FRANK CARRUTH, JOS. A. CONNOR,

A Home on a Caualboat.

Lying on the opposite side of the pist from the Arrow line steamship Howard Cassurd is the floating home of Captain L. Leonard and family, of Buffalo, It is a canalboat, old and weather beaten. but strong and seaworthy. One end is fitted up as living quarters, with a klichen, dining room and bedrooms, and there Captain Loonard, his wife and two children pass their time. The rooms are cozy and homeilike, and from the ceiling of the dining room are suspended cages containing a mocking tard and a little canary. A pet thoroughbred Skye terrier romps with the children or leaps in mischievons play at the cages containing the birds.

Farther back in the boat is a little playroom used by the children. It contains their dolls and playthings, and also two pet white rabbits, which keep about as gayly as though they were free. At the other end of the boat stable room has been fitted up for a pair of horses. used by their owner on the towpath, and a large, white Chester piz. The latter is a thoronghbred, direct from Ireland. The mother of the pig and the little one were received by Captain Leonard in June. The mother weighed over 500 pounds and was a beautiful. specimen of hog fish. She was sold to a stock farmer in New York, and, if she lives, will be shown at the World's fair in 1803. The pig bids fair to outdo the mother, and at three months weighs over 100 pounds.

The horses and pig get along well enough together, but the little terrier dares not show his head in the stable from fear of "Eiddy." the pig. Captain Leouard and his boat are from the Erie canal, New York state. In July he went into New York and got a charter to Philadelphia, and thence to this port. -Baltimore American.

Asks $2,000 for Sitting on a Tack. A great many suits have been entered against the Traction company, but the queerest one of all has been instituted by Otto Kramer, who sues it for $2,000 damages, the result of sitting down upon a tack. The statement which Mr. Kramer makes regarding the casualty is rather incomplete. He found the tack in the cane seat of a car. The manner of finding the tack was simple but effective. Mr. Kramer went into the car and sat right down upon the tack. He probably got right up again, although this fact is not mentioned in the court statement, but the damage had been done. The wound he suffered led to ab-

CREARS. The tack could not have been of the ordinary carpet variety, as it protruded up through the bottom of the seat, and protruded very badly at that. Mr Krainer did not give the number of the car in his statement, and, therefore, there is no means of knowing whethe. that particular tack has been driven back to a place of safety or whether it is still Inrking for unconscious victims.-Philadelphia Record.

The Latest About Salton Lake.

A prospector who has just come from the Colorado desert after a six months' trip says thas he has ridden around the greater portion of the Salton lake, and that, in his opinion, there is little likelihood of its drying up. In any event it could not all evaporate should the flow cease before the freshets of next season, when it would again pour into the basin. He thinks that next year the breach already made will be enlarged, and that a greatly increased volume of water will flow in, making the lake a permanent feature for many years to come. The past summer has been eventful in desert history, as there have been an almost unbroken succession of rainstorias, sandstorms and electrical storms. Immense

How Southes Climb. How do anakes climb? is a question which has been frequently asked. Many have thought that they accomplish the feat by wrapping themselves about the tree and following a spiral course upward. Several years ago a story went the rounds of the papers to the effect that two woodehoppers, having felled a large oak tree several feet in diameter and very tall, found in its top two com mon blackstukes.

After pondering for some time the men arrived at the conclusion that one anake had taken hold of the other's tail and tims by co-operation they had been anabled to clasp the trunk, and by cir cling about it had ascended to the top-

Whatever probability may have a factiest to this conclusion has been dipelled by the observation of two youn naturalists while having firewood from the forest.

A black snake, measuring perhaps triffe over six feet, was found clinging to the side of a small tree, around which it could have wrapped itself nearly two had it wished to do so. Instead of this the anake passed right and left at short distances, catching the folds along its under parts over and behind the slightly projecting roughnesses of bark.

As the snake rested only five or sta feet off the ground one of the young men grasped its tail to test its climbing qualities, but so great was the force with which it pulled upward that it proved a difficult task to hold it. Finally, becoming annoyed at this ill treatment, the snake reached down threateningly at the offending hands, and losing its hold fell to the ground. It was borne home in triumph but was afterward returned uninjured to the forest .- Youth's Companion.

18 The Lady Factorum.

The "lady factotum" is what our English neighbors call those engaged in the vocation of "visiting housekeeper." This is an employment which has been highly recommended, and which a number of ladies in this country as well as in Eng land have adopted. Such a person visits ladies who from ill bealth or some othe reason are unable to perform their domestic duties. She oversees the servants. inspects the stores and possibly undertakes shopping, marketing and the writing of notes, and she performs other offices which are of too confidential and responsible a nature for the ordinary and shopping, whose work she is able to oversee with intelligence. She is paid for this work on even a better scale than a visiting governness, and if she is no able, efficient woman in the items of inspecting stores and furnishing food at down town prices, she can easily save a family half her liberal remuneration.

The institution of such a vocation is a great relief to many overburdened or III or incapable honsewives, and presents an excellent and lucrative field to women of efficiency and refinement. It is a place such as an elder sister might take, and such indeed as many elder and un married sisters do take for no remuneration beyond "love and affection."-New York Tribune.

"Tower of the Tongues."

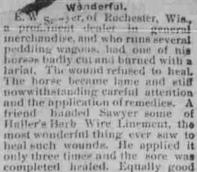

Our story of the Tower of Babel is known in Chaldean and Armenian tradition as "The Story of the Tower of Tongues." It is one of the earliest recollections of the Tigro-Euphrates basin, and is related by Berosus in the follow ing manner:

"The first inhabitants of the earth, glorying in their own strength and size. and despising the gods, undertook to skies. This tower they erected in the p'ace where Babylon's ruins now lay thickly strewn over the ground. In erecting this monster roadway to heaven they toiled incessantly. But when it had approached near unto heaven the wind assisted the gods and overthrew the work upon its contrivers; and its rains are said to be still at Babylon. And at about the same time the gais introduced a diversity of tongues among men, who till that time had all spoken the one language. The place in which they attempted to build the tower is now called Babylon, on account of the con fusion of tongues, for confusion is by the Hebrews called bable."-St. Louis Republic Suicides in English Aristoeracy. Snicides among the aristocracy in England are rather numerous. Lord Congle ton, who was Mr. Parnell's great-uncle, hanged himself in 1849. In the same year the Earl of Munster, one of the il-legitimate sons of King William IV, shot himself in the head. In 1869 Lord Cloncarry, the last of his house, jumped Herald.

There seems to be practically no limitation to the uses to which paper can be and is applied. To the long list of articks intended for personal use, and in the smaller details of construction of rolling stock, such as wheels, axles, etc., there has been added a more extensive application to the need of everyday life by the building of a hotel constructed of this material. This novel residence, which has just been finished and is situated in Hamburg, has been made entirely of paper boards, which, it is said, are of the hardness of wood, but possess an advantage over the latter material in that they are fireproof, this desirable end being effected by impregnation with certain chemical solutions .- New York Telegram.

The Tough Apple Tree.

Two Classos of Oypsies.

The gypsies of today are divided up into the full blooded or tent gypsies, and the Kairengroes or house dwellers, who keep their gypey blood a secret. This division of the race shows that they are gradually yielding to the pressure of outside influences, and the complete extinction of their national identity will simply be a matter of time.-George Ethelbert Walsh in New York Epoch.
