Wall paper at Brown & Barretts, C. M. Graves went up to Omaha this morning.

H. C. McMaken was in Omaha today on business.

Mrs. J. M. Roberts is reported worse this afternoon.

Chas. Langston was an Omaha passenger this morning.

Geo. Nichols and Philip Thieroff were Omaha visitors to day.

The pupils of the high school will give a social at Rockwood hall this evening.

P. P. Gass is in Lincoln to-day as a delegate to the prohibition convention.

If you want to see the latest style of hats, go to JOE the popular One Price Clothier.

Judge Webster of Lincoln was in the city last night, returning home this morning.

J. V. Egenberger and Chris Wohlfarth were passengers for Omaha this morning.

It is town talk that Brown & Barretts is the only place to find a new and complete stock of wall paper.

A. B. Pierre, master mechanic of the B. & M. at Wymore was in this city over night.

E. F. Williams, treasurer of the Co-operative Land & Lot Co., was in the city today on business.

Remember JOE is the only Clothier that handles Wilson Bros. Furnishing Goods, exclusively.

Judge Chapman will open the adjourned term of district court for Otse county next Monday at Nebraska City.

Remember the city central committee is called to meet at Judge Sullivan's office at 8 o'clock Sunday evening.

Two attachments were put on the silverware belonging to S. L. Wickersham which was in the possession of Chief of Police Fry last night.

Capt. Ashley of Beatrice is in the city today transacting business in county court. The captain lived in this county thirty-two years ago.

Travis Clemmons, a brother-in-law of Levi Churchill, of Fairbury, is in the city visiting friends, Mr. Clemmons is an old time Cass county man.

Mrs. Joe Bruhl has received a letter from the physician stating that Joe is improving rapidly. Mrs. Bruhl left this morning for Lincoln to see her husband.

T. B. Brown left this morning for Lincoln where he goes as a delegate to the prohibition state convention which is in session there to-day. His daughter Hattie accompanied him.

The St. Cyr theatre company passed through this city from Greenwood enroute for Louisville where they will give two performances. This company is made up mostly of Louisville people and it is reported that they are making a great success in their venture.

The chorus class under the direction of Mrs. Clapp will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock sharp at the M. E. church for a second rehearsal. Also those who have signified their intention of becoming members of the society will save 25 cents initiation fee by being present to aid in the adoption of a constitution.

In a lengthy decision of the supreme court handed down yesterday it was held that ballots marked with a lead pencil were valid, and that marking with ink is directory only and if other wise regular ballots are valid. The case in which the question was raised is entitled the state ex. rel. Vagouner vs. Engel. The relation and one Cassell were opposing candidates for the office of supervisor of Mailly township, Madison county, and upon a count each was called with thirty-two votes. One ballot marked with a lead pencil fastened of ink was cast in addition thereto for relator. The respondents who were the judges and clerks of election, rejected the said ballot and the relator sought a peremptory order from the supreme court requiring them to meet and count the said vote in his favor, and declare the result. The court in its opinion placed a construction on the Australian ballot law, but declined to issue a mandamus, and dismissed the case. The opinion, which is too lengthy to publish, will be published by Justice Post.

HALL-WILEC.

Two Plattsmouth Young People United in the Holy Bonds.

Last night occurred one of the prettiest little weddings that has happened for some time. The contracting parties were Mr. M. A. Hall and Miss Grace Wiles.

The ceremony uniting these two young people occurred last evening at eight o'clock at the residence of Captain Wiles in the presence of a few invited friends, besides the relatives of the bride and groom.

Mr. Hall is a brother of Dr. Hall of this city and the bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Captain Wiles. Both the bride and groom are too well known to the people of Plattsmouth and Cass county to need an introduction. Mr. Hall is a trusted employee of the B. & M., running on the road between Pacific Junction and Lincoln as baggageman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall will leave this evening for Omaha for a short visit after which they will return and make their home at Pacific Junction where the groom has fitted up a neat little home. THE HERALD extends congratulations.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Something About Nebraska's place in the Educational Exhibit.

The educational exhibit at the world's fair will be grouped by states and yet at the same time so arranged as to enable the students to follow the grades from the most elementary to the most advanced stage, by state, or by crossing the seas to trace the similarities in each grade through all the states. Parochial and special school work will be shown in the same general system. While each state will collect and put up its own exhibit, this will be done under the general supervision of the educational department according to the systematic plan mapped out with a view to convenience and avoidance, as much as possible of appearance of carelessness. Space will be assigned to states according to their advancements in educational work, and the necessities of the case.

For certain features there is to be a general exhibit irrespective of states. Originality is desired and it is earnestly recommended that the work presented by the classes should be left exactly as executed by the class, no "retouching" to be done by the teacher, not even to the crossing of a line or the dotting of an eye, the aim being to show how every day work, as it really is, and not specially prepared work gotten up for this particular exhibit. Each state will have immediate charge of its installation and supervision of its educational exhibit under the direction and control of the chief of the department. All applications for space must be made to the director general, who keeps in his office complete records of all applications for space in every department of the exposition.

The higher educational institutions, such as colleges, universities, technical and professional schools, desiring to make special exhibits of their work will be assigned space according to their merits upon making application to the director general, outlining the scope of work to be exhibited and stating space required. It is the intention to make an educational exhibit a great feature of the Columbian exposition, and all educational institutions are especially urged to co-operate with the authorities in the effort to make the exhibit a most forcible illustration of our intellectual progress, and it is to be hoped every educational institution in Nebraska from the most unpretentious district school to the state university, will contribute its mite to the Nebraska educational exhibit.

Special rules and instructions for guidance in preparation and collection of work, outlining the aims and desires of the commission in this matter will soon be sent to all educational institutions, county superintendents, etc., with a view of having them take hold of the work in such a way as will insure for Nebraska high rank in the way of evidence of intellectual progress. No state of the union can make a better showing in educational work and institutions, and few, if any, as good, and it will be the aim of the commission, with the help of those whose hearts and heads are in the work, to put up such an exhibit as will leave no room for doubting our devotion to the real foundation of all that is delightful in human development. All wishing special information in regard to the educational exhibit should address Commissioner A. J. Sawyer, Lincoln Neb. SETH P. MOELLY, Press Com. Sec.

Brown & Barrett were successful in securing the agency for Nebraska of the only house in the U. S. who make a specialty of new designs of wall paper for city trade. The people of Plattsmouth should call at their store and see the new things just out in the wall paper line.

New Appointments.

State Journal—Governor Boyd took up the ax again yesterday and used it with considerable force. Commissioner General Greer of the Nebraska Columbian commission was removed and Joseph Garneau, J., appointed to the position with all the emoluments thereof, which includes a salary of $2,500 a year.

Hon. R. E. Greer of Kearney was appointed by Governor Thayer, and has served since the organization of the board last summer. Mr. Garneau is a business man, being employed by the credit trust. He was recommended by a member of the democratic state central committee.

Only one other removal was made yesterday in the make up of the commission. Samuel Brass of Juniata, a member of the commission, was ousted and M. H. Weiss, an attorney of Hebron, will fill the vacancy.

Gives up the Chase.

Dr. C. B. Manning yesterday concluded to drop the matter of his appointment as superintendent of the hospital for the insane, finding that it would incur considerable expense and trouble to secure the necessary certificate as a licensed physician in this state, having no diploma to back his petition for such, and gave up the chase. Governor Boyd thereupon appointed to the position Dr. J. W. Bowman, an old practitioner of Lincoln and today he assumed charge of the asylum.

Albert Edward's Stunning Experience.

There are just now stories flying about of the Prince of Wales visiting the "slums" under a rather comical disguise, but though it is known that the prince, accompanied by Lord Carrington, made himself acquainted with the "seamy" side of life, very little art was required to conceal his identity. Indeed, it is surprising, though Englishmen are as a rule familiar, more or less, with the appearance of their future sovereign, how often his presence in a place where he is not expected passes without recognition.

Some years ago the prince, quite incognito, traveled down to Folkestone to meet Princess Louise, who was coming over from the Continent, and as there was some time to wait before the arrival of the steamer, he strolled about on the quay and ultimately went out with a boatman of local fame for a short cruise in the channel. When they got safely back the prince remarked, "Perhaps you would like to know who I am?"

"I don't know as I care; it ain't no odds to me," came the reply.

"Well, I'm the Prince of Wales."

"The Prince of Wales!" ejaculated the old mariner, giving his customer a playful dig in the ribs. "Get along with yer!"—London Cor. Chicago Times.

A Storehouse of Electricity.

Minnesota, not to be behindhand in marvels, tells of an electric well which one of its citizens claims to have been discovered near Red Wing recently. According to the story the drillers had drilled about 150 feet when they lost their drill rods and a diamond drill. The whole business had dropped to nowhere in an instant. There was quite a force of air coming out of the hole, and the men said there was no use going any farther, because there wasn't any bottom. They concluded to fish for the rods and drill, but as soon as the rods were dropped into the hole they began to shiver in a queer way.

One of the men took hold of the bar with a pair of leather gloves, and he was knocked down. Then Hollywell touched the rope and got a shock, because it was wet. There seems to be a perfect natural storehouse of electricity. It is generated in some way in that pocket where the drills went, and there is enough of it to execute a whole county at once under the New York law.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Grand Old Commoner.

Though essentially a modest man, Mr. Smith had a certain pride of his own. Public rumor was always conferring a peerage upon him, and I suppose that had he lived he would have accepted one. But he was proud of his independent and "self made" position as a wealthy commoner. "You see," he said to me, "I have no aristocratic connections, no family interests; indeed, I haven't a male relative alive except my own boy. I am completely unprejudiced and unfettered." He was aware of the advantage this gave him. He was rich and a plebeian, and his colleagues had confidence in him accordingly as a strong administrator.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Question of Telephone Charges.

A proposal has been made by Dr. Strecker, of Berlin, which seems to solve the question of telephone charges. He proposes to levy a fundamental charge to meet the expenses for installation, maintenance and depreciation, in addition to a time charge, to meet the working expenses. Nothing could be fairer than to charge for the use of the telephone according to the duration of conversation, and Dr. Strecker proposes to use a clock which goes as long as the conversation lasts.—New York Telegram.

A New Way to Throw Rice.

A practical joke which the best man at an autumn wedding perpetrated was to deliver to the porter of the parlor car in which he saw them off a sealed telegraph envelope with instructions to deliver it at a certain station. The dandy duly did so and the groom broke the seal to have a small avalanche of rice pour through his fingers.—New York Times.

Mohammed's birthday in London.

Mohammed's birthday has been duly celebrated in the metropolis of the British empire by the Anjuman-i-Islam, London—a society consisting of Indian Mussulman gentlemen residing in England—giving a dinner in honor of the prophet in the Holborn restaurant. A large number of Mussulmans assisted at the convivial assembly, at which Mr. A. A. Hunsanally, president of the Anjuman-i-Islam, was chairman. After the healths of "the queen-empress," "the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the rest of the royal family," had been enthusiastically honored, the chairman proposed the toast of the evening, "Health to his imperial majesty Sultan Abdul Hamid Khan, commander of the faithful and guardian of the Kaaba!" The toast was received with great cheering. The proceedings were brought to a close by some recitations from the Koran.—London Telegraph.

Love That Stood the Test.

Those who witnessed the solemnizing of the nuptials in which Miss Mary E. Flynn and James A. Polk were made life partners at Newport, Del., the other day, recalled a frightful accident which befell the couple one dark evening three years ago. The young lovers were run into by a fast express on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad, and hurled bleeding and unconscious to the ground. The horse was cut so pieces and the vehicle wrecked. The bride elect was hurt more seriously than the groom, and her life was despaired of. She recovered somewhat, but is a cripple for life. This frightful calamity did not cool the ardor of the lovers, and the anniversary of the accident which nearly killed both was celebrated by a marriage.—Cor. Baltimore American.

After coolly throwing a sleeper's wooden leg out of the window, a Massachusetts burglar proceeded to plunder the room. When the movable valuables had been gathered for transportation the burglar left a note for the cripple, stating where his artificial leg could be found.

AN ANCIENT IDOL.

The Modest Clay Deity of the Early American Heathen.

The State Historical Society was enriched yesterday by an image of pottery supposed to be an idol of some prehistoric race, probably the mound builders, says the Topeka Capital. The idol was found near Aron, Independence County, Arkansas, and was dug from a mound by relic hunters along with a number of decayed human bones, copper arrow heads and broken domestic utensils. It is the property of G. W. Hume, of Strasburg, Mo. The idol is seven inches in height by five inches in diameter. It is rudely constructed, having evidently been formed by hand, or at best very crude tools, from common clay, and afterward hardened by being dried in the sun.

The idol represents a human figure in a kneeling posture, the arms extending at the side. The features are rudely formed, yet, notwithstanding this, are not altogether repulsive, the nose being gracefully aquiline and the lips well formed. The ears are missing, but the remnants show that they were adorned with rings. The body is "squatty," and might be said to resemble a toad. At the top of the head there is a hole which seems to have served a purpose, probably that of fastening a headdress to the figure. The image would hardly be catalogued with the works of art, but it is nevertheless an interesting relic.

The race whose deity was represented by this clumsy bit of clay inhabited the Mississippi Valley from the great lakes to the gulf at a time to which the traditions of man runneth not. Who they were, where they came from, what their manner of life was is all a mystery. True, many mounds, excavations and burying grounds of this lost people have been discovered, but so far they have given but little of their history. That they lived and died before the race of American Indians existed is proved by the fact that the traditions of the latter race contain no reference to this lost people, although their mounds and relics are mentioned. Many mounds of this kind are found in Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and Indiana, and a few have been discovered in nearly all of the states of the Mississippi Valley.

Hippophagy in France.

The people of Paris consumed within the last year 21,291 horses, 229 donkeys, and 40 mules, the meat weighing, according to returns, 4,615 tons. At the 180 shops and stalls where such food is sold the price has varied from two sous to a franc a pound, the latter being the price for the best horse steaks. Only about one third of the meat is sold fresh and undressed; the rest is used in making sausages, 402 horses having been seized and condemned as unfit for food before being turned into sausage.

Go to the doctor and get a prescription; then go to Brown & Barrett's and get it filled.

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the leader, Mexico Times. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack, I am satisfied, would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being struck with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting down. 50 cent bottles for sale by F. A complete line of Wilson Bros. Furnishing Goods at JOE'S the One Price Clothier.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

Messrs. George and Sherman, of Alexander, Texas, write us regarding a remarkable cure for rheumatism there, as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the postmaster here, has been bedridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured by its use. We refer any one to her to verify this statement." 50 cent bottle for sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

OFFICE IN COURT HOUSE, Plattsmouth, Nebraska

The population of Plattsmouth is about 10,000, and we would say at least one-half are troubled with some affection on the throat and lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balm for the throat and lungs. Try it free. Large bottles 50c and $1.
