City.

The city council met last night in coming in later.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A petition from Henry Eikenbary tion was referred to the judiciary committee.

A petition from Martha D. Beach, asking the council to take some steps to prevent Butcher Ellenbaum from using the back part of his shop for slaughtering purposes, was referred to the board of health. The official bond of Jas. Grace was read and approved. The following accounts against the city were read and allowed:

T T Fry, salary ...... $21 6 Thos Hendersen, inspecting sewer .... 4 16 Peter Minor, trimming trees in ceme-Journal, printing .... 700

The claims committee reported that the bill of I. Pearlman for $130.30, for furnishing the council chamber be allowed. After considerable discussion the claim was allowed with but one dissenting vote.

The cemetery committee was instructed to have the grass cut and the fences repaired at the cemetery. The city attorney failed to have a report ready so the council could take action on the opening of Ninth street and also in the paving matter and was given another week to make

On motion of Petersen the mayor appointed a committee of three to secure suitable rooms for the police judge and other public gatherings. The mayor appointed Petersen, Murphy and Spies as such commit-

The council also decided to purchase two dozen more chairs for the council chamber.

Mr. Petersen thought the council should take some action in beautifying Garfield Park; also have a cut made so that it could be printed in the pamphlet which is to be sent abroad, stating that a good park would help the town. Messrs. Steimker and Longenhagen thought that if the council had any more money than they knew what to do with the best place to put it would be to better the condition of the streets.

On motion, the council adjourned.

Seriously Hurt. Dr. Hall keeps his horse and buggy in a shed behind his office during the day. Yesterday evening the horse slipped the bridle off and backed out from under the shed. In so doing a post was knocked down, scaring the horse so that it started to run. The horse started home and on the way run into a little boy of Mr. Hodgetts, who was playing in the street. The horse in attempting to make the turn into Dr. Hall's yard, upset the buggy, throwing both horse and buggy in the ditch. The little boy had a gash cut in his head about four inches long and although he is seriously hurt it is thought not dangerously.

The boy is doing as good as could be expected under the cir- rangements for the Fourth of July. cumstances. The top of the buggy All the members are requested to was torn off and a wheel broken be present. besides the horse was somewhat bruised.

Nominated Bryan.

The democratic congressional convention met at Nebraska City yesterday and nominated W. J. Bryan for congress. The nominating speech was made by J. D. and C. W. Sherman of the Journal seconded the nomination in one of his characteristic speeches. The following is from the Lincoln

Cats of Long Ago.

The piercing and cutting teeth of some of the cats of long ago are the most per fectly adapted instruments for cutting purposes that ever were seen, being un equalled by any manufactured tools for

For example, there was the "gomphodus," which was as big as the largest panther and had two teeth in its upper jaw resembling daggers, each five inches in length. As weapons for penetrating flesh they are unrivaled among carniv orous animals, recent or extinct. They are rather like the teeth of some huge flesh eating dinosaurs, the "terrible reptiles" of the Mesozoic epoch, which had cutting teeth that nothing could resist. Doubtless this creature was inconceivably bloodthirsty. Quite as fierce, however, and even more formidable by reason of its greater size, was the contemporary "pogonodon," which was as large as the biggest jaguar.

There were two species of this animal which held the field in Oregon during the period I speak of against all rivals. It was undoubtedly a great destroyer of life among the herbivorous beasts.-Interview in Washington Star.

Carrier Pigeons in France.

Englishmen, it appears, enjoy in France a curious privilege, which is rigidly withheld from Germans and Belgians. It is that of flying carrier pigeons. This, however, as explained by Mr. Tegetmeier in his curious lecture on this subject, is on the strict condition that both the birds and the senders are English. In Belgium alone, according to this authority, there are 600,000 racing birds, which in case of a war would be put at the disposal of the government. and every one of these is a trained bird

They used, it is stated, to train them over the south of France, but that is now interdicted, and no bird from Belgium or Germany is allowed to be trained in France. The fear of course is that in the event of a war these trained pigeons would be smuggled into the inerior, and thus info carried out.-London News.

How the Englishman Likes His Game. One fad I noticed among the English I am unable to express my contempt for. The Britisher, you know, is nothing if not outre, and this is as true of his eating as others of his affairs. What would you think of the restaurant or hotel that would serve you a duck or other bird that smelled like a dead mule that the buzzards wouldn't eat? And yet that's the way the Englishman has his bird served, and he is bull headed enough to swear that he loves game meat only when it is tainted. I hope that form of Anglomania will never run riot in this country.-Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How He Came to Write a Book. How Professor E. A. Freeman came to be the author of the famous work on the Norman Conquest is curiously interesting to those taking part in competitions. That subject was selected for an English prize essay at Oxford, but the essay that he sent in did not win. He went on studying the matter, wrote the foregoing standard book and was, in consequence, afterward elected by the university to the lucrative post of professor of history.-London Tit-

ACCIDENT INSURANCE,

Fremont Quits.

The Fremont base ball club has severed its connections with the state league. The following communication explains itself:

FREMONT, Neb., June 20, 1892.—H. Brewer, President Nebraska State League, Hastings, Neb.: We are reliably informed that the secretary F. M Richey and M. B. Murphy acting as manager of one of the clubs belonging to the league and of the Nebraska state league is also is playing in the position of shortstop in his club in league games As the secretary of the league has general charge and control of all league umpires, this condition of affairs is manifestly unfair. As we find no remedy for this in the constitution of the league, nor in any laws or regulation of which we have been informed, we desire to surrender our charter as a member of the league. You will therefore take notice that after this date we do not consider ourselves bound by the constitution, nor any of the by-laws or regulations of the league. By order of the board of directors of the Fremont base ball association.
