THE ENLARGED HERALD.

The Republicans of Old Cass to Have The Best.

AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN.

The Prospects For Plattsmouth's Future Warrants an Enlargement and Improvement of The Daily Herald.

With this issue of THE HERALD we will be pardoned for saying a few words about it. With this issue begins a new era in the republican newspaper field and THE HERALD from today will be aggressively at front.

The condition of the crops of Cass county, the state of Nebraska and the Nation and the indisputable working of the McKinley tariff law has made the success of the republican party certain.

All these things combine to teach us that it is a safe business venture to widen the field of usefulness and to make THE HERALD a greater newspaper than ever.

A number of town merchants have taken advantage of this issue to talk to the public and more will follow.

Several hundred people who are not subscribers will read this issue and we desire them to become regular readers.

Efforts to keep the Thames Clean.

It is against all the rules of civility to kick a man when he is down. The River Thames has been down—very far down—on its back for a long time now.

A river constable saw a quantity of this refuse floating on the tide, and following its track for about half a mile he came upon Mr. Horlock industriously shoveling the refuse out of his barge into the water.

The faithful constable declined to argue any analogy not contained in the police handbook, but arranged an interview between Elwin Horlock and the magistrate at Greenwich, which resulted in the former leaving the court-room a poorer man by twenty shillings.

Chinese Twins.

The only Chinese twins ever born in this country have been on exhibition for the last week in a restaurant on State street, near Randolph.

They have become adepts in the art of giving out Chinese toothpicks to curious patrons of the restaurant.
