

The wrong way, with Catarrh, is to stop it without curing it. The poisonous, irritating snuffs, strong caustic solutions, "creams," balms and the like may, perhaps, palliate for a time. But they may drive the disease to the lungs. The wrong way is full of danger.

The right way is a proved one. It's with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cures, perfectly and permanently, by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases of Chronic Catarrh. It has proved itself right, thousands of times, when everything else has failed.

And this makes its proprietors willing to prove that it's the right thing for you, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing. If they can't cure your Catarrh, they'll pay you $500 in cash. They mean it.

They're certain of their medicine.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET.

For President
BENJAMIN HARRISON
of Indiana.
For Vice-President
WHITELAW RIEDE
of New York.

DAVID B. HILL says "the tariff plank of the platform adopted at Chicago has made every workshop and factory in the United States a republican campaign headquarters. That is what consoles the senator for the loss of that nomination.

WHEN the alliance first started we were told that it was not a political party; that politics had nothing to do with the organization. That being a fact, then why is it that the politicians are now at the head of and running it? Who have control, the farmers or a few of the politicians from the other old organizations? Did any farmer come in for the nomination? Not that you can see with the naked eye.—David City News.

The fight is on, and there is no questioning the issues. It is protection to American industries, American homes and American people as against free trade, a destruction of our industries, and a pauperizing of our people. Americans should not hesitate as to how they will vote upon such an issue. The republican party that has saved this union from destruction at the hands of democrats, must still preserve it. The men who failed in war are now attempting by different methods to accomplish what they fought for then. Republicans must be loyal to their country.—Beatrice Times.

SALUTE THE FLAG AND VOTE.
The United States fiscal year closed last week, June 30. Uncle Sam finds himself in good condition, thank you.
For the first time in the history of the nation the export of American merchandise and American products amounted to more than a billion dollars, or written this way, more than $1,000,000,000.

The balance of the trade is in favor of this country by one hundred and fifty millions, ($150,000,000). That is, this country sold to other countries $150,000,000 worth of goods more than it bought from other countries. As long as a man's income exceeds his expenditures he prospers. It is the same way with nations.

The national debt during the year was reduced by $11,386,209, or nearly a million dollars a month.
There is a surplus in the treasury, including the gold reserve, of $126,602,377. When the republican party reduced the duties on many articles and removed it from others, notably sugar, entirely, the democrats predicted a bankrupted treasury. But the republican party has been able to give a practical demonstration of a system of tariff duties "sufficient for the needs of the government economically administered."
Salute McKinley's protection, Blaine's reciprocity and Harrison's administration. And vote the republican ticket next November.

IN THE BLACK BELT.
Self-help is the best help for any people and all efforts to teach the negroes of the south to help themselves free from the crop mortgage is worthy of recognition. General Samuel C. Armstrong opened the way for this teaching the negro to help himself at Hampton, Va. His success was so flattering and promised such development of the race that others have followed. The great need for such schools as Hampton where the heart, the head, and the hand are trained together in the Black Belt, where the negroes are in the majority. The work of Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee, Ala., is one of the most hopeful efforts at lifting the race because it is purely a negro work. But Tuskegee can not enlighten the whole Black Belt. Lowndes county, Alabama, south of Montgomery, has a proportion of colored population to white of seven to one. These colored people are desperately poor and unexperienced, renting land, raising cotton and giving crop mortgages at the beginning of the year that take the whole crop, all the farm implements and the mule at the harvest time.

Two Yankee girls with experience in General Armstrong's methods at Hampton, where they spent several years as teachers, visited Alabama last winter, hunted through the Black Belt and thought they found at Calhoun, Lowndes county, the most needy location for an industrial school that would teach children of the negroes how to help themselves by becoming mechanics and practical farmers, while giving them the rudiments of an education.

In Calhoun there are 2,500 colored people and only 100 whites. These Yankee girls propose to establish a school in that place. The negroes promised to raise $500 for the school, and the young ladies raised the other funds needed among their friends in New England. They have a school house, several shops, and a farm of twenty acres to begin with. They will open their school in October, and begin their model farm next year. They have been offered eighty additional acres at a price of $20 an acre, and a northern gentleman has offered $200 toward this purchase provided the remaining $1,400 can be raised. The two Yankee girls who have undertaken this work of establishing a school in the heart of the Black Belt are Mabel W. Dillingham, of Nashua, N. H., and Charlotte R. Thorn, of Wallingford, Conn. The Yankee girl still has the same pluck that she displayed before the war, when she went south to teach the slaves to read and write.—Inter Ocean.

What Ailed Her.
At the excursion given the "Little Mothers" the other day a four-year-old baby towed by the big sister was made ill by the ride on the cars. Vomiting was the result.
"You were sick at your stomach, were you not, dear?" said one of the custodians kindly.
"No, I wasn't," explained the wee mite; "my eat was too near my tongue."

NEVER STRIKES INDIANS.
In the course of his New Haven (Conn.) lecture Rev. Thomas Dana, an educated Indian, made this singular statement: "The Indians never cook anything in the house. They always cook outside, giving as their only reason that if they cook inside the steam will collect in their clothing and draw the lightning. Whether this is true or not I do not know, but I know this—no Indian wigwam has been struck by lightning since the dawn of history, and no Indian has been killed with lightning for more than 100 years."
