And it's greatly to his credit,
That he is a Trav'ling man! That he is a Fairbank man!

Something.

A something hovers in the air,
And poises o'er the naked tree,
And rides upon the winged clouds,
Yet hath no form the eye can see:
But to the deeper, inward sight,
It is a presence sweet and true,
That fills the universe with joy
And wakes the earth with impulse new!

A something in the forest wood,
It scarcely may be named a voice,
Yet fettered captives hear its call,
And in their longing heart rejoice—
A subtle whisper in the breeze,
So soft, it seems a spirit's breath,
Yet leafless boughs grow tremulous
With ecstasy at what it saith!

A something rises with the morn,
And lingers with the sun's last ray,
Brings rapture to the silent night,
And luster to the shining day;
With yearning, half of bliss and pain,
It swells my heart, and, wondering,
I ask, What can it be? A bird
Sings at my window, "It is spring!"

The Way Real Estate Goes Up in Creede.

The other day a Denver man stepped from the train, saw a lot he thought he would like, and asked the owner, who of course just "happened" to be standing near, what he would take for it. "One thousand dollars," was the reply.

"Well, I'll see you again shortly. I want to look about and get my bearings."

After inquiring the prices of various other lots he concluded to take the first one. He had been gone but an hour, and felt a satisfaction at being able to do a little business so soon after his arrival, and remarked to a companion: "This is a hummer and no mistake." To the owner he said: "I've concluded to take your lot. Have the papers made out and we'll go up to the bank and get the money."

"The price has gone up since you were here. It is now $1,300," quietly remarked the owner.

"Three hundred dollars an hour!" he gasped, and was carried to the train. The pace was too killing. Such activity in realty and building has rarely been seen, even in Colorado. The buildings in Jintown have arisen like mushrooms over night. An absence of a couple of days, and one would rub his eyes to be sure he was awake, so great is the change.—Cor. Denver Sun.

Waterproof Shoes.

Every winter sees a new idea in shoe-making to avoid wet and cold feet. The cork sole has outlived three or four inventions and seems very popular, but the fashionable idea is now to have oil-skin lining between the uppers and the ordinary lining. This effectually keeps out the cold and wet, and by doing away with all ventilation and retaining the perspiration a considerable amount of warmth is acquired. The plan is probably open to certain sanitary objections, and residents in suburban districts far removed from granitoid or even plank walks, are willing to take a few chances in order to get down town with dry feet. In Canada they have a simpler and much cheaper way of securing the same result by using a very thick sock made of wood pulp and millboard, which requires an immense amount of water to soak through. It is doubtful whether anything but good rubbers will pass muster from a medical standpoint, but so long as some people have a prejudice against wearing them, every winter will probably see some new invention to take their place.—Interview With a Shoe Dealer.

Spirit Rappings in Good Morse.

At a spiritual seance in a residence in the northern part of Millersburg one night, shortly after the circle was formed under the glare of the gaslight, peculiar rappings were heard on the table as if some telegraph operator were sending a message. The telegraph operator at the railroad office was sent for, and listening to the raps, declared they were made by an expert operator who seemed to know several persons present.

Several messages were sent and received, the telegraphic shade declaring he was not happy because he had not lived right on earth. The spirit then said he wanted to talk to Miss A.—, whereupon that young lady in the circle promptly fainted and broke the combination, as nothing else was heard from the dissatisfied spirit. It is said the young lady in question had a dear friend, who was an expert operator, who died some years ago.—Correspondent Pittsburg Dispatch.

Good for the Souls.

There is a great revival going on in our midst. Wednesday night the groceryman got up in meeting and said: "Brethren, I'm the man who furnished the orphan asylum with meat at twelve cents a pound when it wasn't worth six cents."

When he sat down another fellow jumped up and said: "Brethren, I want to make a clean breast of it. I'm the man who stole the meat that he furnished to the orphan asylum. Pray for us!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Maine Man's Misfortune.

A wealthy Maine man who recently got married made over all his property to his wife as a mark of affection for her. Soon afterward she was suddenly taken ill, and, before she could make a will, she died. It is now said that all her property will go to her brother, and her husband will get nothing.—Exchange.

Discovery of a Turquoise Mine.

A turquoise mine has been discovered near the town of Ibrahim-Olga, about fifteen miles from Samarcand. This is said to be the third turquoise mine found in Central Asia.—New York Journal.

William Tulliver and Minnie Stackhouse.

William Tulliver and Minnie Stackhouse were recently married on horseback in the rain at night at Paoli, Ind. The minister stood on the doorstep. The couple said they were rained out and had too far to go to lose time.

One of the largest camelia plants ever known is now growing in a nursery near Birmingham, England. It quite fills a large greenhouse. Some 2,000 buds have been trimmed from the tree, and it still has 6,000.
