

NO TRAINS ON THE B. & M.

The Rain Does Serious Damage to the B. & M.

ONE TRAIN FROM OMAHA TO-DAY.

One Mile and a Half of Track Washed Out, Besides Several Landslides Between Bellevue and Omaha.

The heavy rains this week done considerable damage. The railroads suffering worse than anyone else. Yesterday the B. & M. had a large force of men at work cleaning up the track between Bellevue and Omaha. The rain last night caused the banks to cave in again and makes things worse than they were yesterday.

Between Orecapolis and Cullom on the old main line, about one mile and a half of track was washed away completely shutting of communication with Omaha.

No. 1 due here at 3:45 a. m. arrived on time but went no further. The train was held here until 11 o'clock when it was sent back to Pacific Junction and will go down on the Iowa side and cross the river at Rulo and then go on west.

No. 2 due here at 5:17 last evening arrived from Omaha over the belt line at 12 o'clock. A train was made up here for Omaha in Place of No. 5 this morning.

The B. & M. have one hundred men of their own besides the construction train from the "Q" with about one hundred men at work repairing the track.

The approach at the east end of the Union Pacific bridge at Omaha was damaged so that the bridge could not be used.

Eight Mile Grove.

William Walter Perry was married last Thursday at Wabash to Miss Hattie Smith, Rev. Hanley of Weeping Water officiating. On Friday an old-fashioned infare was held at the home of the groom's father, "Peter Perry's," in this place, which lasted two days. Everybody had all they could eat and a general good time was had. The happy couple have gone to house-keeping on their farm, about one mile and a half from Wabash. They received a large number of very fine presents.

The corn that has been planted this spring will nearly all have to be replanted, as a great deal of it has rotted on account of the wet weather, and that planted on the hillsides is nearly all washed away. In some places the plowed ground was washed away, leaving nothing but the bare clay.

Small grain is looking well and promises to be a big crop, but it is somewhat backward on account of the cold, damp spring.

SOME INTERESTING TESTIMONY

County Attorney Travis Finds Among His Papers Part of the Testimony of Dr. (?) Griggs While Cross-questioned by Judge Ramsey.

In 1882 Dr. William W. Higgs was practicing medicine in Weeping Water. Some time during that year Joseph N. Thompson, an employe of the stone quarry, was struck in the eye by a small piece of stone. Thompson went to the above-named doctor for treatment. The doctor bade the patient accompany him to a drug store, where he mixed blue vitriol with some other medicine and put it into his eye to get the piece of stone out. The medicine caused Mr. Thompson to lose the use of his eye and he brought suit against Higgs for $200 damages, retaining H. D. Travis as his attorney. Higgs obtained a change of venue to Louisville and the case was tried before Esquire Cleghorn and a jury. Higgs retained Gibson & Meckle, and, in the meantime, B. S. Ramsey had been secured to help Mr. Travis.

When Dr. Higgs had been put upon the stand and the defendant's attorney had examined him, Judge Ramsey cross-examined him. The following is a part as taken down at the time by H. D. Travis, who found it among his old papers the other day:

Question—"What have you been doing since 1886?"

Answer—"Have been practicing the healing method."

Q.—"How old are you?"

A.—"Sixty-four."

Q.—"Did you study physiology?"

A.—"I did."

Q.—"How long?"

A.—"Three months."

Q.—"What is physiology?"

A.—"Physiology is a book got up on anatomy."

Q.—"Have you ever studied the natural sciences?"

A.—"No."

Q.—"When you examined the 'eye' did you see a spot on the cornea?"

A.—"No. When I looked at his eye I did not see anything the matter of the corner of his eye."

Q.—"What was the matter with the eye when you first saw it?"

A.—"Well, it was a sore eye."

Q.—"What is the matter with it now?"

A.—"There is a cataract on the eye."

Q.—"What is a cataract?"

A.—"It is something that grows on the outside of the eye."

Q.—"Is it painful?"

A.—"Yes, it hurts pretty bad sometimes."

Q.—"Is not cataract an opaque condition of the crystalline lens?"

A.—"I don't know what you mean."

Q.—"Was there any abrasion of the sclerotic on the cornea of the eye?"

A.—"I don't know anything about your big names."

Q.—"Where did you graduate?"

A.—"From the American College of Baltimore."

Q.—"What course did you take in that institution?"

A.—"I took three courses."

Q.—"How long were you there?"

A.—"Six weeks."

Q.—"How many and what chairs in the college?"

A.—"Cheers? I don't know what you mean. (Meaning explained.)"

A.—"There was the chair of grammar and the chair of orthography. There was no 'cheer' of astronomy as I know of."

Q.—"Who occupied the chair of grammar?"

A.—"Dr. Hickman, M. D."

Q.—"Were there any other chairs in the college?"

A.—"Yes."

Q.—"What were they?"

A.—"I don't remember."

Q.—"Was there a chair of obstetrics?"

A.—"I don't know whether there was a chair of obstacles or not."

Q.—"Did you take a course in that institution?"

A.—"Yes."

Q.—"In what year did you graduate?"

A.—"In 1832."

Q.—"How long did you practice allopathy?"

A.—"Sixteen years."

Q.—"Have you been practicing the healing method ever since?"

A.—"I have."

Q.—"How long have you practised the healing method?"

A.—"Eighteen years."

After Ramsey had concluded his examination of the doctor the case was given to the jury, and the jury agreed to disagree.

The case was again tried at Louis-
