Stone Coffins.
 A discovery of great interest to archaeologists has just been made at Malmesbury. In order to enlarge his premises, Mr. J. Moore, of the Bell hotel, has pulled down two adjoining cottages, and the laborers in the employ of the builders while excavating underneath the foundation discovered two stone coffins, the lid of each of which weighed from seven to nine hundred weight. In these were found from sixteen to seventeen perfect skeletons with remarkably fine sets of teeth, scarcely one being missing, although it is supposed the bodies must have been buried over a thousand years.

The dividing wall between the hotel and the cottages was six feet thick, and on this being removed, underneath the center of it was found a shaft, 14 inches by twelve, beautifully walled up, leading, it is supposed, to a chamber or subterranean passage. We understand that the vicar, who is very interested in the discovery, has expressed his opinion that this is the site of the Malmesbury castle which was built by Roger, bishop of Salisbury, for the purpose of defending the abbey, and that it will help the Archaeological society to trace a more correct history of the western part of that grand old building.

On the skeletons being found they were carefully collected by Mr. Moore, and the Rev. G. Windsor Tucker at once visited the spot and gave orders for a grave to be dug near the Russian gun in the churchyard for their interment. Subsequently more skeletons were found and a second grave had to be dug. The discovery altogether has excited great interest.—Wills and Gloucester Standard

Voyage of a Bottle.
 A few weeks ago a bottle went ashore in Stage harbor, Chatham, near the old wharf, containing a business card of Mr. Ring, a wholesale jeweler, Detroit, Mich., with a statement, in pencil on the blank side, of disaster to the boat and probable loss of the crew, and signed by Mr. Ring, Mr. J. H. Howell of the Standard Oil company, Jersey City, was in the Chatham Monitor office, where the bottle was deposited, and as he was going direct to Detroit opened the bottle and cast it to the waves. To get to Chatham it had to travel the length of Lake Erie, over Niagara Falls, the whole length of Lake Ontario, down the St. Lawrence river, through the Gulf of St. Lawrence, into the Atlantic ocean and thence to Chatham, a distance of 2,500 miles, and all in less than sixty days.—New Bedford Mercury.

An Organ Grinder's Sparring Combination.
 An organ grinder who has been in this city for a month has a scheme which is making him a small fortune.

Instead of the customary one monkey this industrious son of Italy carries two. When he stops the ordinary tricks of climbing and begging are dispensed with, the monkeys are set to fighting and bets are made by the owner with any of the spectators who are so inclined as to which monkey will win.

The owner's bets are freely taken, and they rarely go against him. The result is that where, under the old method, he would probably receive a few nickels he now receives dollars.

A reporter watched the man with the monkeys for nearly an hour in front of the new city hall, where he was surrounded by a large crowd, who were freely contributing their quarters, halves and dollars to the coffers of the musician.—San Francisco Chronicle.

May Yet Have a Monument.
 Interest has recently been revived in the proposed Garfield monument, a fund for which was started in the fall of 1881, shortly after President Garfield's death. The fund was limited to dollar subscriptions, and 604 persons subscribed. Then the affair collapsed, as far as public interest was concerned, and Dec. 11, 1883, H. B. Duncan, treasurer of the fund, placed the $604 on deposit in the Wilmington Savings fund. The interest increments since that time have increased the principal to the sum of $837.05. There is talk now of making an effort to increase the fund to a limit sufficient to admit of the erection of a suitable statue of the dead president in one of the city's public parks.—Wilmington Evening

What One Cow Did.
 That a cow has a wonderful appetite when she gets into a neighbor's field was clearly shown in Indiana, where the injured owner proved in court that one ordinary brindle cow destroyed in one afternoon the following property: Two 4-year-old cherry trees, 7 apple trees, 5 pear trees, 1 plum tree, 100 heads of cabbage, 12 rows of beans 5 rods long, 1 row of beets 14 rods long, 50 to 150 sweet potato plants, 1 bed of onions, 3 grapevines and 14 blackberry bushes.—Boston News.

Lightning in and Near a Church.
 Two hundred persons were assembled at divine service in the Mower High-tower church, near Osborn, Ga., when a bolt of lightning entered the edifice. Some of the people were rendered senseless, others had their clothing torn from their bodies, several were burned and every one bore more or less serious marks of the lightning. Although no person was fatally injured, a horse that stood outside the church was instantly killed by the electric fluid.—Yankee Blade.

Novel Matches.
 A new method of obtaining a light has just been patented in England. Instead of the old fashioned safety match, the stick is tipped at both ends, one end with the usual composition and the other with that found on the scratcher outside the box. Light is obtained by breaking the match in the middle and rubbing the two ends together.—Exchange.
