

A sense of fullness and other troubles after eating? Then you need a "Pellet." Not one of the ordinary, griping, tearing pills—it's a sickness in itself to take them. But one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—the original Liver Pill, the smallest and the easiest to take. The easiest in the way they work, too—they're mild and gentle, but thorough and effective. Every part of the system feels their healthful influence. They cleanse and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels. Regulate, mind you. They prevent disease as well as cure it. They're purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You pay only for the good you get.

This is true only of Dr. Pierce's medicines.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET.
For President
BENJAMIN HARRISON
of Indiana.
For Vice-President
WHITELAW RIED
of New York.

HARRISON'S PERSONALITY.
It is easy to say that Harrison is a man whose personality does not excite enthusiasm. He is not a hurrah candidate, in other words, as Blaine would have been, for instance. There is nothing picturesque and sensational about him, and men are not in the habit of speaking of him in fervent and exaggerated terms. But he is a man who wears, and who never falls below public expectation in tests of practical statesmanship and unselfish devotion to the public interests. It may be a misfortune for him that he does not have the faculty of making himself familiar with all kinds of people, but certainly it must be acknowledged that he is always reasonably courteous and considerate, and is not that enough in a man occupying a position of surpassing dignity and importance? He does not stop over in the way of personal compliment and flattery, but he does observe the rules of ordinary civility and propriety. His disposition is not of that effusive order which brings men cheap popularity; but he bears himself always like a good-tempered and self-respecting gentleman. The country never has cause to be ashamed of him. He is equal to any emergency of his great office, and his private character is entirely irreproachable. Surely a man of whom so many creditable things can be said may be forgiven for occasional lack of warmth in his intercourse with visiting politicians and office-seekers.

The people of the United States do not demand that a candidate for president shall be a man of the hail-fellow-well-met variety. They do not estimate him by his capacity for making himself agreeable under all circumstances, but according to his qualifications for the duties to be performed and the responsibilities to be assumed. It does not matter whether he is excessively solicitous to please everybody or not, so long as he is known to be a man of satisfactory ability and unquestionable integrity. Harrison is that kind of a man. He has been president for over three years, and the people have become well acquainted with him in every respect. They know that his course has been conscientious and patriotic, and that no serious fault can be found with any of his proceedings. Such a record counts for more than the reputation of being a boon companion and a magnetic hand-shaker. When there is a man to be selected for a difficult and laborious task we do not ask how he receives callers, but what his fitness is for substantial and useful work. That is the proper way to look at Harrison, and that is the way in which the American people will regard him as a candidate for re-election. They will not vote against him because he has failed to be as cordial to some individuals as he might have been. He has made a careful, honest and faithful president, and that is the point of real importance. There is no risk to be taken in retaining him. He has demonstrated his ability to meet all the requirements of the place, and that is the best guarantee of successful service in the future, as well as the best claim to reward from an appreciative and grateful country.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FAIR CROPS, FAIR PRICES, FAIR TRADE.
Even Wall street is weary of juggling with prices on false alarms of short crops, and makes a semi-official statement that the recent cyclones and floods have not covered areas large enough to seriously affect the crops of 1892. In parts of the country the prospects indicate a crop but little inferior to that of last year, which was almost unprecedentedly great. The estimate for the whole country as to all cereals is that the harvest will be rather above than below the average. There is at present no reason for the consumer to dread unusually high prices for next winter's supply of food, still less is their reason for the farmer to fear unusual prices for what he has to sell. Unless all signs fail, prices will be fair and firm, but not too high. There will be profit to the farmer without pressure upon the consumer.

The reports from Dun's Weekly Review of Trade and from Bradstreet's coincide with the cheerful estimate of Wall-street. Despite of the excitement of a presidential campaign, and of the alarm caused by the prevalence of storms in certain sections of the country, the general tone of trade is healthful and the prospects for the future encouraging.

TIN PLATE GROWS CHEAPER.
Tin plate keeps on getting a little cheaper every month under the growth of the American tin plate production. The 92,363,452 pounds imported in April 1891, were valued at 3.67 cents a pound. The imports for March, 1892, were valued at 2.87 cents a pound, and the 70,487,102 pounds imported in April 1892 at 2.8 cents a pound. Tin plate is a little cheaper every month. Why? Because as home production increases the foreign producer pays more of the "tariff tax." He has to. —New York Press.

THE republican platform this year is so constructed that the position of the party on all great questions can be readily understood, which is to say that it is entirely unlike the one that will be adopted at Chicago this week.

Knew He Was Going.
"I'm only a tramp," said a little, weathered old man early yesterday morning in the Mulberry street police station, "but please let me stop here. I've walked a great deal. I'm footsore and weary. I won't be a bother much longer. I'll soon throw in my checks." He had the pallor of death.

"I never take in any one at 3 in the morning," kindly replied Sergeant Horbelt, "but I'll make an exception in your case. Poor fellow, you look played out."

Yesterday morning Policeman Croughan took the old man, who gave the name of John Irving, to the Tombs police court. He wanted to be committed to the workhouse.

"The top o' th' morning, yer honor," he said to Justice Duffy. "This'll be the last time I'll bother ye. Give me a good long sentence."

The justice, however, did not fix any specified time. Under the commitment the old man could get his liberty when he wanted it.

"Take your time," said the policeman as he assisted Irving down the winding flight of stairs leading into the prison.

"My wife!" gasped the old man down stairs.

By this time they had reached the warden's office, where the pedigrees of the prisoners are taken anew.

"Well, what's the matter with your wife?" asked a keeper.

"She's in heaven!" replied the tramp. The next instant he fell back dead into the policeman's arms. —New York World.

Came from Cuba to Vote.
The last vote deposited in Rhode Island at the recent election was the vote of Eugene McAuliffe, of Providence. The gentleman was in Cuba when he received a cablegram telling him of the urgent necessity for every vote. Consulting the shipping register, he found that by taking a steamer which sailed that night he might with good weather reach Boston the day before election. Two hours later found him aboard the ship. Adverse weather delayed the vessel, and at the dawn of election day the steamer was still out in the Atlantic. Port was reached late in the afternoon, and McAuliffe was just in time to take a train to Providence due just ten minutes before the time for closing the polls.

The train was four minutes late. Hurling himself into a hack he bribed the driver to get to the wardroom in six minutes or kill the horses. The clock was about to strike the hour as Mr. McAuliffe bounded into the booth. His cross marks were made with lightning rapidity, and he got in his ballot right on the last stroke. He will return to Cuba to complete the business he dropped to come back to vote. And yet there were some thousands of people in Providence who, I have no doubt, forgot to go to the polls or were "too busy" to give the time required for walking to the wardroom.—Cor. Boston Globe.

Canoeing in Scotland.
Lord and Lady Mount Stephen, who have spent very many years in Canada, have introduced canoeing in Scotland. They have taken the beautiful estate of Faskally, Perthshire, belonging to Mrs. Butler, which comprises a stretch of the picturesque river, Tummel, which runs through the Pass of Killiecrankie to Athole and all that district, and in order to explore more fully, Lord Mount Stephen has brought home a Canadian canoe and two real Canadian boatmen. They have already shot some of the dangerous rapids of the Scotch river, and been investigating the salmon pools among the bowlders in otherwise unscanned spots. Lord Mount Stephen intends to use his canoe later on for salmon fishing. The novelty has created a great deal of interest in the neighborhood, extending to the ducal party at Blair Athol castle. —London Queen.
