ON Sunday last 4,289 immigrants landed at New York, a fact which should hasten the passage of that law for the diminution of such ar-

It is a "billion and a half dollar" congress now and still rising. If it does not adjourn soon the treasury of the democrats will soon rob the treasury of the last cent.

THE republican tariff policy elected a president in 1888, and it will certainly do the same thing this year with reciprocity added to it as a special attraction.

"We believe that we can build good ships in this country and build them as cheaply as in England." Such is the opinion of James A. Wright of the Inman Steamship Company. An indignant protest from free traders is now in order.

ENGLAND is trying to prevent the Inman line from transferring her large ships to the United States, but the company is hard at work pushing matters just the same and do not seem to care the least about the roaring of the British lion.

It is now reported that Cleveland will withdraw in favor of Hill, while just last week it was reported that Hill would withdraw in favor of Cleveland. So that if they both withdraw in favor of each other it will only demonstrate the fact that the democrats cannot carry New York this fall.

NOT only has the tin plate duty resulted in the establishment of a domestic tin plate industry, but it has created a market for the products of another industry—that of manufacturing tin plate machinery. Already we have seen the advertisements of two firms prepared to furnish machinery for tin plate works. There is some chance here for some energetic tin plate man—American Economist.

It is necessary that the colossal competition of Great Britain should be checked, that her monopolists in iron and cloth should not be able to break down our manufacturing, leaving us in a state of colonial vassalage and subject to periodical crisis which back society to its center and degrade the industries of the country into a whining or deficient recipient of charity. The trades have variously dismissed one-third or one-half or two-thirds of their workmen. What a condition for a country great, prosperous and free. Horace Greeley, January 18, 1855.

FREE TRADE POVERTY.

Free trade and poverty are Siamese twins.

In free trade England there were 1,317,104 paupers, exclusive of lunatics and vagrants, in the years 1890-91.

They included persons of all ages.

There were 315,457 under sixteen years of age, or about three in every hundred of the total population of similar age.

Between sixteen and sixty years, there were 591,706, or about four to every hundred of same age.

Eight in each hundred of those between sixty and sixty-five years, or 65,889 in all, are paupers.

Over sixty-five years, twenty-six out of every hundred, or more than one in four, depend on public charity, of whom the total amounts to 343,962.

These are the estimates made by General Booth of the Salvation Army in his recently issued book, "Pauperism, A Picture."

While strength and health lasts, the sturdy Briton, as a rule, bears up somehow, no matter how low his wages, against the burdens of his miserable free trade existence.

But when old age draws near he is forced to the poorhouse to end his days.

Here are General Booth's own pathetic comments on the sad facts he sets forth:

"Old age fares hardly in our times.

"Life runs more intensely than it did, and the old tend to be thrown out.

"The community gains by this, but the old suffer.

"They suffer beyond any measure of actual incapacity, for the fact that a man is old is often in itself enough to debar him from obtaining work, and it is in vain he makes pretense by dyeing his hair or wearing false teeth."

It will be a sad day for America when we experience such conditions here, as we surely would under free trade.

Just as sure as hot weather comes there will be more or less bowel complaint in this vicinity. Every person, and especially families, ought to have some reliable medicine at hand for instant use in case it is needed. A 25 or 50-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is just what you ought to have and all that you would need, even for the most severe and dangerous cases. It is the best, the most reliable and most successful treatment known and is pleasant to take. For sale F. G. Fricke & Co., druggists.

A GAME WHERE THE WINNER LOST.

He Won His Case, but He Made Up His Mind That There Was No Fun in It.

It makes the man who would rather go to law than go on a good old time hay ride mad enough to lose a suit, but when he brings suit, wins his case, gets damages and then finds that he is out of pocket a fine round sum, he can give the ordinary man points and discount him besides at the Diogenes game of hating the world. One New Yorker got a taste of a legal dose the other day which is likely to make him hesitate about using the same prescription again.

He wanted damages from a man who he declared had injured his property. He wanted all the damages he could get too. He was earnest enough to insist that the damages ought to be run up in the thousands. Now if he had been contented to take his case into a district court this story would probably never have been written. But as he estimated his wrongs not by single, plain, everyday "cart wheel" dollars, but in blocks of 1,000 each, he was forced to take his suit into the court of common pleas. Everything went swimmingly for his side. His lawyer proved beyond a doubt that the defendant had caused damages to the plaintiff's property. The judge believed it, the jury believed it, in fact the defendant himself and the defendant's counsel believed it.

If ever there was a clear case of damages it was right there in the common pleas court. And so the plaintiff got a verdict for forty-nine dollars. But it is one thing to get a verdict and another thing to take what goes with it. It happened in this case that if the defendant received a verdict for less than fifty dollars he was liable for costs. He did not know much about law, and though he was disappointed at the amount of the damages, he looked triumphantly at the other side. He was disgusted to see the calm smile on the face of the defendant's lawyer. But a moment later there was gnashing of teeth when his counsel told him about the costs.

"I have to pay the costs, do I?" he snapped.

"Yes."

"After I have won my case I have to pay costs for the other side?"

"That is the law."

"Well, it's a mighty nice law that makes the winner lose, ain't it? What do you think I went to law for? Do you think I wanted to spend money for fun? Do you think after that fellow has spoiled my property I want to pay him for doing it? What do you think I am, anyway—a maddy brained, cross eyed, half hearted lunatic? How much are the costs?"

"Three hundred and sixty dollars."

"Three hundred and sixty dollars! I win a case and get damages and lose $311, do I? I can subtract the amount of the damage from the cost and make out a check for the balance, can I? Well, I suppose I can so long as I have to. But I want you to understand that the next time I go to law it will be because I am a candidate for a lunatic asylum. The next time I have you for a lawyer it will be when I'm the defendant in a case like this and want to lose."

"Do you hear?" he screamed. "When I want to lose I'll have you, I say, so that I can come out ahead of the game. And the next time a man damages my property I'll invite him to come in and knock the roof off the house. I'll have him use my piano for a toboggan on the hall stairs. I'll invite him to play a game of tenpins in my dining room and will use my great-grandmother's tea service for pins, and if he wants to jump through our $600 Japanese screen like a circus rider he can do it."

"Then maybe he'll want me to sue him, so that I can get stuck for costs again. And I'll sue him; oh, yes, I'll sue him!" and he snorted so loudly that the court usher's afternoon nap was disturbed.—New York Tribune.

The following item, clipped from the Ft. Madison (Iowa) Democrat, contains information well worth remembering: "Mr. John Roth of this city, who met with an accident a few days ago, spraining and bruising his leg and arm quite severely, was cured by one 50-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm." This remedy is without an equal for sprains and bruises and should have a place in every household. For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

Fell Dead.

These words are very familiar to our reader, as not a day passes without the report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is "Heart Disease." Therefore beware if you have any of the following symptoms: Short breath, pain in side, smothering spells, swollen ankles, asthmatic breathing, weak and hungry spells, tenderness in shoulder or arm, fluttering of heart or irregular pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The most reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free at F. G. Fricke & Co., who also sell the New Heart Cure.

The wisdom of him who journeyeth is known by the line he selects; the judgment of the man who takes the "Burlington Route" to the cities of the east, the south, and the west, is never impeached.
