Mr. Ramsey went into the Journal office with some work he wanted done, when Mr. Sherman looked up from the manuscript of one of his leading editorials, and, turning around, said: "Why, how do you do, Mr. Snyder? Oh! I beg pardon, Judge. Since you have had your whiskers cropped you really look more like Druggist Snyder than ever."

The Burglar. In these trying times of farcical comedy, melodramatic sensationalism and various other forms of stage presentations it is a refreshing relief to witness a play wherein the sentiment is calculated to absorb wholesome human interest. "The Burglar" in such a play, and those patrons who keep a mental record of the most successful of metropolitan dramatic offerings need not be more forcibly impressed with the pleasures to be derived from the forthcoming performance of the charming play in question. Go and see it next Saturday night, at the Opera House.

BRYAN'S MAIDEN EFFORT.

Secretary Crouse Sees a Change in Russian Political Affiliation As One Result.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Assistant Secretary Crouse, of the treasury department, who took a great interest in the discussion of the Russian relief resolution in the house yesterday predicts that the defeat of that measure will have a decided effect on democratic prospects this fall.

"There are great many Russian settlers in Nebraska," said Mr. Crouse, "and I think that Bryan's speech will have the effect of transferring thousands of these people from the democratic to the republican column in Clay county alone, and in other countries of the state where the Russian settlers are thickest the effect will be fully as marked." Mr. Crouse thinks that Mr. Bryan's little speech will probably be used as a republican campaign document with results which can't be otherwise than detrimental to democratic interests.

Senator Manderson, in commenting upon Mr. Bryan's speech, said this afternoon: The member from the First asks what right congress has to provide for the carrying of grain to a foreign land when no authority existed last year to aid the distressed citizens of Nebraska. I think that Mr. Bryan must have forgotten the fact that Nebraska never asked congress to aid her people in their distress. Nebraska," continued the senator, "is not a pauper state and we require no assistance from the general government to help us out because we had one year of bad crops. Bryan's point was not well taken."

Lost in the Darkness.

Last Thursday evening, as all will remember was cold, dark wet and cheerless night; after the wind and rain came a slight frost, just enough to chill to the marrow, all who ventured out in it. That evening an old man named Wm. Bennett, who has a temporary residence with the family of Geo. McAdie, left town just after dark; he must have followed the main road to the northwestern corner of the old fair grounds, thinking that he had reached the proper place to turn north to his home. He went north and completely lost his bearings, putting in the entire night among the rocks and hills in the field of Deacon Beach. His peculiar cries for assistance was heard by numerous people, some mistaking it for that of a wild animal, other going out to trace it up, but all failing to find him. The next morning, the first of the New Year he managed to reach the door of Mr. Beach, falling in sheer exhaustion on arriving there, a most piteous sight to behold, his bent form, ragged clothing, bleeding wounds from contact with barb wire and rocks, without vest or overcoat and speechless from cold. But a little time longer in that condition would have settled his earthly career. He fell into good hands, Mr. and Mrs. B. getting him into a warm bed and filling his inward cavity with hot milk, which, after putting him into untold agony for a while, finally brought him out in pretty good shape. In the afternoon he was removed to Mr. McAdie's where he will take time to fully recuperate from the effects of that horrible night, that came so near being a death waltz to him.—Weeping Water Eagle.

Obituary.

THE HERALD this morning received a copy of the New Era, published at Ferris, California, which contained the following:

"After a brief illness of one week Frances S. Wise, wife of Parker L. Wise, died in the sixtieth year of her age, of pneumonia, superinduced by the grippe, at her home in Ferris, December 28, 1891.

"Mrs. Wise was born in Madison county, Ohio, but in childhood with her parents moved to Indiana and there lived until long after her marriage. Then she moved with her husband and family to Nebraska where she remained for the space of twenty years. Here she became a devout and consistent member of the First Presbyterian church in Plattsmouth. One year ago last August she, with her husband, who has been an invalid for seven years, came to this town, and since then has endeared herself to many of its inhabitants, for none knew her but to love her. Notwithstanding the fact that Mrs. Wise was cared for by skilful physicians and loving friends, yet did she continue to sink rapidly under the disease until she died last Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the presence of her husband and two sons, Taylor and Will, whom she leaves to mourn her loss. All three are well known and highly respected residents of this town. How tenderly and patiently sister Wise has cared for her invalid husband these last seven years and especially during his recent sickness from which he is just recovering, we may not be able to tell, but God knows and we believe that he will one day say unto her, 'Inasmuch as you did it unto the least of these my brethren, you did it unto me.'

"The funeral services held in the home of the deceased December 30 at 2 p. m. was largely attended and was in charge of the Rev. Geo. H. Rogers, whose subject then was, 'Jesus Wept.' The hymns then sung were 'Abide With Me,' and 'Come unto Me When Shadows Darkly Gather.' The pall bearers were Messrs. Plimpton, Witt, Colby and Brockman. A large number of the family's sympathizing friends accompanied the remains to the Ferris cemetery, where the last rites of burial were performed, and where the deceased was laid in sure and certain hope of a blessed resurrection.

"May the comfort and consolation of divine grace so rest upon the wide circle of sorrowing friends, and especially upon her mourning husband and two sons and their families, that in this hour of their bereavement they may resignedly say, 'Thy will be done,' and look forward in Christian hope to a blessed reunion.

"On the happy golden shore, Where the faithful part no more."

"Mrs. Mary Ellen Anderson, the mother of Mrs. James Patterson, Jr., died at the residence of her daughter, on Sunday, December 27, at 5 o'clock p. m.

"Mrs. Anderson was born in New Jersey, 1830, and was married to Benjamin Anderson in August, 1854. Four children were born to them, two of whom survive. Her husband died in August, 1890. Her mother still lives in Toulon, Ill., aged eighty-two years; also four brothers and one sister survive her. "The deceased during a year's residence with her daughter greatly endeared herself to the people of Ferris. She was a Christian lady in the fullest sense and interested herself in all benevolent and Christian work. The daughter and family here have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their great sorrow.

"Services were held at the Congregational church. In accordance with her wish the remains were sent east to Chariton, Iowa, to be laid by the side of her husband."

L. L. A. Debating Society.

The L. L. A. debating society held its second meeting at the home of Gerald Drew last evening. Several new members were enrolled, the society now having a membership of thirteen. The following officers were elected: Gerald Drew, president; Tom Chapman, vice-president; Charles Rhode, recording secretary; Roy Kirkpatrick, corresponding secretary; Joseph Knotts, treasurer. Meetings will probably be held once every two weeks at the homes of the different members. This is a most commendable move on the part of these young men, as nothing is more instructive than a good debating society.

HERE is what the manufacturer says in regard to Solid Silver Metal goods and Solid Nickel Silverware: "There has been a growing demand for years for a grade of Spoons and Forks to take the place of Solid silver and plate ware. We have experimented for some time to attain this end, and are now able to offer the public our Rogers' Metal and Rogers' Solid Nickel Silver. We guarantee this metal superior to any Nickel Silver manufactured and have the greatest confidence in assuring our customers that this ware is inferior to service only to solid silver. It is a beautiful white color, is highly polished and can hardly be distinguished from pure silver. We recommend this ware especially for hotels, restaurants and boarding houses, as it will stand more hard usage than any other metal; is very tough and hard; will hold its color and will outwear any plating ever manufactured." All our customers know Rogers' ware by reputation. This firm have manufactured plated ware since 1865, and their name is never put on goods that are not of a high grade, so our customer can rest assured that they are getting some very desirable goods when they get goods under their brand.
