Judge O. P. Mason

In the death of Judge Mason the state loses one of the greatest characters of her history. He came to Nebraska the 25th day of July, 1855, locating at Nebraska City where he resided until 1874 when he moved to Lincoln, where he has lived ever since.

He soon took a place in the front rank of the legal profession and was almost without a rival in Nebraska as a criminal lawyer, until he went on the bench as chief justice, June 15, 1867, a few months after the state was admitted to the Union.

Judge Mason was always strong in whatever he engaged. As a judge, he had a rough exterior, but back of that a fine, warm and active sense of justice, and a largeness and courage that caused him to change his rulings and reverse himself without hesitation when he concluded, as he often did, that he had gone wrong. His mind moved like a cyclone and he grasped the decisive points of a controversy readily, and his legal learning was very extensive, enabling him to pursue the subject in all its bearings in the full light of precedent.

Since retiring from the bench in 1872 he has ever been in the full practice of the law, and has been active in all public affairs of a general nature, filling the place of one of the strongest men of the state.

In territorial time he was conspicuous in the legislative and all general public affairs. Indeed but little of the history of the affairs of the leading men of Nebraska can be written with Judge Mason entirely omitted.

He was married to Mary J. Turner of Minersville, N. Y. Soon after he came to Nebraska. All the people about Nebraska City speak the praises of Mrs. Mason. She died in May, 1874, leaving as a fruit of the marriage, Jessie, (now Mrs. Harris), Grace, (now Mrs. Heland H. Wheeler), Alice and Bessie.

Judge Mason was born at Brookfield, Madison county, New York, May 13, 1829.

He died yesterday morning at Lincoln, and will be buried to-day at Nebraska City. He leaves behind a brilliant and enduring name in the history of this, his adopted state.

Everybody invited to attend the sociable to-night.

Omaha visitors are conspicuous for their absence to-day.

Will Acreman, well known in this city, left this morning for Cheyenne, Wyo., where he will work for the company.

The regular meeting, of the Ladies Aid Society, of the M. E. church, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Kinser, on Chicago Ave.

NORMAN IS SLUGGED.

Baker, of the Omahas, is Knocked out of the Box.

Plattsmouth Experiments With a Back Number and Drops a Game to Hastings.

Hastings 10; Plattsmouth 9. We mourn!

Our city is enshrouded in a darkness as thick and opaque as tar. Man is born but to die. Some die in the noble discharge of an unselfish duty, and others in their last feeble moments cover themselves with an ignominy too much to be printed.

Our old friend Norman L. Baker is of the latter class. He used to be the caper, but he don't go now. He played ball some years back but the whirligig of time has got in its destroying licks and Norman don't play any more. He thinks that he does, but he only makes a bold, bad bluff. Some other people in this village by the big muddy thought so until yesterday but they, too, have changed their minds.

When the sad and mournful intelligence reached the city last night, the handful of sports that braved the storm long enough to receive the news folded their tents like the Arabs and silently stole away.

But enough! Let us coldly and calmly view yesterday's game from this distance by the aid of the telegraph and see why it is thus.

And, first, we are told our aforesaid friend, Norman L. Baker, Esq., was pounded into the earth; that the "Hustlers" batted him for twelve base hits; that one of these was a home run and another was a two-bagger.

But Plattsmouth got a nice little bunch of hits also. Some nine, and three of them were home runs. Leslie got one of these and Messrs. Maupin and Dunn got the remainder. So our old friend, Mr. Baker, hit the ball!

Well, in the error column our boys only made one and the "Hustlers" got five. That was nice. So it seems that the Hastings team won by simply shocking Mr. Baker into insensibility.

In the seventh inning the home team fell onto our good old back number, Baker, with a great and unusual relish and Norman thought that the Milwaukee had him again. They pounded out seven runs in that inning and two in the eighth, and won the game.

No, Leslie, your days of usefulness are past. Your proper place is in the stable with the rest of the car horses. You have reached the zenith of your power and the symptoms of old age and decay are in your hair. You're not in it.

The score:
Hastings..... 0 0 0 1 0 7 2 *—10
Plattsmouth..... 2 0 0 0 3 0 0 3 2—9
Two base hit—Wallek.
Home runs—Robber: Baker, Maupin and Dunn.
Double play—Bulger, McKibben to Wallek.
Errors—11 (in 8). Plattsmouth 1.
Base hits—Has 12. Plattsmouth 9.

Miss Alice Wilson, one of our most prominent teachers in the city schools, returned home last night from an extended trip in Kansas, and Nebraska. She visited her parents at Iliou Kansas during her stay abroad.

Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Baird will leave to-day for Hot Springs, S. D. Rev. Baird has labored so faithfully and efficiently that his congregation prevailed upon him taking a much needed vacation. Mrs. Baird goes with a view of recuperating her health.

The Fremont Tribune contains an interesting account of the second annual banquet of the Alumni of the Normol College located there. It is certainly a strong association in view of its age, and reflects credit upon the young but prosperous institution from which it springs.

The Fremont Semi-Weekly Tribune strikes a decisive blow at the Hastings newspapers for their unprincipled mud slinging at the Fremont ball team. The Tribune intimates that Hastings stole the game and then resorts to abuse in order to cover up their crime. While Hastings was not "in it" to such an extent that she could steal the game from Plattsmouth, she was not slow in getting in her work of ridiculous falsifying, as was shown by reports sent to the Omaha papers.

MURRAY BREVITIES.

BY FANSY.

Mr. Lougs, of this city, buried their baby last Friday. It was only sick a short time.

The board of directors is repairing our school house. By the time it is completed our fall term of school will begin.

There are new improvements in our city almost every week. Our little station is growing and in a few years we will have a second Chicago.

The new Banner office has been a great improvement to our city. The Banner is at home to its many friends and will welcome any one to its sanctum.

A gentleman came down from Omaha with Rev. Graham to interest the young people in their church practice, which met on last Saturday evening.

The largest crowd we have seen at church for sometime was present at the United Presbyterian church last Sabbath evening. We listened to an eloquent discourse by Rev. Graham.

The Ladies' Aid Society gave a general supper at their church at Rock Creek on last Thursday evening. We understood their net proceeds amounted to about forty-seven dollars.

Murray can now boast of two livery stables. One has been opened the past week by Mr. Jack Shaw and Dr. Brendle. The barn has been remodeled and is now new and convenient. They invite the public to call and see them when in need of anything in their line of business.

A son of Mr. Bennett Chrissier, living two miles east of Murray, died very suddenly last Saturday morning, of inflammation of stomach. The funeral took place Sabbath afternoon at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church at Eight Mile Grove; a large assembly of people gathered to show their sympathy to the bereave family in their hour of sorrow.

Once again it becomes our pleasant duty to report news from Murray and surrounding country. It has been some time since items from this locality have been reported, but as we were visiting familiar haunts of bygone days and the home of our childhood, all other duties were laid aside, but we take up our pen as of old and begin the "old story" again.

The O. M. Society of Murray decided to have a tea drinking on last Saturday afternoon, and one of the crowd discovering that it was one of the number's birthday decided to surprise her. It being the birthday of Miss Jess Rankin they proceeded to her home, one mile east of Murray, and spent the afternoon very sociably together. Another meeting in the near future is looked for.

Lightning's Work.

Last night while the elements were raging most furiously, the barn of Mr. Andy Graham, located about half mile south east of the station house was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at $700, there being no insurance.

Last evening at 9 o'clock the dynamo at the electric power house was damaged by lightning to such an extent that it will have to be repaired considerably. No sooner was the damage done until the incandescent lights about the city were extinguished and ye dependencies left in Egyptian darkness. The apparatus furnishing power for the street car was damaged likewise. We are informed that it will be a few days before they can be repaired sufficiently to be used.

Notice

Don't forget the entertainment at the Presbyterian church, to-morrow Thursday evening, there will be music and singing by the members of the chorus of the Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches, and Y. M. C. A. quartette will give one or two selections, songs by the Bibby sisters and Kitty Agnew, also a violin solo by Miss Lilly Kauble, a number of recitations by our young people. Will be followed with ice cream and cake social in the parlors below. All are invited and we believe will be a most enjoyable time to all who attend. Attendance to entertainment 10c. cents. Ice cream and cake 10c. cents all taking part admitted. By order of Secretary.
