

OUT OF COURT.

General Thayer's Suit Dismissed by the Supreme Judges.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 6.—In the supreme court to-day the end of the great Thayer-Boyd case was reached. The record of the proceedings show:

State ex rel John M. Thayer vs James E. Boyd. Motion to set aside; judgment denied. Opinion by Mr. Justice Post.

Courts will take notice without proof of events which are generally known within the limits of their jurisdiction. This will include changes in the office of the chief executive, and such acts of public and general interest as may be said to be conspicuous events in the history of the state.

One who seeks by quo warranto proceedings to obtain possession of an office held by another must show that he has a better title to such office than the incumbent.

When the only claim of the relator to an office is the right to hold over after the expiration of his term, on the ground that the respondent, his successor elect, is ineligible; and while the action is pending and undetermined he voluntarily abandons the office in controversy and surrenders it to the respondent, such act will disqualify him to further prosecute as relator and amounts to an abandonment of the action.

World's Fair Notes.

A communication has been received from the British commission asking for space to exhibit the rifle calibre guns manufactured by the Maxim-Nordenfeldt Gun company. The company wants to erect a building 30x15 feet to exhibit its guns in practice. One end of the building will be filled with sand bags, into which the projectiles of the guns will be fired. It is claimed that the arrangements are such as will insure perfect safety, and will be reproductions of a similar exhibit recently given at the Royal Naval Exposition in London. The request was referred to Chief Willard Smith of the transportation department, as the exhibit if allowed will come under the head of naval and marine display.

It is proposed to run from New York to Chicago, at the time of the dedication of the exposition buildings, ten special trains, ten minutes apart, each train to have elaborate decorations and music.

At an expense of $79,300 contracts have been let for furnishing the fair with boilers of 10,000 horse power capacity. The exposition power plant will burn oil instead of coal. About 225,000 barrels will be required, for which the exposition company will pay 72 1/2 cents a barrel. The contract has been let for putting in about twelve miles of sewerage pipe in the grounds for $57,736.

The world's fair committee of the North American Turner Bund has made a personal application to Director General Davis for space for a display of gymnastic apparatus, literature on the subject of physical exercise and development, and representations of gymnastic organizations, as well as for outdoor gymnastic exhibitions, which the turners desire to give eight days in each month during the exhibition.

Ole Olson's Sad Fate.

In an early day in Clay county, A. F. Dexter had two Swedes working for him on the dam in the middle of the river, just above the seething, boiling waters. Shortly after dinner one day, Swede No. 1 strolled up to Mr. Dexter's house and said: "Ay tank, Meester Dexter, ve skall have noder man purty soon to hellup. Ay got mae purty tired bout now." "No, no," said Mr. Dexter; "You are getting along all right. There is no need of any more help. Go back and try to finish up to-night." In an hour or two the same man came back again. "Val, Meester Dexter, Ay tal Ay lak you purty gude, et ees da besta tang Ay run oop genst for long tam, but mae bak is bote and you must sand beeg mans nexta da." "Why," answered Mr. Dexter, "where is Ole Olson?" "Val, Olson hae fal en water muts as femf hour ago en go oover dam lak sleek bullet. Ay tank hae never com back." Ole will appear at the Waterman next Monday night.

An Appeal for Aid.

NELSON, Neb., April 6.—[To the People.]—On Thursday, March 31, 1892, a cyclone visited the city of Nelson, Nebraska, the county seat of Nuckolls county. The resident part of the city in the north and the west was where the work of destruction was most complete. The homes of all in that section of the city were entirely swept away, together with all their houses contained. Numerous citizens in the surrounding country shared the same fate. The more fortunate people in the city and country have all contributed liberally, but their best efforts will prove inadequate to meet the wants of these distressed people.

The loss entailed upon our people has been estimated at $150,000. The condition of those who have lost their all is deplorable and forces us to call upon the country at large for aid, and in this hour of deep distress we know we will not call in vain.

At a meeting of the citizens of city and country held on the evening of April 2, the following named committee was authorized to solicit aid: W. A. Voight, Roberts and Wier, M. A. Ruble, E. H. Dowland and H. E. Goodrich.

The distribution of the funds has been placed in the hands of a committee composed of our leading citizens. Contributions can be sent to J. C. Smith, mayor of the city, or S. A. Lapp, cashier of the First National bank, Nelson.

Where Spools Are Made.

"Oxford county, Me., turns out nearly all of the spools on which the thread of this country is wound," said a wholesale notion dealer. "The spools are made from white birch timber, and they are produced by the million in Oxford county. There are many other points in western Maine, also, where the industry is important. There are many sawmills in that part of the state which are kept busy the year around sawing white birch logs into strips four feet long and from one to two inches wide and of the same thickness.

"These strips are sent to the spool factories, where they are quickly worked into spools by most ingenious labor saving machinery. The strips of white birch are fed into one machine, and they are not touched, in fact are hardly seen, again until the spools, all finished for market except polishing, drop out by the bushel from another machine several rods away from where the strips started in. The spools get their gloss by being rapidly revolved in barrels by machinery, the polish resulting from the contact of the spools in the barrel.

"In the backwoods villages of Oxford county one sees scarcely any other industry but spoolmaking, and every one is in some way interested in the business. The factories have been eating into the Maine birch forests for years, but there seems to be enough left yet to feed them well for years to come. Hundreds of thousands of feet of logs are cut and sawed into spool timber annually."

with their chattering teeth. Her eyes were blue as was her nose. One manly arm encircled her slender waist, while the other upheld an umbrella. The rain drops gently trickling down their spines did not serve to cool their ardor in the least, and every shiver seemed to cement them more closely together. "It's awfully nice out here in the park," she murmured. "I think Washington is a lovely city for a wedding tour, don't you, dear?" "Yes, darling," he replied in an abstracted manner. "I shall always come here in the future."

The Light from Cuban Fireflies.

The secret of the light the Cuban firefly gives is as yet undiscovered. Apparently it is connected in some way with the mysterious phenomena of life, and chemists and physicists have sought in vain to explain its origin. On each side of the animal's thorax is a luminous membranous spot, and these flash at intervals, so that the Cubans put a dozen of the insects in a cage together, and so obtain a continuous illumination, bright enough to read by. This light is accompanied by no perceptible heat, and is seemingly produced with almost no expenditure of energy. How great an improvement it represents upon all known artificial lights can be imagined when it is stated that the loss from other lights is more than 99 per cent.—Washington Star.

Impure Ice and Typhoid Fever.

Some years ago Dr. Charles Smart, of the United States army, traced the cause of mountain fever to the melting snow of the Rocky mountain streams, and inferred that the germs of this typho-malarial fever were brought down from the atmosphere by snow, remained frozen during winter, and then passed into the streams in an active condition when the snow melted in May, June and July. It is frequently the case that impure ice is the agent of transmitting typhoid and other fevers.—Engineering Magazine.

Alaric's Grave.

It is said that when Alaric, the conqueror of Rome, died, that "a river was turned aside to make a place in its bed for his grave, and when he was buried the water was again let into its former channel, and the prisoners who had helped to bury him were killed so that no one might find out where the conqueror of Rome was buried."—Yankee Blade.

Pressed Sawdust for Fuel.

A curious and profitable business has grown up in the Maine woods about the sawmills, in the utilizing of the immense quantities of sawdust by compression. Thousands of tons of sawdust are pressed into compact blocks and bales, and in this form is finding a ready market for kindling and fuel in the eastern cities.—Interview in New York Sun.
