FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Dolly Was 'Fraid.

We slipped thro' the gate this afternoon
When Bridget forgot to latch it;
A cricket fiddled a queer little tune,
And we hurried along to catch it.
I wish we'd staid in the yard and played,
For we've wandered and strayed and crossed
Up and down all over the town,
Till Dolly is 'fraid we're lost.

I wish I'd minded mamma just right
And thought of her smiles and kisses,
For if we were forced to spend the night
In any such place as this is
My Dolly would die—and so should I—
But the only plan I see
Is just to stay till they come this way
And find my Dolly and me.
—Lodora S. Armstead in St. Nicholas.

A Rich Miser and His Son.

A merchant died at Ispahan in the earlier part of this century who had for many years denied himself and his son every support except a crust of coarse bread. On a certain occasion he was overtempted to buy a piece of cheese, but reproaching himself with his extravagance he put the cheese into a bottle and content himself and obliged the boy to do the same with rubbing the crust against the bottle, enjoying the cheese in imagination.

One day, returning home later than usual, the merchant found his son eating his crust, which he constantly rubbed against the door.

"What are you about, you fool?" was his exclamation.

"It is dinner time, father. You have the key, so I could not open the door. I was rubbing my bread against it, as I could not get to the bottle."

"Cannot you go without cheese one day, you luxurious little rascal? You'll never be rich."

And the angry miser kicked the poor boy for not being able to deny himself the ideal gratification.—Cassell's Journal.

Growing Plants in Water.

To grow an acorn, a hyacinth glass or a pickle jar is suitable. Choose a fine, healthy looking acorn, and crochet with moderately coarse cotton a network case just large enough to hold it. Take off the cup and put the acorn, point downward, in this little bag, closing it at the top, and make a loop of cotton of chain stitch about two inches long, according to the depth of the jar, to hang it up by. Cut a narrow piece of wood of a size that will lie across the top of the jar without slipping in; pass it through the loop and thus hang the acorn, point downward, in the glass, which must have just enough water in it so the tip of the acorn scarcely touches it.

Keep the jar in a dark cupboard till the acorn has sprouted, and then put it in the light, just as you would a hyacinth, being careful that you keep the water always at the same level. This will live a long time if properly managed. An ordinary sweet chestnut can be grown in the same way.—Philadelphia Times.

How George Saved His Melon.

George had come from the city to spend the summer with relatives on a New England farm. To his delight he had been given a melon patch to "call his own." He was carrying the first ripe melon in triumph to the house one day, when he met his uncle. Here was a dilemma! He felt bound by common courtesy to offer a share of his treasure, and at the same time he was unwilling to divide it. The riddle was solved, however, and his reputation for generosity saved by his asking: "Uncle Ed, do you want some of my melon? Say no!"—New York Tribune.

Kites with Lanterns.

At the rural points in Maine, where they know how, flying kites to which lighted Chinese lanterns are attached is a very popular amusement. A good sized kite will carry a number of lanterns, and the effect when it is at some distance in the air is very striking. Where it has not been tried it ought to be, as the feat is not a difficult one and it causes no end of sport.—Exchange.

To Astonish Your Friends.

With some lycopodium powder the surface of a large or small vessel of water; you may then challenge any one to drop a piece of money into the water, and declare that you will get it with the hand without wetting your skin. The lycopodium adheres to the hand and prevents its contact with the water. A little shake of your hand after the feat is over will dislodge the powder.

For the Heathen.

"Well, Effie, I see you have a dollar. What are you going to do with it?"

"I'm going to thpend it on a naughty little heathen girl I know."

"Indeed! Who is she?"

"Me."—Harper's Young People.

During the epidemic of flux in this county last summer, I had hard work to keep a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. People often came ten or twelve miles in the night to get a bottle of the Remedy. I have been selling patent medicines for the last ten years and find that it has given better satisfaction in cases of Diarrhoea and flux, than any other medicine I have handled. —J. H. Benham, druggist, Golconda, Pope Co., Ill. Over five hundred bottles of this Remedy were sold in that county during the epidemic referred to. It was a perfect success and was the only remedy that did cure the worst cases. Dozens of persons there will certify that it saved their lives. Financially Embarrased

A large manufacturer, whose affairs were very much embarrassed and who was very much overworked and broken down with nervous exhaustion, went to a celebrated specialist. He was told that the only thing needed was to be relieved of care and worry, and have change of thought. This doctor was more considerate of his patient's health than of his financial circumstances. He ought to have advised him to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the best remedy for nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness beside the ill effects of tobacco, coffee, opium, etc. Thousands testify to it. Book and trial bottle free at F G Fricke & Co's
