that they may be made aware of the historic fact that in northern Europe brigandage is an anachronism.-Pall Mall Budget.

Argentine Frenchmen in Want.

The grant of the French government of 1,000,000 francs toward the expense of bringing distressed French emigrants in the Argentine Republic back to France is sufficiently significant of the inexpediency of emigration to that country at this time. Mr. Herbert, British secretary of legation at Buenos Ayres, is clearly at one with the French authorities on this point, for he expresses a hope that the flow thither of British emigration may cease for the present.

The British colonist adds to other causes of failure a special difficulty in acquiring the language of the people. His competitor, the Italian laborer, on the contrary, owing to the similarity of the language, climate and habits of the country with what he has been accustomed to, feels himself comparatively at home on landing, besides finding himself surrounded by a large number of his countrymen.-Paris Cor. Vandals in the Adirondacks.

Visitors from the Chateaugay lakes, Adirondacks, says that the glory of that region of tront and deer has departed. Notwithstanding the liberal stocking giant powder in the spring holes and on the spawning beds, and the hotel keepers are afraid to complain. In addition to this, many of the residents go up the side streams and catch fingerlings by the fishing. As long as the little fish are left undisturbed, the stock is kept up; them out is killing the goose that lays the golden egg.-Forest and Stream.

Voice Figures.

A coming "fad" or pursuit will be that has been written explaining and illustrating this new discovery of the forms produced by the human voice. At a recent reception in London some glass screens were provided, upon which, after certain preparations, were thrown the figures developed by the voice. These were very exact and well defined and resembled a plant or seaweed. We shall undoubtedly bave these exhibitions in New York drawing rooms before another season has passed, as the subject is York Times.
