London
president's represent hour of the conduct in Santiago or of any naval officers during the Chilian civil war has been presented to our federal government.
Noteworthy also is the information that the new Chilian government has not ventured to deny the right of asylum asserted for the American legation by Minister Egan on behalf of Baluacedist refugees.
The outrages perpetrated in Valparaiso on sailors wearing the uniform of the United States the president's message refers with indignation, and expresses a dignified regret that the Chilian government should have replied in an offensive tone to the protest of the state department. Significant is the further statement that, unless a more seemly and satisfactory answer to our remonstrance is soon received, the matter will be pressed on the immediate attention of congress by a special message. It is, indeed, high time that the insolence of the Chilians should be fittingly rebuked, and that they should be taught their true position with respect to this republic. Nothing could be more groundless than the notion that we must put up with the insult and injury from a petty state lest we should expose our seaports to bombardment from Chilian ironclads. There are plenty of armored vessels of a high class to be bought in Europe, and if congress should authorize their purchase, they could be brought across the Atlantic long before a Chilian vessel could reach our waters.

At the close of last week's legislation Speaker Crisp tendered R. Q.
Mills the second place on the ways and means committee, which he promptly and curtly declined.
Mills could hardly be expected to do otherwise. He has been in the leader of the free trade policy in the house for years, and as chairman of the ways and means committee in the fiftieth congress he framed a bill that was supposed to represent the sentiments of the democratic party. Mr. Mills was assured that the party would adhere to "tariff reform" as outlined in the bill. But with the election of Crisp the party practically abandoned the free trade crusade and adopted an entirely different course. Mr. Mills in declining to take second place, tendered, from all appearances, simply as a matter of respect, signifies his belief in the policy for which he has labored all these years, and indicates his unswerving fidelity to the cause.

FROM A DEMOCRATIC STAND-POINT.

In reading over our country democratic exchanges, we have yet to see a complimentary notice of President Harrison's message.
Every question with which he deals, it matters not how ably, is held up to ridicule. The following able impartial and honest commentary of the New York Sun would be interesting reading for these contracted specimens of journalism: The capital feature in the report of the secretary of state is the account of the uses to which the reciprocity clauses of the McKinley act have already been put, and of the larger result to be expected.
We have heretofore referred in these columns to the substantial advantages which will occur to our producers of food staples and to our manufacturers when the agreement with Spain respecting the conditions of our trade with her West Indian dependencies shall go completely into effect, which will not be until July 1, 1892.
Material benefits have been secured by similar arrangement for partial reciprocity between the United States and Brazil; and the fact that San Domingo has made corresponding concessions may cause the development of a considerable trade with that republic. It is understood that negotiations have been undertaken for the purpose of obtaining like facilities for trade with several other South American and Central American states, and we infer from the president's message that more than one new field of commerce will presently be opened. There are certain countries on this continent, as, for instance, Mexico, Venezuela and Peru, with which a free interchange of many products may reasonably be looked for. If the prospect seems less bright in the directions of Chili, the Argentine Confederation, and the United States of Columbia, it is because the latter company is still in some degree tied to France by the lingering hope of seeing the Panama Canal completed while the two former republics are too dependent upon England, commercially and financially, to accept the overtures of the United States.
It should interest those Americans who have been swift to credit

GOVERNOR RUSSELL in his article in the November Forum on the significance of the late Massachusetts election, concludes that the manufacturers "gave him support because he favored the admission of free raw material. The national democratic party is more hostile to that policy than is the republican party.

THE SONG OF THE FARM.

The peeples that peep from the wheat at morn, With pearls of the night dew glittering still,
The shadows that race o'er the waving corn And the sky little rains that descend on the hill, The hoary old orchard whose trees are bent,
And the clover fields where the honeybees swarm, Cry, "Come to the cradle of calm content Come see Mother Nature at home on a farm!"

"Here are billows of meadow whose waves are so sweet They perfume the air; here are mountains of hay;
Here are little winds that upon oceans of wheat, And butterflies shipwrecked in hollyhock spray;
Here is peace in the air and a smile in the sky,
And never a fear of deception or harm.
From the cars and the woes of a city life fly To old Mother Nature, who lives on a farm!"

And so the old song from the cherry tree tops And arbors where thochus might gather a treat,
From old fashioned sparrows that live in a copse
And not in the dirt of an ill smelling street, From the bees and the kine and the sentinel cry Of the cock, whose shrill clarion notes no alarm,
Rings out to the city folk ever and aye:
"Come back to Dame Nature; she lives on a farm!"

About Receiving Gifts.

From the receiver's standpoint all gifts may be divided into things that we want and things that we don't want. It takes no particular skill or grace to receive things that we want, but as, in times of general giving, like Christmas, the larger part of the gifts we get are things that we don't want, that branch of receivership is worth attention. The two ordinary reasons for not wanting things are the vulgar one that they do not strike us as intrinsically desirable, and the more complex reason that we don't want to receive them from the particular giver. A general remedy applicable to reluctances due to either of these causes is to keep strenuously in the mind the happiness of the giver in giving.

Remembering that, you are delighted with a trifle from some one you love, because it makes you happy to have been even passively instrumental in procuring him the happiness of giving; applying the same principle, you can accept ever so costly a gift from some one for whom you care little without any irksome sense of obligation, since of course the giver had the best of it any way, and it is a great deal kinder and more generous to accept than to refuse. Remember persistently that by receiving with due grace you secure to another person a desirable form of happiness.—Scribner's.

A Famous Tree Destroyed.

The famous oak under which Tasso is supposed to have spent the greater part of the day during the last year of his life, when he had retired to the convent of Sant Onofrio, was blown down, it is said, during a violent gale recently. The tree, which all visitors to Rome used to visit, was kept standing for years by supports of masonry on all sides. The trunk, it is reported, will be kept as a relic in the convent of Sant Onofrio.— Philadelphia Ledger.

The development of the cotton seed industry has been so great, and the many articles now made from it are so useful, that it has supplanted the famous olive tree products in a majority of cases.

Electric headlights of about 2,500 candle power are now in general use on the railroads in Indiana. They are very favorably spoken of by engineers.

In nailing on heels by the use of machinery one man and a boy can heel 300 pairs of shoes per day. It would require five men to do this by hand.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe.
Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely.
I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all other for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, West-ford, Conn.

without any teacher; you came to the rescue when Miss Lutzger deserted her Desolate class so suddenly, and certainly we are all improving in grace under your instruction; I heard you talking to Tommy James last evening how his club made mistakes in playing baseball, you seem to be up on all the latest facts, and know just what to do under all circumstances; you entertain beautifully; and in the last month you have improved so in health, owing, you tell me, to your physical culture exercises.
Where do you get all your information from in this little out-of-the-way place—for you never go to the city?"

"Why, Jennie, you will make me vain. I have only one source of information, but it is surprising how it meets all wants, very seldom hear of anything new but what the next few days bring me full information on the subject. Magie, No! Magie! I And a great treasure it is to us all, for it really furnishes the reading for the whole school; father has given up his magazine that he has taken for years, as he says, this one gives more and better information on the subjects of the day; and another says that it is that makes her such a famous housekeeper. In fact, we all agree that it is the only really family magazine published, as we have sent for samples of all of them, and find that one is all for men, another all for women, and another for children only.
While this one suits every one of us; so we only need to take one instead of several, and that is where the economy comes in, for it is only $2.00 a year. Perhaps you think it is too lavish in my praise; but I will let you see ours, or better still, send 10 cents to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a sample copy, and I shall always consider that I have done you a great favor; and may be you will be cutting us out, as you say we have the reputation of being the best informed family in town. If that be so, it is Demorest's Family Magazine that does it."
