ONE man earning good wages in an industry in this country is worth half a dozen in the same industry in Europe as customers for the Western farmers. Do not forget it.—Indianapolis Journal.

We are sorry, of course, for the misfortunes of our European friends in the failure of their grain crop, but we are happy to be able to supply all their needs in this direction at a reasonable price.

THERE is a good deal of unnecessary howling about "the depreciation of farm lands." Try to buy a good farm and you will find it has value. There is more certainty in the values of farm lands to-day than in the values of any canal bridge or railroad property, and as a rule they pay better dividends.

It is now reported that President Harrison has authorized the statement that if Mr. Blaine desires the republican nomination for president he will step out of his way. If this proves to be a fact it will be the best of news for the western people, who will support Blaine against all competitors.

TIN-PLATE MACHINERY. The Robinson-Rea Mfg. Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., have been awarded a contract by the United States Iron and Tin-Plate Mfg. Company, Demmler, Pa., for a 600 horse-power piston valve, engine two tin-plate mills and several doubling and trimming shears.

The latter company also ordered two tin-plate mills from A. Garrison Foundry Company, about six weeks ago, which are to be completed about September 1, and which will be driven by an engine already at the works.

The new engine is to drive, besides the two tin-plate mills now ordered, a large sheet mill, which is already at the works, and two more tin-plate mills, a cold roll mill and sundry other machinery necessary in tin-plate works, and for which negotiations are now pending.

W. B. Scarfe & Sons are building an all-iron tinning house for the company, and the Shifler Bridge Company is erecting an addition to the main building.

The Heine Safety Boiler Company, St. Louis, Mo., is now erecting a new battery of their water-tube boilers at the tin-plate works.—American Economist.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS.

This stands a good chance of being one of the cries of the next campaign. The cry will not be raised against any one who is living here and making this his home but against those who are coming here at the rate of over half a million a year. Enough is enough and if it is true as a German paper states that "pauper emigrants laid the foundation of the grandeur of the republic," it is no reason why we of a later generation should receive and care for all the pauper emigrants of the world. The emigrants who came to America between three and four hundred years ago, were not the paupers coming now and even if they were, is not the pauper capable of destroying what he has builded? He is, because he knows no better. A pauper having the hardships of establishing a government in a new world and determined to have justice, is not the pauper that follows in the wake of civilization and gets his living more like a leech and vampire than anything else.

Christ set an example of living and suffering for others but the example is seldom followed not even by his own followers. To-day the rule for every individual and every nation is to be watchful of their own interest regardless of others. It may not be very Christ-like but it has more followers than Christ has. If this is to be the rule, then we, who possess America with all its resources and advantages, have a right to keep and enjoy them if we can and there is no law, except the example of Christ, to compel us to divide our possessions with anyone. If this is to be the rule, then we are justified in shutting out the world if we see fit; we are justified in protecting our industries although it ruins a dozen European nations. The English are legislating for the English, the Germans are legislating for the Germans and where are you going to find your reason that the Americans have not the right to legislate for Americans?—Walkerville Telegraph.

I think Ely's Cream Balm is the best remedy for catarrh I ever saw. I never took anything that relieved me so quickly, and I have not felt so well for a long time. I used to be troubled with severe headaches two or three times a week. J. A. Alcorn, Ag't U. P. R. Co., Eaton, Colo.

I have been a great sufferer from dry catarrh for many years, and I tried many remedies, but none did me so much benefit as Ely's Cream Balm. It completely cured me. M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Ave., Boston Highlands, Mass.

PARTED BY HIS VIOLIN.

A TRUE STORY OF YOUNG LOVE THAT DID NOT RUN SMOOTH.

Captain Button's Happy Marriage with the Belle of North Haven Many Years Ago—Why the Cozy Home Was Broken Up and the Husband is a Wanderer.

No one would have suspected that Sofia was a shrew. She was of medium height, with bright brown eyes and a sweet face. These with a fine form and charming manner made her much sought after by the young men of North Haven. She chose to bestow her sweetest smiles on Julius Button, a whole souled, hardy young sailor, and all those who sought Sofia's hand felt a pang of envy when Julius led her to the altar.

The young couple settled down to the humdrum life of the small village in which both had been born and reared. For a time they were as happy as ever two young people who seemed made for each other could be.

Julius had accumulated a snug sum of money and was disposed to take life easily. The apple of his eye was his wife. Next in his affection was his violin, and with those two for company he was content to spend his evenings at home.

Although her husband played very well, Sofia cared nothing for music and detested a violin above all things. For a while she said nothing. Then she would leave Julius and his violin and would run over to one of the neighbors to spend the evening. It dawned upon Julius that the strains he drew from his violin were not appreciated by his wife.

Then Sofia began to show that beneath a sweet exterior there lay smoldering a fiery temper that when once let loose was simply ungovernable, and violent outbursts on her part became more and more frequent.

Julius bore it all uncomplainingly, for he loved his wife dearly. His was a gentle nature that never held malice and he knew Sofia loved him, so he was patient. But all things must end some time, and his patience was no exception to the rule.

ANGER THAT CAUSED SORROW.

One afternoon Julius went home and picked up his violin. He had drawn the bow but a few times before Sofia exclaimed, "I wish you would stop that noise."

Julius paid no heed to the request which had been made in such a mandatory tone. Sofia became angrier as her husband continued playing, and at last shouted, "Julius, I want you to stop that noise." But Julius only smiled and kept on playing. Sofia grew livid with rage, and seizing a pan of water threw it into Julius' face.

Then her husband put away his violin and left the house. In the evening he came back and began packing up his clothing. Sofia had recovered from her paroxysm of anger and was willing to be forgiven, but did not ask it. Her woman's curiosity could not be restrained, however, and she tremblingly asked what it all meant.

The only reply her husband vouchsafed was that he had shipped on a vessel bound for Virginia after a load of oysters. Days and weeks and months passed and the absent husband was not heard from and Sofia went to live with her husband's parents.

One day thirty-five years later the elder Button read of the arrival in New York of the United States brig Bainbridge, Captain Julius Button. He said nothing of the great hope that had sprung up in his breast, but hastened to New York, only to find that the brig had sailed a few hours before. But his journey was not altogether fruitless, for he learned that the captain of the Bainbridge was his own son. It lifted a heavy load from the old man's heart, although he felt keenly his disappointment at not seeing his son, who had for many years been mourned as dead.

FORTY YEARS LATER.

Sadly the old man returned to his home in North Haven. From that time he became a close reader of the newspapers and at last, four years later, his vigilance was rewarded. He read: "The United States brig Bainbridge, Captain Button, is expected to arrive at the Brooklyn navy yard tomorrow." Once more the old man journeyed to the metropolis. He found the brig with difficulty and was ushered into the cabin to await the captain, who was on shore.

Captain Button looked curiously at the gray haired old man whom he had been told wished to see him, but did not recognize him. Nor did the father recognize his son. Slowly the old man told his errand.

"I am Captain Button, sir," responded the captain. "Don't you know me, Julius? I am your father."

It was a very affecting meeting, and when it was brought to a close the father asked tremulously, "Julius, what shall I tell mother?"

Captain Button hesitated for a moment, then, without replying to the question, he asked, "Where is Sofia?"

"She still lives with us."

"Then you may tell mother that I may come to North Haven when I come back from my next voyage."

An hour later Button, Sr., was on his way home, and Button, Jr., was on a voyage to China. When he returned two years later he learned that his father and mother were dead. Sofia still occupies the old homestead, but Captain Button has never seen her since they parted.—New York Herald.

A Floral Curiosity.

We have just been shown a curious plant by Mrs. Judge Chesnut. It is called the "snake plant," and is an oddity. The stem of the plant is of succulent nature and resembles the body of a snake. It had a large Easter lily shaped flower of dark purple color, with a single purple stamen. Its odor was offensive. It is a curiosity in this town, no one having ever seen a flower like it. It was presented to Mrs. Chesnut by her sister of Frankfort, Ky.—Platte City (Mo.) Landmark.

SOUTH PARK

Continues to Offer the Opportunity for Investment.

No Excuse for not having a Home of Your Own.

Put What you are paying out for Rent into a home.

7 per cent money for persons wishing to build in South Park.

Look to the Future and invest now in South Park.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFE TIME.

Among other reasons why it is better to invest in South Park than elsewhere in the city, are these:

Property is more saleable if you wish to sell, more rentable if you wish to rent; if looking for an increase in value, no other part of the city will compare with it in prospect.

The 5th ward composed largely of South Park, less than three years ago could hardly muster a vote at the last general election the vote was 139 and all were not polled. It has been less than two years since the city invited us into the corporate limits, yet we have over one hundred newly built house and others in process of construction, owned, with few exceptions, by the parties now living in them.

This part of the city has a store water mains, electric arc lights, church and school privileges and a new church edifice just erected of which the whole city is proud.

Plattsmouth's steady growth for five years past almost doubling its population; the advance stand it has taken regarding public improvements, the certainty of a new $80,000 court house; the completion of the great Missouri Pacific railway into this city, giving us another great trunk line and competing market; the constant increasing pay roll of the C. B. & Q. shops, together with many other well known reasons, assure a steady and permanent advance in realty, which will doubtless effect South Park more favorably than any other portion of Plattsmouth.

With a view to the encouragement of a still greater growth of this part of the city, we will continue to sell lots on monthly payments, furnish money with which to erect houses will exchange lots for other improved city property or for desirable improved or unimproved lands.

It is not so much the speculator as the permanent resident that we wish to purchase this desirable property. Out of over EIGHTY present owners of South Park property none are speculators hence there are no fictitious values and lots are selling at about the price they were immediately after it was platted—a strong argument why the present is a most desirable time for investments. Much additional information regarding South Park may be had by calling at my office on Main street over Bank of Cass County.
