A Husband's Mistake.

Husbands too often permit wives, and parents their children, to suffer from headache, dizziness, neuralgia, sleeplessness, fits, nervousness, when by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve such serious results could easily be prevented. Druggists everywhere say it gives universal satisfaction and has an immense sale. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Snow & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y.; J. C. Wolf, Hillsdale, Mich.; and hundreds of others say: "It is the greatest seller they ever knew." It contains no opiates. Try bottles and fine book on Nervous diseases, free at F. G. Fricks & Co's

Wonderful.
E. W. Sawyer, of Rochester, Wis., a prominent dealer in general merchandise, and who runs several peddling wagons, had one of his horses badly cut and burned with a lariat. The wound refused to heal. The horse became lame and stiff notwithstanding careful attention and the application of remedies. A friend handed Sawyer some of Haller's Barb Wire Liment, the most wonderful thing ever saw to heal such wounds. He applied it only three times and the sore was completely healed. Equally good for all sores, cuts, bruises, and wounds. For sale by all druggists

A Cure for Paralysis.
Frank Cornelius, of Purcell, Ind. Ter. says: "I induced Mr. Finson, whose wife had paralysis in the face to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. To their great surprise before the bottle had all been used she was a great deal better. Her face had been drawn to one side; but the Pain Balm relieved all pain and soreness, and the mouth assumed its natural shape." It is also a certain cure for rheumatism lame back, sprains swellings and lameness. 50 cent bottles for sale by F. G. Fricks & Co., Druggists.

Some of the most startling, interesting discoveries of the life and customs of buried Egypt are now being made through extensive excavations. These discoveries are exciting a great interest. Many discoveries are, however, being made in our country that are remarkable, among which we may mention that of Haller's Pain Paralyser which effects entire relief, and in many cases a complete cure of that terrible disease, circumscription, and which also relieves pain of all kinds. For sale by all druggists

For many years Mr. B. F. Thompson, of Des Moines, Iowa, was severely afflicted with chronic diarrhoea. He says: "At times it was very severe; so much so, that I feared it would end my life. About seven years ago I chanced to procure a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It gave me prompt relief and I believe cured me permanently, as I now eat or drink without fear anything I please. I have also used it in my family with the best results. For sale by F. G. A Mystery Explained.
The papers contain frequent notices of rich, pretty and educated girls eloping with negroes, tramps and coachmen. The well-known specialist, Dr. Franklin Miles, says all such girls are more or less hysterical, nervous, very impulsive, unbalanced; usually subject to headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, immoderate crying or laughing. These show a weak, nervous system for which there is no remedy equal to Restorative Nerve. Trial bottles and a fine book, containing many marvelous cures, free at F. G. Fricks & Co's, who also sell and guarantee Dr. Miles' celebrated New Heart Cure, the finest of heart-tonics. Cures fluttering, short breath, etc.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had to cough up the gathering in the throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and vomited; then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave her the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merits of this wonderful medicine. CHARLES A. THOMPSON, Des Moines, Iowa. 50 cent bottle for sale by F. G. Fricks & Co.

THE MOCKING BIRD.

There is no other bird sings half like that! From Eden's bowers it flew, Out to the world, with wavering plumage gray. With the unhappy twin, that sad day The rose wept tears of dew.

It is not nightingale or lark. Oh, a divine bird! In sun-tipped forests, sweet with night and dew, And sun-kissed meadows, when the spring goes through, Its voice is ever heard.

Its nest! In breaks where roses blow, Where honeysuckles roam; The wind pipes soft around it, and the rain Of April parts in twain, Nor damps its downy home.

Whence cometh it and goeth it? Born for the soul's delight, No bird that flits through glories of the dawn, Or homeward comes, down deepening twilight drawn, Can match its heart notes slight. -Mark A. Candler in Atlanta Constitution.

Easy Enough.
Julian Mitchell, the stage manager, was rehearsing a company of variety people who had waxed ambitious and planned to go forth into the flowery fields of polite farce. Among them was a knockabout team, one of whom was cast to play a gilded youth who figures prominently in the piece. His ideas concerning the proper performance of the role were supremely weird, and one afternoon Julian overheard the following conversation between the partrayer of the modern swell and his partner: "Say, Billy, I ain't got no use for these dood parts. I can't get no conception uv 'em." "Come orf. Cuff shootin's dead easy." "Ever try it?" "Sartinly. Kelsey ain't in it with me when it comes to wearin dress props." "Well, the game's a dead hard one for me."

"Nix. All ye got to do is to remember you're a gent what's wearin gent's clothes and letter go!" -New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Field for the Inventor.
In the realm of machinery and manufacture the inventor is yet but entering upon his infancy. Many millions of dollars have been reaped and are to be accumulated by the inventor in machinery who understands the complicated needs of humanity. The central idea in this work is to reduce labor, expense and time to the lowest point, and so to economize in the use of material that there will be no absolute waste. To enter upon this field of invention one cannot trust to accident and happy luck, but he must first thoroughly acquaint himself with the laws of dynamics and mechanics, so that he can appreciate an improvement when it is suggested to his mind. -George E. Walsh in New York Epoch.

Mirrors of the Israelites.
The earliest mirrors of which mention is made in history were in use among the Israelites in the time of Moses. That gentleman, as recorded in the Bible, commanded in a certain emergency that these articles should be transformed into wash basins for the priests. They were made of brass. Doubtless similar utensils of this and other materials were in use long before that. At that same period black glass was employed for the purpose, as well as transparent glass with black foil on the back. It is related that the Spaniards found mirrors of polished black stones, both convex and concave, among the natives of South America. -Washington Star.

Labor and Expense in Circulars.
Just how much the postoffice department receives every year for making men's lives burdensome with circulars of every imaginable character it is impossible to estimate, but if St. Louis is any criterion it must be enormous. One firm alone sends out considerably over 1,000,000 a year, and quite a number employ a large staff of folders and addressers, and get out from 9,000 to 5,000 a day each during the busy season. If every one they send to reads the circulars as little as I do there is a terrible amount of Ivo's labor lost in the work. -Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Successor to the Spot.
Those little beauty spots on ladies' cheeks, which were supposed to look like patches of court plaster on the fair skin, have found a successor at last. The spot fashions had its drawbacks. The veil was liable to twist around, and no matter how carefully that spot was located it was almost sure to work around so that it came on the tip of the wearer's nose. Its successor is a dainty spray of flowers or a leaf worked on gauze. One is supposed to come up to each cheek. -New York Herald.

South American Love Making.
All the love making in South America must be carried on through a third person. If a youth desires to marry he does not speak of it to the girl whom he wishes for a wife, but to his own father. The latter, if he approves, goes to the father of the young lady and the two discuss the matter together. Each tells the other what he will do for the young folks, and between them a contract is drawn up respecting settlements and all such things.

The intending bridegroom is not permitted to see his fiancée for a moment before the wedding. As soon as that event has taken place there is a wedding breakfast, and usually without the formality of a preliminary tour, the couple settle down to living, either in an establishment of their own or more often in the house of the parents of the bride or the groom.

One drawback about marriage in South America is that in taking a girl to wife it is apt to be considered a matter of course that the young man marries her whole family also. He has no occasion for surprise or disquietment if, together with his bride, fifteen or twenty people come to share his household and domestic comforts, including all her available relatives and their servants.

These Latins are a very clannish race, and a father is apt to be willing to adopt a raft of sisters and cousins and aunts, not to mention a mother-in-law, rather than have his son or daughter leave the family roof. It is due to the strength of family attachment among them that hotels in South America are only for strangers from afar; the natives always find hospitable entertainment among the kindred. -Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

A Sensible View of the Seat Question.
The question of relinquishing seats to women in the public conveyances is, like the poor, always with us. Said a man recently discussing it: "There is just this point which I have come to realize; either I must make up my mind never to have a seat in a car, or I must decide never to give it up. I go and come to my place of business at the hours when almost everybody else does; the cars are invariably crowded and there are always women standing to whom it is possible to offer my place, if I get one. Such being the case, it is also possible for me to stand the year through. I cannot see that this sacrifice is demanded by the conditions."

"I am ready to give up my seat at any time to any person, woman or man, whose manner or appearance indicates less ability to stand than I possess, but I am not willing to resign it every time I find a woman standing. We are fellow travelers in a conveyance in which the supply of seats will never, until the millennium, equal the demand; today I am fortunate, tomorrow she will be, and I think most women prefer to accept this proportion of success rather than to have seats continually resigned to them. At least my womankind have so expressed themselves to me on the subject." -New York Times.
