FEELING MORE HOPEFUL.

Dr. Jenkins Using Every Effort Possible by Him to Check The Disease and Aid in Landing Passengers.

QUARANTINE, S. I., Sept. 11.—A number of steamers arrived during the early morning hours and dropped anchor in the lower bay to await the arrival of the health officers after sunrise. Among the arrivals were two crack vessels belonging to the fleets of prominent transatlantic lines. These were the La Champagne, Captain Bover, of the French line, which sailed from Havre and Cherbourg, and the Aurenia, Captain Walker, of the Cunard line, from Liverpool. The La Champagne was sighted south of Fire Island at 4:20 a. m., and the Aurenia at 6:55 a. m. They showed clean bills of health, and after being inspected by Dr. Talmage, were allowed to drop anchor off the quarantine station.

The other arrivals were the British steamer Martello, Captain Ken, from Hull, which passed Sandy Hook at 3:25 a. m., and the British steamer Clontonia, Captain Bulman, from Shields, which arrived in quarantine at 6:05 a. m. All these steamers will be closely inspected and if it is found that cholera has made its appearance aboard any of them, they will be treated in such a manner similar to that adopted in the cases of the infected vessels which are at present undergoing quarantine.

The steamer Odbam was released from quarantine at 6 a. m. Dr. Jenkins has been as active as usual today, going the rounds of the steamers at anchorage. In addition to his regular rounds, he took passage on the Cephus and proceeded to the Normannia to superintend the transfer of passengers to Fire Island. He returned late in the afternoon on Ed Stokes' yacht and soon afterward sent the following telegram to governor in explanation of his movements:

Have possession of Fire Island and have transferred first and second cabin passengers of Normannia. I had placed them on board of the iron steamers Cephus at 3:30 this afternoon. They are now on their way to Fire Island. I am awaiting telegram announcing their arrival. I will keep you informed of my actions. Will be pleased to hear and act upon any suggestions you make; have matters in control and believe I will be successful in keeping out the disease.

OFFICERS GETTING CONTROL.—"We have been successful in stopping it on the Moravia and checking it on the Eugenia and Normannia. The Scandia is being disinfected and the new cases removed as fast as they develop. I have a competent staff and will employ physicians as the emergency demands. I have accepted all assistance offered both from local and at Nialal authorities.

The steamship Wyoming is not definitely infected with cholera, but will hold her until we are perfectly satisfied of her condition. Balch has acted on your telegram. The Stonington, offered by Mr. Morgan, was the cause of considerable complaint. The New Hampshire, given me on application by Secretary Tracy, anchored in Lower Quarantine this afternoon, and will be used until we can complete arrangements for receptions of passengers. At Fire Island I have placed a competent hotel man in charge of the Surf hotel and a competent man to inspect and look after the passengers. I have also appointed thirty-five special police to patrol Fire Island. The committee from the chamber of commerce waited upon this afternoon with consulting board of physicians appointed by them, and said that Camp Low, at Sandy Hook, will be proffered to me as soon as complete for the reception of well people. I shall also request and act upon any suggestions by the medical consulting committee appointed by the chamber of commerce."

The above telegram states definitely that the passengers could be landed shortly. There appears to be no doubt in the doctor's mind although he does not say so, as to whether the Cephus can go in over the bar with the present wind blowing. The number of new cases on the Scandia are three, Mary Janowitz, aged two years and six months whose mother accompanied her to the island; Anna Oleson, aged 8 years, and Malke Nirske, aged 13 years. There was only one death, that of Theodore Olson, a 3-year-old child who was taken ill at 6 o'clock this morning and died at 8. There was another death on board the Scandia, but it was not from cholera, that of Marsenia Bursa, a nursing infant.

BEAT AN INJUNCTION.

FIRE ISLAND, BABYLON, Sept. 11.—From all indications in this place the bay men's little war is over.

About 1:30 this afternoon there was a small crowd of newspaper men, summer residents, bay men and others gathered around the end of the dock at the pier, from which the little excursion boat "Typhlo" was the property of the state, put in between Fire Island and mainland. In the middle of this throng was a handsome rig, to which four gentlemen were seated. The more prominent of these was the much abused David Sammis, the late proprietor of the Surf hotel, Fire Island, whose action in selling his property to the state of New York for quarantine purposes has aroused a maritime plot which has been very much exaggerated.

An Associated press correspondent asked Mr. Sammis to make a statement of his views of the whole affair and he said:

"The whole matter has been a tempest in a teapot. I did what any other man in my position would have done. I was made a fair offer for my property and I accepted it. That is all there is in it. Some of the bay men excited by people who had political measures to serve, became impressed more or less with the idea that the establishment of a quarantine station at Fire Island would injure their business. This is all bosh, and they now know that it is so and practically admit it. The political leaders led them on for effect and the demonstration when the Cephus first attempted to land the Normannia's passengers was the result. There is no need now to send troops here, and on Fire Island, in Babylon, at Islip and at Bay Shore all is quiet."

The Normannia's passengers have all been landed and will be made as comfortable as possible.

The Associated press report about the vacation of the injunction was the first intimation of the matter received here, and was immediately communicated to the passengers on the Cephus, who acknowledged the receipt of the good news by loud cheers, the band at the same time playing "America." Soon afterwards Sheriff Darling received a dispatch from Governor Flower instructing him to aid in the work of landing the passengers, as the injunction had been ordered vacated. Senator McPherson, A. M. Palmer and P. T. Wall came ashore for the purpose of locating rooms for the use of the weary passengers.

GUYS BEAT AN INJUNCTION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The rumor circulated last night that Governor Flower would call out the naval reserves to protect Fire Island and cover the landing of the cabin passengers of the Normannia was confirmed this morning and three regiments and a battalion of naval reserve artillery are on the way to the island. The Sixty-ninth regiment and naval reserves embarked on the steamboat Pegasus for Fire Island at 11 o'clock this morning, and the Fourteenth and Forty-seventh regiments left for the same place by the Long Island railroad at 8 o'clock this morning.

The Cephus, with her cargo of helpless woman and delicate children, is still anchored in the channel off Fire Island. Their suffering during the night is described as having been most intense. Men paced the decks all night or reclined upon the bare floors for a few hours of restless sleep, while the women and children huddled together, crying and praying, in the warmest corners to be found.

It was only after the most earnest entreaty that the bay men on shore permitted some food to be sent to the half-famished passengers. The Long Islanders have acted like brutal savages, as Fire Island, on which it is desired to land the unfortunate people is situated five miles by water from their settlement.

THE TELEGRAPH IS CUT.

The Wires Down Between New York and the Island.

GOV. FLOWER'S ACTION.

Judge Barnard of the Supreme Court Issues an Injunction Against the Governor of New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—New York is most anxiously awaiting news from Fire Island. Telegraphic communication was cut off last night between here and Babylon and Islip. It was announced that with the rising of the sun today a mob of from 600 to 1,000 bay men of the neighborhood of Fire Island would muster from all parts of South bay and make a descent upon Fire Island with the intention of burning the Surf hotel and its adjacent cottages in order to prevent these buildings being used to shelter the quarantine saloon passengers of the Normannia. Last night the hotel and outbuildings were defended by President Wilson of the New York board of health, assisted by a few employes and a score of New York reporters, who gathered there to describe the landing of the quarantine passengers.

Dispatches this morning from Fire Island says the inhabitants of the surrounding country are still preparing to prevent by force the landing of the quarantine passengers. In Bay Shore the feeling is at fever heat and there are threats of treating Landlord Sammis, who sold the Surf hotel to the state authorities for a refuge, to a coat of tar and feathers. The Peace James Cooper says the hotel and all its surroundings will be burned if a landing is attempted.

Judge Barnard of the supreme court of Brooklyn today issued an injunction restraining Governor Flower, Dr. Jenkins and others from landing the quarantined passengers on Fire Island. This applies to the town of Islip in particular.

Governor Flower arrived this morning and immediately began an investigation of the cholera troubles. He said the state would take possession of Fire Island at once. He is prepared to take any step, no matter how stringent, to keep cholera away from New York City.

FATAL CASE IN PENNSYLVANIA. JEANNETTE, Pa., Sept. 12.—A Belgian, whose name has not yet been learned, who arrived at this place last Saturday from Europe, was taken ill today and died in a few hours. The physicians in attendance pronounce the case one of Asiatic cholera. A full investigation is being made.
