The difference between August, 1892, and August, 1891: The vegetation (1892) was dried out, streams small, springs and wells drying out, and some wells already dry; the ground cracked and the roads uncommonly dusty.
Of the other, (1891), the vegetation is green and fresh, streams and creeks' banks full, wells and cisterns full, little or no dust to be seen in the roads.
