MARRIED AT HIGH NOON.

Will Coolege and Mattie Smith Married.

AN AUSPICIOUS EVENT.

The P. E. O. Entertainment Exceeds all Expectations Other Items of Importance Gathered About the City.

A Happy Wedding.

Mr. Will Coolege, of the B. & M. coach department, and Miss Mattie Smith, the handsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Smith were united in marriage Tuesday at high noon by Rev. J. T. Baird, D. D., of the first Presbyterian church, at the home of the brides parents, on the corner of Fifth and Marble streets, in the presence of a host of friends. Miss Nettie Ballance presided at the piano. As soon as the ceremony was over the guests repaired to the dining room where they were substantially entertained by the provident host and hostess. Elaborated arrangements had been made for the event, and cut flowers and potted plants were every where ornamenting and giving fragrance and beauty to the parlor and dining room. The happy bridegroom and bride departed on the afternoon train on a wedding trip to Columbus, Neb., the home Mr. Coolege's parents, and upon their return will begin housekeeping in this city.

THE HERALD extends its hearty good wishes for the future prosperity and happiness of the excellent young couple. The bride was tastefully dressed in cream Albatros with ribbon trimmings, and the bridesmaid, Miss Jennie Cooper of Lincoln wore a pink crepon, while the groom and groomsmen wore conventional black. The happy couple were the recipients of a large number of very handsome and useful presents.

The Welsh Bidding.

The P. E. O. society gave an entertainment last Thursday evening at Rockwood hall which for novelty and elegance eclipsed anything that has been presented in this city for some time. It was the representation of a "Welsh Bridal Party." The members of the society were dressed in the Welsh peasant costume, with the high black hat worn by that people, and entertained the guests according to the Welsh customs. One of the amusing features of the evening was the sale at auction of the numerous presents given to the bride. After refreshments, dancing and card playing were indulged in till a late hour.

Nebraska at the World's Fair

A good many Nebraska people, says the Lincoln News, who have visited the World's Fair grounds have come home professing great dissatisfaction which the building erected thereon as representative of this state. It represents an expenditure of something like $17,000 of state funds, but many have been convinced from an inspection of it, among them being some of the men who are in close touch with the Nebraska commission, and express confidence in the belief that it could be built for about half that amount. Architect McDonald of Geneva returned yesterday from the east and in conversation with a reporter last evening gave his estimate as follows: "The building is falsely constructed. The design is as sour as it is ugly. It is very questionable if it will stand together another year. Near our building is located several families of Esquimaux, with their trained dogs. The weather was so cold that a long visit to the grounds was impossible, and even the Esquimaux came near freezing."

The funeral occurred Monday morning from the family residence at the corner of Pearl and Third streets at ten o'clock.

One of Lawrence Stull's fine mares was killed by an engine on the M. P. crossing on his father's farm, three miles northwest of town, Friday. A herd of horses were running in the pasture, the train came along, frightened them and they ran for the crossing to get home, when the engine struck this one killing it instantly.

Wm. H. Otte of Louisville, through his attorneys Besson & Root, has commenced action for damages in district court against Saloon-keeper Jno. Burnes, of the same village, and his three bondsmen. Otte alleges that during the month of October, '92, he was poisoned upon by one Alexander Shank and was so injured as to permanently disable his left hand. Shank was intoxicated from the effects of having partaken of liquor purchased from Burnes, and for this reason Otte holds Burnes and his bondsmen responsible for his injury and disability. He sues for $3,157-$7 of which is for medical treatment, $150 for the ninety days which he was unable to labor, and $3,000 for permanent disability.

Manager Morton of the starch works was showing a fine specimen of starch yesterday to different business men. It was certainly a fine product, and Mr. Robt. Morton, who speaks as one of authority for he has handled starch for a great many years, pronounces the starch the very finest he ever saw without any exception. There is a great future for the Nebraska City Starch Works—Press.

A pleasant high-five party was held Friday evening at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Elson on South Sixth street in honor of Miss McCabe, a niece of Mrs. J. A. PLEASANTLY ENTERTAINED.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupley entertained a party of friends at their hospitable home corner of Fifth and Granite streets Saturday evening. High five was the leading pastime, which held sway until a late hour when refreshments were served and the guests after enjoying the edibles, returned to their homes with kindly and best wishes for the host and hostess.

This has been a queer winter and last Saturday we had another queer storm, for along the southern line of the state the snow fell till it was two feet deep. At Nebraska City it fell only eighteen inches, at Eight Mile Grove and Murray six inches fell and here in Plattsmouth hardly enough fell to cover the ground, while in Omaha none fell at all, out at Lincoln the roads are dry and dusty.
