

A TRICKY ALLIANCE.

A Plan by Which Nebraska Is to Lose Its Voice in the Electoral College to Defeat Republicans.

The alliance party in the city were highly hilarious last evening over news that is considered will carry the party to the height of power in a short time. As learned by the Press from a prominent member of the party, a former democrat and state senator, the situation is as follows:

The gentleman, whose name it is not permitted to give, says the plans have already been completed by the members of the alliance and democratic parties whereby the strength of both parties will be turned towards the alliance ticket. This is carrying out Gen. Van Wyck's scheme, which was given some time ago in the Press, by which he is to be elected governor and then climb into the United States senate, leaving Powers, who is the promising man for lieutenant governor, to hold the reins of state government.

By this means, moreover, not only the ends of the alliance party will be served, but those of the democratic party also. All hope of electing a democratic president by popular vote is of course ephermal. This the most enthusiastic alliance man admits. Yet, the plan is to have the alliance electors chosen in this state. Then when the electoral college meets, these will be turned to the support of the democratic candidates, whomsoever he be. This may be a tie in the college and so throw the election onto the national house of representative, which is democratic by a safe majority, and would certainly elect the democratic nominee.

With this understanding between the managers of the two parties, the Press was informed, the whole alliance ticket would be endorsed by the democrats, from presidential electors down. And, what is more, Nebraska will be made the seat of the fusion movement instead of Kansas, as was thought at one time. This was obtained from authorities very near the throne of the alliance movement, and can be depended upon.

Yet the republicans have no right to be terrified at the movement. Although the managers of the two fusing parties are evidently determined upon the movement, it is plain it is not popular among the rank and file of either party. Indeed should such a scheme be carried out successfully, as it seems now to have been stipulated by the party leaders, it would react greatly among the body of voters in favor of the republican ticket. The result of the scheme will be watched with interest.—Nebraska City Press.

"Our Irish Visitors."

A characteristic Irish sketch with a characteristic Irish star, whose whole presence, voice and make-up speak of nothing but the highest and best stamp of the Irish nation, with a truthfulness not acquired, but born in the man. Such is Thomas E. Murray and his favorite play, "Our Irish Visitors." Mr. Murray stands clearly at the head of the Irish character comedians of to-day, and in reviving this season. The play which for seven years has been his standard success, he has repeated, and in fact eclipsed the success of former seasons. This is due in a great measure to the undoubted merit of each member of the company which now support him, and the care and attention he has given this season to the careful staging of "Our Irish Visitors." Mr. Murray's support this season is composed of the pick of the comedy world, with such artists as Frank Davis, Will O. Petrie, Charlie Sabine, Val Dresser, Ed. Sanford, Maggie Elise, Katie Rooney, Hattie Delaro Barnes, May Nugent, Helena Coe, Janie Grey and Fannie Wallace. You will laugh for a month after seeing "Our Irish Visitors." Go and enjoy a good laugh to-night.

World's Fair Notes.

A Choral Hall, 160x260 feet, will be erected near the Horticultural Building. There Professor Tomlins with 2,000 trained voices, will furnish rare choral music during the Exposition. The Welsh International Eisteddfod will occupy the building for a week.

The exhibit which Illinois women will make in the Woman's Building will be a model hospital, conducted entirely by women. The women physicians and surgeons of the state and the Illinois Training School for Nurses will manage the matter. Three rooms in the Woman's Building have been assigned for the exhibit, and the state board has appropriated $6,000 to defray the expense.

Mrs. C. D. Clapp will organize a juvenile operetta next Tuesday night at the S. of V. hall. Only children under fourteen years of age will take part.

WHERE HAS THE CASH GONE.

The World's Fair Commission Are Looking for a Departed $5,000.

The following was taken from this morning's World-Herald: The World's fair commissioner's got together again at 10 o'clock, Sawyer, Mobley and Weiss being on deck.

Weiss set things in motion by offering the following resolution:

Resolved, That ex-Commissioner General Greer be requested to furnish the commissioners by April 5 1892, a full and complete report of all his doings and actions as commissioner general; also to furnish a full and complete itemized statement of all sums of money received and from whom; also the amount expended and for what purpose; to whom paid during his term of office; also to turn over to his successor in office all moneys, furniture, property and other belongings to the commission.

Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mr. Greer.

The following resolution was accepted and adopted by his colleagues:

Resolved, That the Nebraska educational exhibit be made in the Liberal Arts building in connection with the educational exhibits of other states, as required by the rules prescribed by the national board of control, and that energetic efforts be made to have the exhibit in keeping with the excellence of our educational system, and that we earnestly invite the hearty cooperation of all educational institutions in the state in our efforts to make a creditable showing of Nebraska's advancement and liberality in educational development, and that we will extend all financial aid possible to accomplish that end.

Resolved, That application be immediately made for 3,000 feet of floor space in the Liberal Arts building, to be used for the Nebraska educational exhibit.

On motion of Commissioner Weiss the secretary was instructed to forward a copy of the resolutions passed yesterday to President Strang calling for an itemized statement of the financial affairs of his official career and a full statement of all his doings.

The afternoon session was spent in informal discussions of ways and means and worrying over the following telegram from Garneau, who went to Chicago yesterday:

"Burnham in Boston. Returns Monday. From what his chief clerk says he don't think Woods' plans suit."

"JOSEPH GARNEAU, JR." As may be inferred from the resolution passed so promiscuously and profusely yesterday and to-day, there seems to be much dissatisfaction and suspicion as to the condition of the finances of the commission. The $5,000 allowed for the first year have about evaporated, and their is nothing on the records to show where much of the money expended has gone to. It is supposed that Strang could throw a few rays of light on the matter. The commission has reorganized proposes to sift all dark matters to the bottom.

The books showed that $5,000 had been drawn and only $1,999.99 had been accounted for. The following is the only account so far presented:

Silver Wedding

On Thursday, the 17th inst, Mr. and Mrs. William Morrow celebrated their silver wedding, surrounded by their interesting family and a large number of their friends and neighbors. The day was cold and disagreeable, but this fact did not keep away relatives and friends from a distance, and a least one hundred people were present to offer congratulations and join in the festivities of the day.

There is not a household in this community which is better known or more respected than "the Morrow's," they having lived here for years, and, while Mr. Morrow has accumulated quite a considerable share of this world's goods, it has been done without injury to his neighbors. During his entire life he has had time, while caring for his own interests, to help his fellow men, and there is not a member of his family but will follow his most worthy example.

The refreshments prepared for the occasion were of the highest order and ample to satisfy the demands of all present. We venture to say that never were congratulations more sincere or heartfelt than those offered Mr. and Mrs. Morrow that day by their friends, and the the Banner begs to join in the wish that a long life of happiness and prosperity may be in store for them.—Murray Banner.

Public Office in China.

The Chinese system of government lacks entirely the progressive and unifying element of popular election. The people have no voice in the choice of their rulers, and the rulers consider the people as so many sheep to be fleeced. The officials are paid starvngly low salaries, and many offices are openly bought. Corruption and extortion may therefore be said to be almost sanctioned, the only restraint being the dread of insurrection and the power of guilds, clans and secret societies. There is imperfect protection from robbers and pirates, many villages preferring to subsidize robber bands rather than to have to deal with the worse form of robbery practiced by the officials.—Westminster Review.

Emile Zola's Working Hours.

Emile Zola's habits are extremely regular. He takes a walk every morning, usually leaving his house, whether at Medan or at Paris, about 9 o'clock. He lunches at midday, and writes from 1 o'clock till 6, receiving no visitors and transacting no business in the afternoon. He has a particular liking for large and massive pieces of furniture, so his writing table and his library chairs are of colossal proportions, as is also his inkstand, which is in bronze and represents a lion.—Paris Cor. Philadelphia Telegraph.
