

MORTON TALKS SENSE.

Again Slaps Bryan in the Face and Sustains Republicanism.

FOR AN HONEST DOLLAR.

What an Honest Democrat Says and It is Taken From the Report Made in a Democratic Newspaper.

Another Honest Democrat.

There are democrats and democrats. There are honest democrats, and THE HERALD believes enough of them who are in favor of an honest dollar to insure the reelection of Benjamin Harrison and also the republican state ticket of Nebraska. The Hon. J. Sterling Morton is a democrat of long standing. He is the democratic candidate for governor of this state. Notwithstanding these facts he talks republicanism so strongly that we give what he says some prominence. We have done so in the past and we shall continue to do so in the future. Possibly the democratic managers will charge that Morton too has been hoodled because he tells the truth. Below is what Governor Morton said at a DEMOCRATIC meeting in Omaha Saturday evening and reported in a DEMOCRATIC newspaper—the World-Herald:

"But I pass from tariff and taxation to the question of money, which tariff and all other taxation calls for. Cattle was the first money or measure of value and medium of exchange of which we have any record. Thus we see that even in the half civilized condition man realized that the measure of value should in itself contain value. It has been left for the alchemist, the astrologers, the necromancers and enchanters of the people's party, the free coinage of silver advocates to evoke value from nothingness. The people's party, led in Nebraska, by my distinguished friend and neighbor, General Van Wyck, proposes now by a mere wave of hand to evoke from the attenuated and invisible vicera, and promise to smite the rock of calamity and have prosperity, cash, money in torrents, flow forth as did the stream of water from the rock which Aaron smote in the desert of olden times. He and his disciples declare that the government stamps gives value to all coins; that 62 cents' worth of silver by a mere fiat becomes 100 cents worth of silver; that an ounce of bullion selling today for 81 cents in the New York market can be converted tomorrow by the fiat and mint of the United States into an ounce of coin worth 129 cents.

"The relation of supply to demand is the sole regulator of values. The relation of supply to demand regulates alike the value of gold, salt, silver and soap. We have here tonight, say three citizens. The one believes absolutely in the fiat of the government making absolute money out of mere paper by a mere stamp. Another believes that while there should be some value in the measure of value, it may be diluted, and that, therefore, when silver is worth only eighty two cents an ounce, the government has enough creative power in itself to convert, by coining, it to a value of 129 cents. The third citizen is what is vulgarly termed the gold bug, who believes that the bullion value of any metal is itself coined value, and that the mint stamp merely certifies the weight and fitness of the metal in each piece coined. During this calamity howl which is prevalent in the land pending the oration and disquisitions as to the misery, the penury, the absolute distress that prevails upon these plains, it is expected that land will decline in value. The friends of the alliance party are bears upon the real estate market, bears on the prosperity of cities, towns, counties and the whole commonwealth. Realizing this, our three types of money advocates each lay aside $1,000 with which to purchase land adjacent to his home. Each one lays aside the money he believes in. Our first friend puts his paper stamped money in his own house, for he fears bank and bankers. Our silver advocate of free silver coinage deposits his 1,000 silver dollars in his house. The gold bug puts his fifty $20 gold pieces away in his home. Each one content that his economic faith is correct. Each one ready to abide the consequences of that faith in business transactions. Contentedly each one in his own home retires to rest and to sleep. In the middle of the night a cry of fire, fire! is heard. All three domiciles are in flame. All efforts to extinguish them fail. Three are totally destroyed. The fiat paper money has gone with its stamps into thin air and smoke.

The silver and gold have melted into a crude mass of bullion. Stamps have disappeared alike from each. The gold bug and the silver advocate each fishes out his destroyed coin and brings into the bullion market its transformed residuum. They demand from the buyer the bullion price for it. The $1,000 in gold is declared worth $1,000 in coin, less 5 per cent for handling. That is to say, the bullion of gold is the coin value of gold. Any given quantity of gold as coin is of precisely the same value in gold as bullion. The silver bullion being weighed is priced on the silver market for bullion at $20. Now then, which is the best money for the farmer for the mechanic, for the laborer? Which is the best measure of value and medium of exchange for the people? An unalterable law of economics is that when you put two mediums of exchange in the field, one a superior money and the other an inferior money, the latter always takes the field and the superior is hoarded by the miser or taken away by the foreigner. The adoption of free coinage by the United States would bring the Gresham law into operation at once. Gold would disappear from circulation, silver would take the field. Foreigners, loving of us would pay us invariably in silver. We, buying of them, would be invariably compelled to pay in gold?

PEOPLE AND AFFAIRS.

The 17-month-old child of H. G. Beardsie met with a serious accident last Wednesday says The Elmwood Leader. The child took an open-top from the table and was walking across the floor when it stumbled and fell. Its face struck the sharp edges of the can which cut its face in a horrible manner. The ball of the left eye was injured but not seriously. Mr. Beardsie says the child is doing nicely.

CHINESE CHINAMEN.

Tuesday evening the Chinese laundryman disappeared and since that time the boys are joking Chief Grace and Officer Fitzpatrick, because they are running the laundry.

Judge Chapman and John Davies addressed a large meeting at Weeping Water Saturday night.

The republicans of Murray at their primaries Saturday evening elected the following delegates to the county convention: A. Root, Geo. Edson, Geo. Lloyd, B. Siebold, F. N. Young, sr., and John Evans.

The delegation from Plattsmouth precinct to the county convention is as follows: Will Richardson, Wm. Murray, S. L. Thomas, J. C. Eikenlary, Thos. Wiles, A. B. Taylor and Henry Eikenlary.

Rev. L. E. Britt, for the past year, pastor of the M. E. church of this city, has been appointed presiding elder of the Nebraska City district. Dr. Britt has been a resident of this city only a year, and it is with regret that THE HERALD chronicles this, but hopes the revered gentleman will decide to remain with his most estimable family, in our midst.

The university republican club, seventy-five strong, is talking of going to Plattsmouth to hear the Bryan-Field debate there, and will for the occasion dub themselves the "Field home guards."—Lincoln Journal.

John Pitman of Nebraska is now working for Henry Beck of this city.

CASS COUNTY INDEPENDENTS.

The people's party held their county convention at Weeping Water yesterday afternoon, but a full ticket was not nominated. No one was nominated for county attorney. W. D. Hill was nominated for the state senate; Rev. N. M. Allen of Union and G. W. Peterson of Eagle for the house and James Rouse of Greenwood precinct for commissioner. If one may judge by the diminished number of voters at the convention and the decrease of enthusiasm the people's party does not include more than half or at most two-thirds of the old alliance adherents.

This evening at 8 o'clock occurs the marriage at Weeping Water of Mr. Isaac Teegarden and Miss Lucy Wolcott, both of whom are well known in this city. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Pollock and Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Patterson left this afternoon to be present at the marriage ceremony.

SLOAN IS CAPTURED.

Sheriff Frank Harriman of Washington county was in Lincoln Monday forenoon. He visited the state house and obtained from Governor Boyd a requisition on the government of Texas for the arrest of Arthur D. Sloan, whose murder of his stepfather and stepbrother near Fontanelle, Washington county, is a matter of history still fresh in the minds of the people of Nebraska. Sloan, it will be remembered, was captured in Iowa shortly after the commission of the crime, but after lying in jail three weeks he managed to make his escape. He was recently discovered in Comilla, La Salle county, Texas, by the sheriff of that county, who recognized him by a photograph furnished by the Bee that had been sent out generally over the country by the authorities of Washington county. Sloan was captured by the sheriff of La Salle county while engaged in a game of poker at a well known gambling resort at Comilla. The sheriff had Sloan's photograph taken, and sending it to Sheriff Harriman had his man fully identified. Sloan is now being held to await the arrival of the Nebraska officers. Sheriff Harriman was seen by a Bee representative just after he had secured the requisition papers, but as he was then hurrying to catch his train the above facts were all that could be elicited. He is now on his way to Texas.

Superintendent Noble's Report.

County Superintendent Noble has divided Cass county into nine "reading circle" districts and has asked the teachers to meet Saturday, October 1, at 2 o'clock, in the school houses in their respective circles to organize. Monthly meetings will be held and the work outlined by the state committee in The Northwestern Journal of Education will be done. The required reading for this year is Page's "Theory and Practice," Hale's "Lights of Two Countries," and The Northwestern Journal. This is the third year that the work has been conducted in this way. It has proved a great success and has been a great help to the army of Nebraska teachers. Cass, with its large list of excellent teachers, ought to have as many circles as any county in the state. The circles are as follows:

- Circle No. 1, comprising districts No. 1, 2, 3, 27, 28, 29, 30, 37, 41, 42, 43 and 47, will meet at Plattsmouth.
Circle No. 2, comprising districts No. 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 45 and 46, will meet at Louisville.
Circle No. 3, comprising districts No. 22, 30, 36, 38, 21, 39, 38, 72, 83, 71, 63, 50, 29, 94, 91, 23 and 26, will meet at Weeping Water.
Circle No. 4, comprising districts No. 17, 77, 19, 18, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 10 and 39, will meet at Union.
Circle No. 5, comprising districts No. 36, 6, 7, 8, 4, 5, 25, 55 and 99, will meet at Murray.
Circle No. 6, comprising districts No. 35, 36, 81, 82, 49, 73, 75, 76 and 64, will meet at Greenwood.
Circle No. 7, comprising districts No. 85, 57, 58, 34, 43, 46, 52, 61, 69 and 86, will meet at Murdock.
Circle No. 8, comprising districts No. 69, 67, 54, 32, 87, 62, 65, 74, 84, 90, 88 and 100, will meet at Eagle.
Circle No. 9, comprising districts No. 95, 24, 101, 93, 59, 51, 53, 98, 18 and 44, will meet at Elmwood.

Every teacher should attend this first meeting even if they cannot become a member.

An Injunction.

Yesterday an order was issued from the district court restraining the city officials from giving the city printing to the News. This was on a petition from Mr. Sherman of The Journal and asked for on the ground that The Journal's bid was the lower than that of The News. As a matter of fact THE HERALD's bid was lower than that of The News. The latter's bid was the highest of the three. The case will be argued before Judge Chapman at 10 o'clock on the morning of Monday, Oct. 3.

The News people are somewhat excited over the matter and were this morning raging around and charging that the action stopped the paying matter. It will do no such thing. The law says ordinances shall be published. There is nothing standing in the way of the ordinance being published in

We hereby offer to print it in THE HERALD if the city clerk shall offer it to this newspaper. There is nothing standing in the way of the printing of the ordinance and it will be published all right.

That Advertising Book.

The News has issued through that other scab printing office, the Fester Printing Co. of Omaha, the illustrated advertising book of Plattsmouth, and a fine looking job it is too! When the work was to be given out THE HERALD said that the work could not be satisfactorily done this town. The News said it could and would be and that the job would be done IN THAT OFFICE if the contract was awarded it. We knew The News folks were bluffing and said so, but the contract was awarded them. Time has proven what THE HERALD said was correct. The News did not dare attempt to print it in its own office. They took the job to Omaha and had the work done there in a scab office, and it is not up to standard and no first-class printer will under oath say so. The city ought not to pay for it and we do not believe they will do so.

The Special to Weeping Water.

The M. P. railroad company will run a special train to Weeping Water next Saturday to accommodate republicans who desire to attend the county convention. The fare for the round trip will be $1.12. The train will leave Plattsmouth at 8:00 a. m. and returning will leave Weeping Water at 4:00 p. m.
