GEN. FRANCIS A. WALKER suggests the passage of a law requiring each immigrant to deposit $100 upon his arrival in this country, which shall be returned to him at the end of three years if he then desires to become an American citizen. Such a law would undoubtedly shut out many undesirable persons, and have a general wholesome effect.

MORE propositions to amend the constitution have already been introduced in the present congress than were brought before any two preceding congresses since the close of the reconstruction period. None of them will go beyond their present stage, however, with the possible exception of that to make senators elective by the popular vote of the state. This proposition may leave the house, but if it does the senate will kill it.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY.
It is a pleasing spectacle to the republicans to witness the high state of harmony that the local democrats have stirred up among themselves. They have become so harmonious that the mere mention of the name democrat is synonymous with harmony. For instance, there are two large, able-bodied democrats struggling with might and main to get a chance to fill the mayor's chair. They are each enthusiastic for the other, but their friends are casting harmony to the four winds and are digging out for the nomination with unrestrained fury. One of these men will be nominated, and, of course, the other fellow's friends will enthusiastically support him. The same condition of affairs exists as to the other offices. On treasurer, particularly, harmony is conspicuous. Both of the aspirants for the treasurer's office are vigorously laying wires and working up large doses of harmony for election day. The republicans are, of course, pleased with this manifestation of harmony. Nothing in the world produces republican success like democratic harmony. When the republicans are ill, a dose of democratic harmony is a sure restorative. In the face of this harmony the republicans will nominate a city ticket, and with the aid of harmony they will elect it. If they had their way, democrats would be always harmonious.

THE GREAT OIL TRUST GIVES UP THE GHOST.
The greatest trust of all trusts has decided to yield up the ghost and quit. The directors of the Standard Oil Trust have called a meeting for the 21st of this month for the purpose of devising means to close up its immense business. Unlike the National Cordage trust and other monopolies that have made it their first business to advance prices the great oil trust has left the cost of its products lower than it was when individual operators had full sway. Yet it must not be assumed that the operation of this great monopoly has been otherwise than hostile to the public welfare. By its combination of the business of making and transporting refined oil and by its control of large areas of oil producing territory, and, perhaps most of all, by its peculiar and not wholly honest methods of obtaining favorable discrimination in freight rates for its products it has ruined many small manufacturers and producers of oil, and has prevented hundreds of other small capitalists from engaging in business. It has created half a dozen immense fortunes, and has prevented the accumulation of scores, it may be of hundreds, permanent competencies. Such methods are at variance with republican institutions. If this nation is to be a republic in fact as well as in name the aim of its legislation must be to secure a comfortable living to all, rather than to enable a few to become needlessly rich. It was quite as much for the purpose of giving the small capitalist a chance to engage successfully in trade or manufactures as with the intent of preventing an undue advance of cost to the consumer of goods that the anti-trust law was devised and enacted by republican policy.

Everybody remembers with what unanimity the democratic press refrained from advocacy of Sherman's anti-trust bill while it was under consideration, and with what persistence it decided it as useless after it was passed. But it has done great work. It prevented the formation of a mow and reaper trust. It so frightened the parents of the projected glass trust that their illegitimate offspring was born dead. It made an end of the southern cracker trust. It forced the cotton seed oil trust into dissolution. It gave such strength to the prosecution of the sugar trust by the authorities of the state of New York as enabled them to achieve an easy victory. And now it has forced the coal oil trust, the most powerful and the most shrewdly conducted commercial monopoly of ancient or modern times, into surrender of its illegal position. The anthracite coal trust and the National Cordage trust now are the only great monopolies existing upon American soil, and the end of these may not be distant.

DOES FARMING PAY?
The impoverished condition of the farmer has been a favorite theme for alliance politicians, and to listen to their tales of woe would make it appear that we have more suffering on the broad prairies of the west than the Czar has among his peasants in Russia. But these alliance politicians are only the walking delegates of the country districts. Their tale of woe and their agitation is their source of living. The Omaha Bee has started an investigation in Nebraska as to whether farming pays in that state. Correspondents have gone among the farmers to interview them and learn their exact condition. The names and places of residents of these farmers are given and in the two counties of Hamilton and Gage many farmers have testified that farming pays and pays well "where the same attention is given to it that a man gives to any other business."

As a rule every one of a score of men in Hamilton county went there with nothing within the last fifteen years. They have large farms, well stocked, all paid for, and count their net profits from $3,000 to $15,000. In Gage county the same story is told. Every one of these men interviewed had had some experience in farming elsewhere, in Illinois, Texas, in the east or in Europe. Their testimony is that farming pays better in Nebraska than anywhere else they have farmed, and that in the west a man can farm one-third more land with the same effort than anywhere else. If all the farmers in the west could be interviewed the result would be the same as testified to in Nebraska. It would be shown that 90 per cent of the farmers in the newer west went on their farms with nothing a few years ago, and now own them, or have them almost paid for, and horses and machinery to work them. In the city, where a man has been able to save his earnings and buy a home, he counts it the same as he would a bank account. Judge the farmers the same way, and few will be found who are not much better off than they were when they bought their farms with promises to pay.—Inter Ocean.

INCONSISTENCY.
Last night's Journal presented about as fine a spectacle in the line of inconsistent editorial writing as has been our late witness. Its very bright and brainy editor de facto labors and sweats through an editorial attacking the republican candidate from the Third ward because he is an employee of the B. & M. railroad company, and denounces all men who work beside him and are his fellow-workmen as "unfortunates" who are "compelled" to vote for the alleged "boss." Then the exceedingly able writer devotes some space to giving the probable democratic nominee from the Fourth ward a glorious "write-up," and praises the citizens of that ward to the skies for sending such an able man as Mr. McCallan to the council. The consistency of the Journal's course in this matter is plain to everybody. Mr. F. H. Steinker is the republican candidate for councilman from the Third ward. He is employed by a railroad corporation as a foreman in their shops. He is a man with few, if any, dissolute habits and enjoys a clean and spotless reputation. Mr. McCallan will probably be the democratic nominee from the Fourth ward. He, too, is employed by a railroad corporation as a foreman. His reputation is parallel with Mr. Steinker's. Simply because Mr. Steinker is a republican and Mr. McCallan is a democrat the Journal feels forced to draw the fine distinction. Its inconsistency is amazing.

Handkerchiefs—The nicest in town at "The Fair."
Take Ralrena for your blood, liver and kidneys. It cures Nervous and general debility, Rheumatism, suppressed or painful periods, dyspepsia, indigestion, bilious attacks, skin eruptions, urinary complaints, and the worst blood disorders known. It is the best tonic on earth for the debilitated.—Price $1 at O. H. Snyder and Brown & Barretts.

The population of Plattsmouth is about 10,000, and we would say at least neo-half are troubled with some affection on the throat and lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs. Trial size free. Large Bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

La Grippe Successfully Treated.
"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the leader, Mexico Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack, I am satisfied, would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being struck with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting down. 50 cent bottles for sale by F. G. Fricke & Co."

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago Ill.

The Handsomest Lady in Plattsmouth remarked to a friend the other day that she knew Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when other cough remedies had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merit, any druggist will give you a sample bottle free. Large size 50c and $1.

New Washington Penn., People
Are not slow about taking hold of a new thing, if the article has merit. A few months ago David Byers, of that place, bought his first stock of Chamberlain's Cough remedy. He has sold it all and ordered more. He says: "It has given the best of satisfaction. I have warranted every bottle and have not had one come back." 25 cent, 50 cent, and $1.00 bottles for sale by F. G. Fricke & Co., druggists.

A Great Surprise
Is in store for all who use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggist is authorized by the proprietor of this wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute and chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large Bottles 50c and $1.
