A Young Girl with the Aid of Her Faithful Pony Secures Four Bodies.

Once Nebraska had been to visit at her neighbor's and started for home when it was nearly dark.

She kept perfectly still because she knew that if she screamed before she was attacked, although it would scare the animals away for a time, they would return and would soon get used to the noise and not be frightened by it.

She dismounted and slung them over Pawnee's back and then galloped home.

Every Inch a Soldier. A good story is told on one of the officers connected with a local militia company.

It so happened that while going through this maneuver one afternoon, he walked backward into an open stairway and tumbled into a heap on the floor of the room below.

With a quick bound her husband regained his feet, and coming to an "attention," in a voice of thunder roared out: "Hurt? No, woman; what do you know about war?"

Among the uninjured passengers in the Ravenna disaster was a young man, a New Yorker, who had been on a visit to a maiden aunt living in a western city.

When the young man got out of his car after the collision, considerably bruised and shaken up, he realized his aunt's anxiety if she should read of the accident, and rushing to the telegraph office wired her the emotional message.

The dispatch was received before any tidings came of the casualty, and the gentle soul supposed that her nephew had suddenly come to a realizing sense of his spiritual condition, and much rejoiced that she wrote a long letter of grateful congratulation to him.

Ready to Have Around. Among the conveniences, almost necessities, kept in the pantry by every housewife, are pieces of blotting paper, a bottle of iodine of potash and a solution of starch.

Young Lady—I paid you a high price for these kid gloves, and a friend of mine, who is an expert, says they are not kid at all.

A Baritone Gets Applauded by an Audience Ninety Miles Away.

John E. McWade, the well-known baritone, was at the Columbia with Halten and Hart's "New Lotter On."

The baritone was indulging in his morning nap or beauty sleep, when he learned what was wanted.
