VINDICATION.

Not desiring to rekindle the dead fires of the late lamented attempt to remove the county seat of this county, THE HERALD, in justice to our board of county commissioners, publishes herewith a decision of our supreme court covering the precise points which came before the Cass county commissioners when the last petition, praying for the calling of an election to again vote on the question of removal, was considered. Our readers will remember that the county board, upon remonstrance against the petition, struck off certain names from the petition which did not pretend to comply with the requirements of the law, and allowed certain signers to withdraw their names from the petition, for which action they (the county board) were roundly and intemperately abused and traduced. The following decision, announced yesterday, by a unanimous court at Lincoln vindicates the county commissioners of this county so fully and completely that apologies are certainly in order from those who abused our officials for simply observing and obeying the law. Here it is:

COUNTY SEAT CASE REVERSED.
The now somewhat celebrated county seat contest in Dakota county was given another turn by an opinion handed down by the supreme court to-day. When this now famous contest was inaugurated a petition was presented to the board of commissioners asking that an election be called for the purpose of voting upon the question of the relocation of the county seat. The application was resisted by a remonstrance of more than two-fifths of the legal voters of the county, in which it was alleged that 201 names on the petition were fraudulent; that thirty-six had signed more than once; that other names were forgeries; that 200 had been induced to sign by bribery; that 269 who had signed the petition subsequently signed the remonstrance; that thirty-one were unlawful signers. A supplemental petition was also filed. After considering the matter the board ordered the election asked for by the petitioners. The matter was taken into the courts and again the petitioners were victorious. Then the case was brought to the supreme court and yesterday was reversed. In its opinion the supreme court lays down the law in regard to county seat contests in a manner that will hardly be misunderstood in similar cases in the future. The syllabus of the opinion is as follows:
"Under the provisions of section 1, article 3, of chapter 17, compiled statutes, a petition for the removal of a county seat must be signed by 'resident electors' of the county equal in number to three-fifths of all the votes cast in the county at the last general election. The words 'resident electors' are used to distinguish actual residents of the county from such persons as are temporarily therein.
"In addition to the name of each petitioner the petition must show the section, township and range on which, or the town or city in which he resides, together with his age and time of residence in the county. The omission of any of these particulars will be sufficient to cause his rejection as a petitioner.
"In examining the names of the petitioners it is the duty of the board to carefully scrutinize the entire list and reject all that are fictitious, false or repetitious, and to permit proof tending to show that some or all of those who have signed the petition or remonstrance were not in fact resident electors of the county.

"The petition when presented must contain the names of all persons who desire to sign the same as petitioners. A supplemental petition is unauthorized.
"No form of bribery to secure votes will be sanctioned by the courts. This rule is equally as important in county seat elections as in other cases. The design of the law is to secure the free and voluntary expression of each voter of his choice for the county seat."

THE alliance expects to carry four northern and four southern states next fall—Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, South Dakota, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas and North Carolina. But the alliance leaders will find that their followers in the south are like Colonel Livingston, of Georgia, first democrats and then alliance men. The farmers of the west understand this, and they will not be used as cat's paws again to draw alliance chestnuts from the fire for the democrats. They did that two years ago and the great alliance delegation they elected to congress ceased to exist when the Fifty-second congress organized. —Inter Ocean.

J. I. UNRUH, whose term expires this spring as a member of the school board, will be nominated by acclamation and be elected to succeed himself by a handsome majority. Mr. Unruh has given entire satisfaction during his connection with the board and his retirement from the board would be bad policy.

FROM reading last night's Journal one would conclude it had gone back on the democratic party and left it without a paper in the county to uphold its interests.

MUCH CRY AND LITTLE WOOL.

Result of an interesting Discussion Concerning the German Flag.

Two well-dressed women stood among the throng at the ribbon counter in one of the large dry goods stores in Sixth avenue, a few days ago, says the N. Y. Tribune, and having at length obtained the services of a clerk one of them said: "I want to buy some narrow ribbon for favors, but I must have the colors of the German flag, and, strangely enough, neither my friend nor I can recall them. Do you remember what they are?"

"I do not," said the girl politely, impressed apparently by the international character of her customers, "but the other young lady at this counter may know." "The other young lady" said she thought the colors were black and yellow.

"I am sure that isn't right," remarked an old customer who was sitting on the third stool down the counter.

"Possibly the floor walker would know," suggested the clerk. "Ca-a-sh! Ask Mr. Fitzhugh to come here." That functionary having arrived the matter was duly referred to him. "There are three colors," he declared; "black, red and yellow."

"Are you sure?" asked the two shoppers earnestly. "We cannot make a mistake."
"I am almost sure that is wrong," interposed a young woman near by who had overheard the controversy; "my husband is a German, and I never heard of yellow in the German flag."
"It might be buff," conceded the floor walker.

"I used to teach school in Indiana," remarked a tall woman with a catskin muff, "and I can settle this question. The colors in the German flag are red, white and yellow."

This seemed authoritative, but somehow the various contestants didn't appear satisfied.

"There's Schwartz, the floor walker in the cotton department," suggested the stately Fitzhugh, "he's a German himself; he'll know. Cash, go and ask Mr. Schwartz to write the colors in the German flag on this card."

The Indiana school teacher did not look pleased, but the matter having gone to the Court of Appeals she rested her case, and the cash girl was back in a minute with the card. On it were written the words, "black, red and white."

"That settles it. Thank you so much," said the two feminine shoppers gratefully, looking apprehensively at the listening throng.

"How much is the narrow ribbon, please?"
"Twenty-two cents a piece of ten yards, ma'am," answered the girl, expectantly.

"Well, we need only a little; give me a yard of each color. How much will that be?"
"Seven cents," murmured the clerk, staggered for a moment by the magnitude of the order, after the trouble of obtaining it.

The "other young lady" and the Indiana school teacher tittered audibly, but there was no sign of a smile on the clerk's face as she drawled: "Shall I have the package sent up to your home, ma'am?"

La Grippe Successfully Treated. "I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the leader, Mexica Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack, I am satisfied, would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being struck with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting down. 50 cent bottles for sale by F.
