This is comical. The stubborn opposition of the democrats in congress to the passage of the reciprocity bill must be regarded as entirely Pickwickian if there is anything in this claim of "stolen thunder."

THE fact that Chicago enterprise stops at nothing is again demonstrated by the proposition just made to move a big hotel across Lake Michigan. Over at St. Joe, Mich., there is a big tavern, forty feet wide and 400 feet long, which was designed as a lake resort, but which has proven unprofitable. The contractors are now figuring on putting that house on a series of big scows and towing it over to Chicago, to be set up on the beach near fackson park and used for hotel purpose during the world's fair, Neither of the kind has ever been attempted, but the engineers say that it can be done, and the contractors are ready to agree to the safe delivery of the building atmost | moved with his family . om Colunwithout causing a single crack in busto this city three years ago, and others are invited to call on any
