HARMONY.

DEMOCRATIC harmony.

HARMONY with a vengeance.

DEMOCRATIC harmony with a vengeance.

THERE is harmony in the democratic camp.

THERE is nothing that pleases the republicans more than the harmony that reigns supreme in the democratic camp.

I HAVE it direct from Grover Cleveland only three days old that the blunders of this democratic congress have never been exceeded.

TIN PLATE PRICES.

It is a peculiar fact, to which the American Economist calls attention, that foreign-made tin plate found its lowest price during fifteen years after the increase of American duties upon it.

Ryland's (English) Iron Trade Circular quotes the highest prices obtained for charcoal I C tin plates, thus:

Year.	English price per box.
1877.	$5.38
1878.	4.57
1879.	6.69
1880.	8.28
1881.	5.23
1882.	5.23
1883.	5.11
1884.	5.11
1885.	4.50
1886.	3.83
1887.	4.01
1888.	4.00
1889.	4.38
1890.	4.20
1891 (McKinley bill).	3.04

More than this, the Liverpool price for foreign tin plate fell after the very first month of the operation of the McKinley bill. The prices stood thus at Liverpool during 1891:

January, $4.14; February, $4.32; March, $4.32; April, $4.32; May, $3.77; June, $3.71; July, $3.71; August, $3.22.

And at the last named rate it stood during the remainder of the year.

The increased duty went into effect July 1, 1891; so that in January, February and March at Liverpool the average price was $4.22. Three-fourths of this was for United States consumption, and the duty on each box was $1.08. But from July onward the duty was $2.37, which is an increase of $1.29 per box.

Did the Liverpool exporter add this $1.29, which will have to be paid before landing in New York, to the prices. Not at all. He dropped his price by $1.10 per box as a compensation to the United States consignor, who would have to pay the increased duty.

Nevertheless, the free trade papers still are insisting upon it that the American importer "pays the tax, the whole tax imposed by the tariff."

ARE YOU GOING?

Twenty million visitors, at least, are expected at the columbian exposition; and whether you expect to be one of them or not, as an American, naturally are you interested in the preparations for the grand event. A splendid paper in Demorest's Family Magazine for April, "The Evolution of the Great Exposition," is the best thing of the kind that has yet been published.

From it you may learn all the interesting points about the coming world's fair, and the illustrations are simply superb, including a comprehensive view and the plan of the grounds, pictures of all the magnificent buildings, and portraits of some of the leading officers having it in charge. "A Talk about Trees and Arbor Day" is a timely and deeply interesting paper, profusely illustrated with pictures of the favorite trees planted in different sections of the United States, so accurately delineated that each may be easily recognized when met with; "German without a Master" furnishes invaluable suggestions for the study of that useful language; "The International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons," a paper by the General Secretary of the Central Council, Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickson, gives facts and incidents most charmingly interwoven; "A Snap Shot at Washington Etiquette" furnishes an insight of the rules that govern society at our national capital; "Easter Legends and Customs" is specially interesting, and "Easter Novelties" furnishes suggestions for all the easter gifts one may want to make. Besides, there are splendid stories, every department is full of good things, and there are over 200 handsome illustrations; and every month's magazine is just as good, and the subscription price is only $2. a year. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 E. 14th St., New York City.

AN INDIARUBBER NAVY.

The Ex-Auditor of Indiana Thinks Ironclads Must Give Way to Rubber.

As the man was going out of the big hotel he whispered to me in sepulchral tones, "Col. Rice is not right in his upper story—he is clean daft."

In a few minutes I saw the full-moon, jocund face of Col. James H. Rice, ex-auditor of Indiana, coming from the elevator. He looked perfectly sane, and I asked him who his friend was that had just departed.

"That man," said the colonel, "is a promoter and has not given me a moment's rest since I arrived in the city. I've just let him in on the ground floor of an idea of mine and have shown him illustrations of it. I offered to have him elected vice president of a company that is not formed. If my idea is put into execution it will revolutionize naval warfare, and an ironclad will be as harmless as a barge carrying a load of Sunday school excursionists."

The colonel invited me to his room, where I saw a number of illustrations in the rough of queer looking ships. I asked him to explain them. His eyes beamed with pleasure as he proceeded to elucidate his ideas. "The cuts," he said, "represent war vessels armored with tough indiarubber. Each vessel is protected with rubber seven feet in thickness and with enough give or elasticity to it to send the largest ball ever fired against it bounding back into the water. I admit that the common rubber is not of sufficient toughness to resist the impact of the ordinary cannon ball, but mind you the rubber I intend to use is not common. Every man who makes an innovation and relegates established methods to the past is in the beginning considered a crank. But I do not mind any little epithet of that kind."

"What is the tall spire in the vessels?"

"That," said the scientific colonel, "is the lookout. It is a tower that can be telescoped in a second to the surface of the vessel's deck and erected in the same space of time. It is 800 feet high. There is only one smokestack and it can be taken down in a minute. Cannons? Ah! that is a secret, but I shall tell you because you are not a promoter. In the rear of the vessel there is a turret tower with four destructive guns. You don't see it, eh? Well, neither do I, but if the enemy appeared by manipulating machinery here would rise from the hull of the vessel a turret, protected by indiarubber and ready to sink a fleet of ironclads. Everything on the deck of my indiarubber vessel can be dropped below in a few moments."

"Have you ever studied that branch of mathematics which treats of trajectory?"

The colonel had, and added: "My boy, a ball dropped on the deck of one of my vessels would bound a mile high. There is absolutely no powder or force strong enough to drive a ball into the rubber."

"One more question, colonel. How long have you had this peculiar elastic idea?"

"It came to me as an inspiration five years ago. I was in Chicago and a weakened faced man with a voice that sounded like the noise made by tearing calico made life miserable to me. He had a scheme and for a week he became my shadow, trying to get me to go into it. I worked out the indiarubber vessel and for three hours I earnestly explained to him the fortune in it if he would accept the vice presidency. From that time he has never said 'scheme' to me again. I have shown it to dozens of promoters and have talked so much about it that I really think some kind of rubber can be made to resist and throw back cannon balls."

"Have you mentioned your idea to Gen. Tracy, secretary of the navy?"

"I am a democrat," said the colonel, proudly. "You wait until a democratic president is elected."
