MR. PORTRE'S census figures show that the value of farms lands, taking the whole country over, has decreased 33 per cenduring the past ten years. And this is the net result of the policy which boast of building up a home market. The shows market ket"appears to have irretified only to the building up of collosent and elegrance the lot of the pampered capitalists. Unequal laws condition. unequal Platismouth Journal.

The first part of the above shot at random is purely batched up in its author's mind or burrowed from some other source equally unreliable. But granting it to be the truth it does not necessarily follow that a protective system is the fault of it. The official returns for the "country over have not been given out yet but it is plain why there might be a depreciation of the value of farmland on an average. Probably eastern farms are worth less Guanches were, nevertheless, a very per acre to day than ten years ago from the fact that the rising generations of the east are leaving their old homestends and coming west to grow up with the country and on lands that were government property ten years ago. Even old of their hands. and gray headed farmers in comfortable circumstances have sold their small farar a and moved upon outcast, and lived spart, he and his usraw lands in the west where they could get a farm for each member of the family with their former investment; such a move naturally depreciates eastern land. In the west the amount of land now considered as farm land has increased so much more rapidly than its valuation that the average falls below that of former years when settlements were huddled together in small communities which kept the land under cultivation at a good price.

The "millionaire manufacturers" have had their influence in depreciating the value of farms, and the clerk or proprietor. Sometimes he probably the greatest cause has see nobody. A year and eight months ago, when he was fervently urging the government to assist in passing the load line bill, it was shown that the deplorable loss of life at sea from overloading was entirely preventable, and that the passing of the bill would immediately check it, while, when the act was steadily and uniformly administered, this head of loss would lob's Vitalizer is a positive cure disappear. Arrested Under a Queer Dakets Law. Isaac Milliner, a rancher from the vicinity of Fort Mead, has been arrested in Deadwood, S. D., on the charge of offering beef for sale without exhibiting the hide, an act prohibited by a law, passed at the instance of cattlemen, by the last legislature, and intended to pre vent the sale of stolen cattle, Mr. Milliner states that the beef offered for sale was his property, and that he has the prove that he has not committed a criminal act. This is the first arrest made under the law, and it occasioned considerable surprise, as the pseullar provisions of the law were not generally known. There is no doubt of Milliner's innocence, but the arrest will serve to spread a knowledge of the strange law. Milliner was released under $100 bonds.-Cor. Omaha World-Herald,

Intelligent Missionary Effort. The Rev. Dr. Storrs, the president of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, has good reasons for felicitativg himself on the result of his conciliatory policy. The board's receipts for this year have been $500,021, against $165,373 the previous twelve m To manage successfully a board which has such interests under its charge as this one, something more is needed than a determination to crush out all inbelligent dissent, and keep the vast machine in operation along lines not at all adapted to increase the support of foreign missions, even among those inclined in their favor. The Rev. Dr. Storrs, with his broad outlook, has called a halt to those elements which were reducing the annual contributions for that object .-
