THE MISERY OF BALDHEADS.

"I made a good deal of money out of bald-headed men," said the barber to a N. Y. Sun man. "It is true that I do not know of any way to make hair grow on a bald head...

"I have seen a barber whose head was as destitute of hair as a marble table unblushingly recommend a hair tonic or hair restorer or invigorator as certain to make the hair grow...

"Now, knowing all this, the barber can not be so blind to his own interests as to go very far out of his way to convince the hopeful and trusting baldheads who do not know it...

"There is a baldness that comes from sickness, especially from scarlet fever or typhoid fever, when the hair falls out and the head becomes bare for a brief period. But in such cases it is no part of the barber and no mere concoction of materials that makes the hair come in again...

"Men are generally more disposed than women to experiment on bald heads. One reason of this is that men can not wear false hair so securely as women do, but rather with greater risk of detection...

They Sixed Him Up. One of the first maxims impressed on the newly uniformed policeman was the necessity of sizing up everyone, says the San Francisco Chronicle...

"What would you take him to be. No. 1?" "A deadbeat, sergeant." "Good for you, my boy. What do you say, No. 2?" "Looks like a horse-thief, I think."

Getting an Education. A Hastings street man, not classically educated, early in September sent his boy off to college and the young man wrote home about his studies...

"That boy of mine is a corker. I tell you," he said enthusiastically. "He's away at college, isn't he?" queried the friend.

"Yes, he is, and he is doing tip-top. Got a letter from him yesterday, and he's right in the swim. He's studying Horace and Homer, he says, and he wants to know if he shall take up algebra."

"Nothing yet; I wanted to see you about it first." Then confidentially: "You see you are better posted than I am on these points, and I wanted your advice. I've heard of Homer and Horace, but I'll be darned if I know who Algebra is. Do you think we ought to be studying him with the rest of them?"

A Mystery Explained. The papers contain frequent notices of rich, pretty and educated girls eloping with negroes, tramps and coachmen. The well-known specialist, Dr. Franklin Miles, says all such girls are more or less hysterical, nervous, very impulsive, unbalanced; usually subject to headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, moderate crying or laughing...

Good Looks. Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive you have a Bilious Look, if your stomach be affected you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your Kidneys be affected you will have a Pinched Look. Severe good health and you will have moderate crying or laughing. These show a weak, nervous system for which there is no remedy equal to Restorative Nerve.
