The Lobster Catch.

Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island advices go to show that the lobster catch for the season, which closed Aug. 1, was the most successful of any season for the past ten or twelve years. Especially is this the case with the factories bordering on the Northumberland straits. A gentleman interested in lobster canning makes the statement that these factories will on the whole average a net profit of about $4,000 each. Taking into consideration the fact that the season for catching lobsters is by law restricted to June and July, this profit must be regarded as enormous.

The benefit of the short season is now becoming apparent in the increased catch, which is almost double that of previous years, while the lobsters are just the right size for canning purposes. Such has been the rapid spread of the canneries that every available site along the shores of the Straits of Northumberland has been taken up, and parties desirous of investing money in the business are withheld by the difficulty of procuring a favorable cove or beach.

A good idea of the profits of lobster canning may be gathered from the fact that while a pound tin is put up ready for shipment at a cost of about nine cents they are taken from the canneries by wholesale dealers who pay from seventeen to twenty cents per tin. An American firm owning fourteen factories ships its entire product to the French and English market direct, and all its tins are labeled "Machias Bay Lobsters," notwithstanding the fact that the contents were caught in Dominion waters, put up on Canadian soil and by Nova Scotia workmen.—Montreal Gazette.

Regulating Nuisances.

Organ grinders, like Artemus Ward's Betsy Jane, want a little "regulating" at times in London, and the prospects of Mr. Jacoby's most legislative efforts to this end will probably be brightened by the reports which Lord Salisbury has lately gathered from our representatives abroad. In Vienna, it seems, licenses are granted by the police to itinerant musicians, but only to those who are unable to earn their livelihood by any other means. In Paris anybody wishing to perform "as an itinerant mountebank, organ grinder, musician or singer," must apply for a license to the prefect of police, and it is obligatory that a certificate of good character accompany the application. In Berlin "those persons who as a means of livelihood and not in the interest of art perform on musical instruments in open places or public streets or in courtyards," require a license from the local police. In Rome the matter is provided for by the law of public security, and organ grinders are not allowed by the Russian government to reside in St. Petersburg. In Madrid they are "suppressed" as an "intolerable nuisance."—London Telegraph.

Sheds Her Skin Regularly.

Dr. Frank, whose paper on cases of human beings who shed their skin regularly created so much interest in the Chicago Medical society, has received the following letter from Mrs. E. Shutt, of Adams, Washington county, Neb.: "I am thirty-nine years old, and since the year 1876 have had an attack of this kind every second or third year regularly. In March, 1889, I had a very bad time and entirely shed my skin. In May of the same year I had another 'spell,' as I call it. My skin came off in the same manner as this man you wrote about. My hair falls off every time and my nails come out. In March of this year it was the same old story. My symptoms were the same as those of Mr. Price. My motive in writing to you is to prove to you there is another case like the one you write about."—Omaha Bee.

Juggler Bamboola Dead.

A once well known character in the streets of Paris has just died in the asylum at Bicetre. I allude to the negro juggler, Bamboola, who, when I paid my first visit to Paris, was quite a prominent character in the ranks of all fresco entertainers. He used to quickly attract a crowd by the extraordinary way in which he cracked an enormous whip he carried, and some of his tricks were really very clever. One I well remember, was his apparent consumption of a big brick. He was a native of Martinique, and when in his prime, and during the Paris season, often used to make as much as thirty francs a day.—London Figaro.

The Rat and the Clam.

On Thursday a rat that was fooling around among the clams in an leech-pot, rear part of the Henry House, met with a serious accident. A large clam that had its shells open, taking in some fresh air, was suddenly disturbed by something that made it very mad, causing it to close its doors tight and hold the intruder a prisoner. The clam had shut down upon a hind leg of a rat. The rodent squealed and the noise attracted attention enough to inquire into the cause of it. The rat was slain, but it could not be released until the shells of the clam were smashed to pieces.—William-port Sun.

The Same Old Fish.

A few years ago the United States fish commissioners liberated in Ipswich bay a number of young codfish, and to distinguish them from the many thousands that might afterward be caught clipped off the small left abdominal fin. William R. Corbett, of Cutler, Me., while fishing off Little river or Cutler harbor the other day, caught three codfish which he says are the identical ones liberated by the commissioners, as they each had the same fin clipped off. They were when caught twenty inches long, being fat, healthy fish.—Boston Herald.

A Large Pickerel.

Edward Koch, of the Willow Fishing and Boating club, caught a pickerel at Muskego Lake which weighed 90 pounds when dressed. This is said to be the largest pickerel ever caught in that lake. It measured over four feet. Mr. Koch will have it mounted and will present it to the public museum.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Great Event

In one's life is the discovery of a remedy for some long-standing malady. The poison of Scrofula is in your blood. You inherited it from your ancestors. Will you transmit it to your offspring? In the great majority of cases, both Consumption and Catarrh originate in Scrofula. It is supposed to be the primary source of many other derangements of the body. Begin at once to cleanse your blood with the standard alternative,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several months I was troubled with acrofulous eruptions over the whole body. My appetite was bad, and my system so prostrated that I was unable to work. After trying several remedies in vain, I resolved to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and did so with such good effect that less than one bottle and strength. The rapidity of the cure astonished me, as I expected the process to be long and tedious."—Frederic Maria Fernandes, Villa Nova de Giza, Portugal.

"For many years I was a sufferer from scrofula, until about three years ago, when I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, since which the disease has entirely disappeared. A little child of mine, who was troubled with the same complaint, has also been cured by this medicine."—H. Brandt, Avoca, Nebr.
