A Herald Correspondent in Pennsylvania.

EDITOR HERALD:—Having promised to write you a letter while on my visit east, I send the following: I had a pleasant journey from Plattsmouth to Pittsburg, making the run in twenty-seven hours over the C. B. & Q. and Pennsylvania Central, and over the A. V. R. R. to my old home, Reynoldsville.

Reynoldsville is located in the center of the great bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania and has about 5,000 inhabitants, not including the suburbs, where the miners principally reside. About 75 per cent of these miners have homes of their own, and many of them possess horse and buggy. To hear the reports in the west regarding the poverty and distress of miners, and then come east and find just the reverse, is certainly amusing. In conversation with leading local men, I find that the average miner earns from $55 to $100 per month, according to the ability of the man; and, notwithstanding all this, there is dissatisfaction among many of them. They remind me of a Cass county office-holder—they not only want the earth, but a fence around it.

It is no uncommon thing to hear the chimes of an organ or piano in the homes of these coal diggers. There are about 1,800 miners in Reynoldsville and vicinity, and the monthly pay roll amounts to nearly $100,000. They have about 2,000 coke ovens, and to see them in full blast at night is beyond description. A line of fire a mile in length is no uncommon thing here. In obedience to a state law, after this month miners will receive their wages every two weeks. They are mostly foreigners—Germans, Welshmen, Englishmen, Irishmen, and a very few Italians.

The capacity of one mine—the Bell Lewis—is about 140 cars per day. The coal is taken out of the hills from thirty five to seventy feet above the line of railroad and is conveyed on an incline into the cars.

One of the largest tanneries in the east is located here, having about 300 men on its play rolls; also a large woolen mill, employing many men.

I find the hills and valleys the same as I left them twenty years ago, and but few of my old school-mates. When I got off the train there were about 150 people at the depot and among them I did not recognize a face. It reminded me of old Rip Van Winkle, and when I met some of my acquaintances of days of yore, I think from their looks of surprise it struck them a little the same way. I leave tomorrow for Niaga a Falls, Buffalo, Toronto, and back by way of Philadelphia, and will go home by the Grand Trunk Railway running through Canada. Will write you again when I return from the Falls.

To Coal Consumers.
All those that do not settle their last season's coal bills with me by the 10th of Oct. next will not expect to have any accommodations from me this season of course.

Office and yards 404 South Third street. Telephone, 11.
I always try to have a full line of all grades of coal on hand.

TIMOTHY CLARK,
Plattsmouth, Sept. 22, 1891.

The Schuyler train had two extra coaches on this morning for the accommodation of the western democrats who are attending the convention to-day.

THE CREW NAMED.

The Democrats Hold a Very Harmonious Convention.

Everything Cut, and Dried and Oiled by the Bosses—the Ticket Nominated.

The democrats met in Waterman's opera house this afternoon and put in nomination their county ticket.

The representation of the county was not complete, but the full vote of each precinct was admitted and counted. F. E. White was chosen chairman. No one seemed to care who the nominees were, except for clerk of the district court. Following is the ticket as nominated:
For treasurer, Fred Herrmann; for sheriff, Wm. Tighe; for clerk of the district court, Dr. Deering; for county clerk, J. R. Tipton; for county judge, H. S. Ramsey; for county commissioner, Wm. Neville; for ex. officer, Dr. B. F. Brendel; of Murray for county superintendent of schools, G. W. Noble; for county surveyor, Fred Patterson.

The following were appointed delegates to the judicial convention to be held at Nebraska City next Monday.

A. C. Loder, H. L. Alderman, Wm. Neville, J. Valley Jr., J. L. Minor, Con Conners, V. V. Leonard, S. C. Patterson, W. B. Shryock, F. A. Morgan, Harrison Smith, Fred H. Gorder, Alex Skyles, Dr. R. B. Walters.

M. Archer was nominated for justice for the city of Plattsmouth. Fred Kroehler for constable.

R. B. Wallace, of Union, was chosen chairman of the county central committee.

D. C. McEntee was chosen secretary of county central committee by acclamation.

The Business Men Meet

The meeting of the Business Men's Association was held last evening at the K. of P. hall as per previous announcement. While the attendance was hardly in keeping with the importance of the occasion, it was evident that those present were deeply interested in the matter, and steps will be taken to assure Cass county representation.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Timothy Clark. On motion of H. N. Dovey a committee on finance was appointed as follows: H. N. Dovey, Frank Morgan and C. E. Wescott.

The next thing in order was the selection of a representative to accompany the Cass county exhibit. On motion of A. B. Knotts, R. B. Windham was unanimously declared the choice of the meeting.

On motion of Fred Herrmann the secretary and chosen delegate were empowered to choose an alternate. On motion of H. N. Dovey the meeting adjourned to meet Tuesday, at 2 p. m., at K. of P. hall.

The Indians

In order that the Indian encampment scene in the new "On the Trail, or Dan'l Boone," may be rendered most effective and realistic, Messrs. Peck & Fursman have engaged a band of genuine Shawnee Indians to appear in the play and take the part their ancestors are credited with. These men are real sons of the forest, and have with them their squaws and papposes. They are under control of a scout and interpreter, who acts for them and directs their movements. Don't fail to see them in the street parade and opera house at night, appearing in the play "Dan'l Boone" next Thursday, Oct. 1.

The five trained Kentucky blooded horses of the new "On the Trail, or Dan'l Boone" company are wonders of equine sagacity. Probably one of the most intelligent horses in the world is the trick mare "Mollie," who, besides doing a number of seemingly impossible tricks, has been trained to untie "Dan'l Boone" from the stake where he has been left to burn to death by the Indians. She is a great favorite, especially with children, and has a groom assigned to her care, while her stall in the "Dan'l Boone" car is a marvel of comfort. Will appear at the opera house Thursday, Oct. 1.

Mrs. J. N. Wise leaves this evening for Des Moines and Keokuk, Iowa, for the purpose of being present at the opening of the large millinery establishments located in those places.

ELMWOOD ITEMS

FROM THE ECHO.
Cass county made the list with thirteen weekly and two daily papers. Hurrah for old Cass! She believes in letting the world know she is an earth.

The honor of being a nominee for county superintendent fell very gracefully and unexpectedly upon the broad shoulders of J. R. Leyda. He was not a candidate but he got there just the same.

The sad news comes from Plattsmouth stating that the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dickson, died Sunday evening. The funeral was held from the home of F. M. Richey at 2 o'clock Tuesday.

H. J. Streight who is appointed by the postoffice department to visit the postoffices in Cass county, was here Wednesday and reported finding Elmwood postoffice for the past two years faultless and second to none in the county for regularity.

The many friends of F. Dickson in this end of the county are much pleased to hear of his success in securing the nomination for county clerk by acclamation. Frank's faith in the grand old principle has never wavered and he will make a noble race.

Wisely, conservatively and manfully the republicans placed L. C. Eickhoff at the head of the ticket for county treasurer. Mr. Eickhoff's nomination was unanimous and by acclamation, notwithstanding the ring force that tried to draw him from the fight.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

BY PATRIC GIVE AWAY.

There is a steady increase in the enrollment.
John Wright visited at the high school Friday.

Miss Olive Boyd was a pleasant caller at high school Friday.

Gerrude Hilton was a visitor at central building one day this week.

Miss Laura Keeney, of Central City, Neb., was a visitor at central building Monday afternoon.

Students at central building have enjoyed several outdoor recesses this week as results of fire alarms.

Several of the post-graduates are taking the teachers course, which, by the way is one of the good features of the high school this year.

As an evidence of the interest taken by the students in educational progression, we want to mention the organization of a literary society in the high school. We understand also, that there are to be one or two more societies organized in the near future. It is needless to say that these societies will greatly benefit those who take an interest in them. We will say more about them later.

Brown & Barrett have just received a fine line of imported tooth and nail brushes, cloth and hair brushes. Prices away down. If Si Plunkard.

J. C. Lewis one of the cleverest of comedians, assisted by a company of merit, presented the amusing Yankee drama, "Si Plunkard" to a fine audience in Shawhan's Opera House last evening, and never was an audience more pleased. Mr. Lewis has surrounded himself with a good company, W. M. Milligan as the German comedian, is a whole team and he was recalled after nearly every appearance. The entire company found favor with the audience and were responsible for considerable merriment. As to the comedy itself, there's just plot enough in it to bring out the quaint drolleries of the Yankee peddler and his coterie of friends, likewise his enemies. "Si Plunkard" scored a point, and will be greeted by host of friends should he return to Tiffin.—Tiffin, O., Daily Advertiser, Nov. 8, 1890. Will appear at the Waterman Tuesday night Sept. 29.

J. L. Minor returned from St. Louis last evening, where he has been attending the exposition now being held there. He reports the exposition a grand success, in every particular.

Charles Thomas Dabb is off duty to-day celebrating his twenty-fifth birthday and taking in the democratic county convention which meets in this city this afternoon. Charley has the make-up of a good strong democrat, but is not yet old enough to vote the democratic ticket without a scratch.
