An Episods of Nebraska Life. 1 met a gentlemm at the Union depot the other night who had just returned from Kearney county. He said; "Itook up a claim three weeks ago and built my shanty with more care than is usually taken with them. I built a bedstead of boards in the corner and laid in a stock of canned goods and dried meat. The first night after it was completed I crawled into bed and fell into a deep alsep. About midnight I was awakened by a half dozen rude jolts, some one cracked a whip, yelled Git up! and I straightway felt the motion of a heavy wagon. I was but half awake, but I realized that my bed was tipped to an angle of 45 degs, and that everything was moving. I realized that my shanty. supposed to be unoccupied, was being stales with me in it. I grasped my re-volver and coupted it at the walls and in answer heard the sound of scattering feet. A crawled out of the small win dow and drove back about 100 yards to the site of the house, where I made the horses fast and posted myself under the wagon. The next day I drove two miles to my nearest neighbor and soon had also opinion and that of several other farmers. They all said the horses and tragon were mine beyond doubt, as no one would ever claim them."-Kansaa City Times.

Going Home to a Wife He Has Never Seen. Wong Sie Kie came from Hong-Kong to America three years ago. He tarried not at San Francisco or New York, but selected Hartford as his abiding place. immediately he began washing clothes and his attention to business and his good natured "Hello" to all visitors brought him many customers. He prosered so well that he thinks he has now made enough to justify his return to China.

Wong will leave Hartford for San Francisco, from which port he will take immediate passage for his beloved Hong Kong. He has sold out his business to a cousin, who has taken charge. His savings and the money he got for his laundry amount to $2,000, representing his net profit after his living expenses have been deducted from three years of laundrying. Wong says his father and mother are living, and that he has brothers and sisters. Besides, he has a wife in China, to whom he has been married since he came to America. His imperfect English prevented a lucid explanation of how this marriage occurred. -Hartford Courant.

A Successor of Newton,

Str George Gabriel Stokes, who is till be retires senior member for Cambridge university, is one of the most distin guished mathematicians of the day. He is an old man in the "seventies," below the medium height, with snow white hair and a very high forehead. Sir George is preddent of the Royal society, an office which was held by the famou Sir Isaac Newton, who was also member for the University of Cambridge. These two positions, which have never been held by one individual since the time of Newton, are now, after the lapse of upward of two centuries, happily combined in Sir George.

To carry the analogy further, Newton never once spoke in parliament, while Sir George, although an assiduous sitter out of debates, has during his five years of parliamentary life addressed the house on two or three occasions only. It is not generally known that Sir George Stokes is an Irishman. His father, a distinguished graduate of Trinity college, was rector of Screen, about seven miles from the town of Sligo.-London

How Maine Piremen Managed.

The firemen of Caribou, Me., were called upon to perform a feat rather out of the usual line of duty. The bridge across the Aroostook river connecting the two sections of the village burned. and although the adjacent buildings in the main village were saved those on the opposite side of the river, near the end of the bridge, took fire and were threatened with destruction. All of the fire apparatus was in the main village, the bridge was destroyed and there were no boats at hand. Accordingly the best swimmers in the fire company were selected to swim the river with a line of boss. They accomplished the feat and got across just in time to prevent the destruction of $39,000 worth of property.-Philadelphia Ledger.

Illustrated Reporting. In connection with the suicide of Gen eral Boulanger, a feat has been accomplished by one of the Paris weekly papers which shows to what perfection of dispatch illustrated reporting has now been brought. On Wednesday, on the reception of the news of the general's death, The Illustration sent to Brussels two members of its staff, one a draftsman, the other a photographer. On Thursday morning these artists had photographed the general lying in state. as well as the hotel in the Rue Montoyer, and had even improvised a representation of the scone in the cemetery. then took the train, and arrived in Paris on the same day with all that was needed for the illustration of that day's issue of the journal. An interesting detail is that the proofs of the photographs were taken and the artist's drawing executed during the railway journey back to Paris - London News

The Smallest Snake.

J. C. Couch, who lives a mile south of Fox Postoffice, has brought us what is probably the smallest snake ever captured in Ray county. It was caught about two weeks ago by his stepson, Theodore Jackson, and is of the blackanake species. It is only three inches in length, and at the thickest part of its body is only three-sixteenths of an inch in circumference. It is a perfectly formed reptile, but with an extra large head. Mr. Jackson accidentally killed it by spilling a few drops of petroleum on it. This snake could not teach school or plow corn like some of his kinsmen found in Colonel Jim Deuton's neighborhood, but Mr. Jackson is just as proud of his find as the colonel ever was over any of his discoveries. - Richmond (Mo.)
