Dr. SYDNEY RINGER, Professor of Medicine at University College, London, Author of the Standard Handbook of Therapeutics, actually writes as follows: "From the careful analyses of Prof. ATTKINSON and others, I am satisfied that VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA is in no way injurious to health, and that it is decidedly more nutritious than other Coccos.—It is certainly 'Pure' and highly digestible.—The quotations in certain advertisements (from Trade rivals) from my book on Therapeutics are quite misleading, and cannot possibly apply to VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA."

The false reflection on VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA is thus effectually repelled, and the very authority cited to controvert it, is thereby prompted to give it a very handsome testimonial. B.

Results of the Election.

The election has come and gone and the honors are nearly evenly divided, for which we are truly thankful, considering the odds which we had to work against. The day went off very quietly, only one or two "free for alls" being reported. We consider that we came off pretty well, in a city where a large democratic vote has always been polled, when we think that two of our men were inqualifiably elected and one a tie which we will doubtless win, making three out of the seven officers elected. The following is the vote as polled.

- FIRST WARD.
For councilman—W. D. Jones, 92; Chet Smith, 59. For members of the School board—H. B. Burgess, 105; S. A. Davis, 80; John Sattler, 58; C. S. Polk, 58.
- SECOND WARD.
For councilman—Chas. Grimes, 139; R. B. Windham, 119. Members of the school board—H. B. Burgess, 196; S. A. Davis, 138; John Sattler, 130; C. S. Polk, 70.
- THIRD WARD.
For councilman—J. W. Bridge, 155; Chas. L. Hempel, 120. Members of the school board—H. B. Burgess, 183; S. A. Davis, 165; C. S. Polk, 128; John Sattler, 98.
- FOURTH WARD.
For councilman—Wash. Smith, 95; F. D. Lehnhoff, 95. Members of the school board—H. B. Burgess, 140; S. A. Davis, 73; John Sattler, 88; C. S. Polk, 51.
- FIFTH WARD.
For councilman—P. H. Mahoney, 68; S. G. Green, 59. Members of the school board—H. B. Burgess, 87; John Sattler, 57; S. A. Davis, 42; C. S. Polk, 39.

In THE HERALD of last week we published a very meager report of the Hess shooting affair at Eagle. We wish to make a correction by saying that none of the statements were true, as we have since learned, but it was the only account we could get at the time. It is a well known fact, in the neighborhood of Eagle, that Andy Hess and his brothers are noted for being lawless characters. On the day of the shooting they were in Eagle and loaded themselves with bad whisky and the curses of all law-abiding citizens, before starting home. On the road home they overtook Mr. Carr and family who had been in town until late in the evening, attending dinner given by some friends. As soon as the Hess crowd recognized Mr. Carr they began a tirade of most abusive language and drove the wagon tongue through the back of Mr. Carr's carriage; then driving out to the side they endeavored to lack their wheels into those of Mr. Carr, buggy, and in many other ways exasperated and abused him. This conduct they kept up until reaching Mr. Carr's home. When he turned into his gate they attempted to drive ahead of him and only by dint of great danger to his family and applying the whip to his own horses did he succeed in getting through. He drove around to the back part of the house and sprang from the buggy throwing the lines, to his wife, and rushed in to the kitchen just as the Hess hoodlums, having tied their horses outside, came into the back yard with the intention, they said of killing him. Mr. Carr standing in the door warned them that they were on his premises and ordered them off immediately. At this they rushed for him uttering most foul oaths, when he reached back of the door secured a shot gun and fired into the crowd, hitting Andy Hess in the hand and stomach. The last reports are that he will get well but probably lose his hand. Should he die it will be a pure case of justifiable homicide and no more than any other man with a grain of sense or manhood about him would do.

"Joe" is so crowded with new goods and business that he hasn't time to write us an ad. The one he has in this week is only a forecast of what is coming.

From the low french window of our sanctum methinks we see green grass.

Institute Notes.

The teachers institute at Weeping Water closed last Friday.

The total enrollment was 140. One of the principal studies this year was "Nebraska," a short history, geography, and civil government of our state.

Supt. Noble is trying to make arrangements for a regular course of institute work, so that a teacher can finish the course in four years, after which he will not be compelled to attend the institute.

In order to make this work more permanent, he had the teachers elect a committee to take charge of it. The committee is as follows:

Mr. Waterhouse of Weeping Water; Mr. Halsey of Platts-moth; Mr. Killer of Louisville; Mr. Haughty of Elmwood; Mr. Farley of Cedar Creek, and Misses Chevorant of Greenwood, Nurtz of Murray Foster of Union.

Tuesday evening a very enjoyable social was held by the teachers at the school house. A large number were present and every one had a very pleasant time.

An excellent musical programme was rendered, after which the evening was spent in having a general good time.

Taken altogether the institute was a very pleasant and profitable one, and the teachers have gone back to their schools, feeling better prepared for their spring work.

LUELLA MATHEWS.

Did you notice those seersucker suits last Sunday.

The wreck and explosion in the B. & M. yards at South Omaha has culminated in a very nasty mess for Platts-mouth. The wreck was caused by the explosion of a tank car of naphtha which set fire to, and burned three car-loads of cattle and one car-load of hogs. It was a Missouri Pacific wreck and they had to pay for the stock that was killed and remove the carcasses, which they did, but to the eminent danger of people who use city water as they dumped the whole putrid carcass mass into the Platte river at the bridge. The rotten cargo was put off into the north side of the river where the water is not deep enough to float the carcasses and the filthy putrid mass lies there oozing out into the water that is used by the city of Platts-mouth. The health officer has investigated the matter but finds he can do nothing as it is not in Cass county; being just over the line in Sarpy county. The stench at the bridge is almost unendurable. The water from the city is taken from the river about three miles below the pile of caron. It seems that something ought and should be done with such lawlessness.

The Misses Wigton's have just received a large shipment of fine millinery goods. Their store looks like a veritable flower garden. Just notice it some time.
