LINCOLN'S OLD HOMESTEAD.

To the Editor of THE NEWS:

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Jan. 28.—To set beneath the branches of a tree planted by the hand of the immortal Lincoln, or to wander from room to room in the modest old-fashioned two-story frame dwelling that in years gone by was the home of the great American, is a privilege of great interest to any citizen of any state in the union, or of any nation of the earth. Today, with the thermometer marking September weather, I wandered to that Mecca of all strangers who visit Springfield—the old homestead of Lincoln, the house in which he lived for years before he was nominated and elected to the presidency, the one in which he received the news of his first nomination, and in which, later, he received the report of his election. The one which he left to serve the nation as its chief magistrate, and from which his body was conveyed to its last resting place at beautiful Oak Ridge, in April, 1865.

The house, built mostly of native lumber, has well withstood the lapse of time, and with the exception of a larger kitchen added by a custodian, is exactly as the Lincoln family left it when they departed for Washington. The rooms contain many pieces of furniture used by the family, and the walls are adorned with photographs and paintings of Lincoln and his family. In front of the house on Eighth street stands an elm tree now grown to great size, which Lincoln himself planted in his early days in Springfield. It is said that this tree is at present the only one living out of several that were planted at the same time. Among other relics kept in the residence is a walnut rail some twelve feet long, being one of a great many that Lincoln, in the early thirties, is said to have split. Springfield now is not the Springfied of '59 and '60, time having wrought its changes here, as well as elsewhere, and the old residents of Lincoln's time are fast passing beyond. The younger generation, while reverencing the memory of Lincoln, and being more or less proud of the fact that they have chosen this historical spot as their abiding place, are more devoted to their business than they are to patriotism. The relics on exhibition at the homestead are principally the property of Springfield people, who have loaned them to the state to be arranged for the convenience of the many callers. Mr. Poffenberger, the present custodian, is an appointee of Governor Altgeld, a member of the G. A. R. and a modest, pleasant gentleman, who takes a pride in his charge and endeavors to make visitors feel that they have a right to glean all the information attainable of all things under his charge.

At some other time I will endeavor to conclude this article and to interest your readers with what I saw in Springfield.

Dates for County Fairs.

LINCOLN, Feb. 5.—At a meeting of the representatives of the fair association of Cass, Nemaha, Johnson and Otoe counties, held at the Windsor hotel today, F. E. Browne, secretary of the Otoe County Fair and Driving Park association, was chosen president and secretary of the meeting. It was moved as follows: That a circuit of fairs for the year 1896 for said counties be established as follows: Elmwood, Cass county, September 15, 16, 17 and 18; Auburn, Nemaha county, September 22, 23, 24 and 25; Syracuse, Otoe county, September 29, 30, October 1 and 2; Plattsmouth, Cass county, October 6, 7, 8 and 9; Tecumseh, Johnson county, October 13, 14, 15 and 16.

It was moved by Thomas Crummel and seconded by W. G. Keefer that the foregoing dates for the circuit be the dates for holding the fairs at the respective places and on taking a vote the same was unanimously carried.

It was moved and seconded that the entries for all trotting and pacing races for each association be closed ten days prior to holding the respective meeting, and that the rules of each association be governed by the rules of the American Trotting association and that any record made after September 5 shall be no bar and that it requires four to enter and three to start. On motion the meeting adjourned.

Won the Prizes.

When Colonel Hoagland visited this city a few days ago he delivered a lecture to the students in two of the high school rooms, and then offered a prize to the scholar in each room who would write the best essay on the facts given in this lecture, and as a result Arthur Chrisman and May Hartman were the winners of the prizes, an illuminated chart. The Colonel has gotten up for those who contribute to his worthy cause.

Gold In Seward County.

The gold excitement is still increasing in Pleasant Dale, this state, and assays and tests are being made from day to day with favorable results. There is hardly a farmer that section who has not taken some dirt and sand, and, after washing it, tested it, or has had it tested with acids. A meeting of the owners of land in that section and around Milford was held last week at Milford, and it was there decided to form a company to develop the gold field. Another meeting will be held tomorrow, and it is reported that a permanent organization will be affected.

Prof. Herbert Bartlett, who has often been referred to in connection with the gold fields, has returned from a brief trip to Venezuela, and it is reported that he will work with the land owners there and develop the gold fields for one-twelfth of the gold produced. This certainly shows that the gold fields are genuine, or such an eminent mining engineer as Bartlett would not give his time and attention to them. In a talk with Bartlett concerning the fields he said:

"Situated in the midst of Seward county are what are known as the Milford gold fields. They are at once the most interesting and unique, as well as the most valuable of similar deposits found in any of these western states; interesting from the fact of their being situated in a rolling prairie country, where we should look for a formation having all the rocks that belong to the more recent or later periods. But here we find an almost entire absence of the rocks that are peculiar to the later or water builded rocks of this state. The rocks, either small or large, are all belonging to the different species of granite, and therefore may be justly counted as belonging to some remote or ancient formation, and this fully answers the objection of one of Nebraska's eminent gold men, who has stated that it was impossible to find gold here from the fact that all of these rocks are too young. If there are any more ancient rocks than granite, they will have to be sought for within the molten heart of the earth. This formation is interesting as being of the gladial drift period and this answers the query of many as to how it came here. Ice and water were the motive power, and it is as likely to be found in one place as another.

"That there is gold here in large quantities there is now no doubt, and many who were recently doubters are now carrying about in their pockets fine specimens of gold taken from the deposit by various processes, and the results of ten pounds of sand have given as high as 60 cents in fine gold. Amalgamation, cyanide and other methods have all been successfully tested, and most excellent results have been attained."

Chapman On the Grid Iron.

The following resolutions were presented and read before the Nebraska City council Monday evening:

Whereas, The suit of the city of Nebraska City against the Water & Light company has been removed, upon the application of the water company, to the United States circuit court upon the ground of local prejudices among our people against the said water company; upon said application for removal Hon. Samuel M. Chapman, ex-judge of the district court for this judicial district, made an affidavit in which occurs the following language:

"That the feeling and sentiments of the people of Otoe county are very strong against the Water & Light company or any of its assigns and counsel; that the mayor and certain councilmen of said city of Nebraska City purposely and in pursuance of a well-organized conspiracy manufactured public opinion against the plaintiff and attempted to control affiant as judge in the trial of said case."

Therefore, Be it resolved by the mayor and council of Nebraska City:

I. That we denounce the statements contained in the affidavit of ex-Judge Chapman, as above set forth, as untrue and malicious, as having no possible foundation in fact, and as a slander upon the fair name of the city, its officials and people.

II. That we call upon Judge Chapman to name the man or men, mayor or councilman, who "purposely and in pursuance of a well-organized conspiracy manufactured public opinion against the plaintiff (Water & Light company) and attempted to control affiant (Judge Chapman) as judge in the trial of said cause" or stand charged with a wilful and cruel slander.

III. That if Judge Chapman has in his possession any evidence going to establish the existence of a "well-organized conspiracy" or of any conspiracy whatever to manufacture public opinion against the Water & Light company, it is his duty to produce it, and especially to expose those who "attempted to control said affiant as judge in the trial of said cause."

IV. That in making such affidavit Judge Chapman has shown the existence of prejudice against the city, and partiality for the water company, and his unfitness for the position of judge."

These resolutions were signed by Nicholson, Bauer, Brower, Nelson, Teten, Fisher and Fass, and passed unanimously.

Lewiston Church.

Our meeting Thursday evening was a powerful one—the presence of the Lord was felt among the people. The congregation was not large on account of the storm. Willie Graves, Renna Allen, Chas. Byers and Nellie Graves were down from Plattsmouth; come again and bring others.

The trouble over the church building among the people is a great hindrance, but God with our help can take away those obstacles. We can not afford to lose our souls because of a difficulty over a church building. I do not know the parties, but God knows, and he knows that I love both sides alike. Oh! that they might get right with God, and these troubles would vanquish! Praise God that he has the power to clear these troubles of ours away, if we only ask him.

We expect that the Lord will do a wonderful work in these parts—some have already been saved. I am sorry some people are so careless about their best interest—that is, their eternal interest. Oh! think of people inviting our neighbors and their children to dances and card parties! May God help them to see aright.

Novel, But Useful.

Wonders will never cease. There is now patented an oil especially for floors, which obviates the necesity of scrubbing or sprinkling when sweeping. There will positively no dust arise which makes it particularly adaptable for kitchen floors, where it is inconvenient to sprinkle when sweeping, and saves ten years of a woman's life, two or three hours of time and labor each week and an unknown quantity of patience. And excellent thing for store rooms, school rooms and public halls. For sale by Smith & Parmele.

Raising money to pay bills. JEWELRY AT AUCTION, ARCH L. COLEMAN, Jeweler, commencing Saturday, the 8th.

Notice to Painters.

Bids will be received up until noon Tuesday, the 11th day of February, 1896, for painting and calsomining at court house, according to the specifications on file at the county clerk's office, the county to furnish the material. Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Order to Show Cause.

In the district court of Cass county, Nebraska.

In the matter of the estate of Fred W. Cross, deceasd.

This cause came on for hearing upon the petition of Arthur E. Cross, executor of the estate of Fred W. Cross, deceased, praying for a license to sell the undivided three-tenths (3-10) of the south two-thirds (⅔) of the west half of section twenty-nine (29), township ten (10), north of range eleven (11), in Cass county, Nebraska, or a sufficient amount of the same to bring the sum of $2,565.74, and cost of administration, for the payment of debts allowed against said estate and the costs of administration, there not being sufficient personal property to pay the said debts and expenses of administration.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me at the office of the clerk of the district court of Cass county, Nebraska, in Plattsmouth, on the 29th day of March, A. D. 1896, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., to show cause why a license should not be granted to said executor to sell so much of the above described real estate of said deceased as shall be necessary to pay said debts and expenses.

Dated this 6th day of February, A. D. 1896.

B. S. RAMSEY,
Judge of the District Court.

Harper's Magazine
IN 1896.

Briseis, a new novel by William Black, written with all the author's well-known charm of manner, will begin in December number, 1895, and continue until May. A new novel by George Du Maurier, entitled The Martian, will also begin during the year. It is not too much to say that no novel has ever been awaited with such great expectation as the successor to Trilby. The Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc will come time and will relate the story of the failure and martydom of the Maid of Orleans. Other important fiction of the year will be a novelettee by Mark Twain, under the title, Tom Sawyer, detective; a humorous three-part tale called Two Mormons from Muddlety, by Langdon Elwyn Mitchell; and short stories by Octave Thanet, Richard Harding Davis, Mary E. Wilkins, Julian Ralph, Brander Matthews, Owen Wister, and other well-known writers.

Prof. Woodrow Wilson will contribute six papers on George Washington and his times, with illustrations by Howard Pyle. Poultney Bigelow's history of The German Struggle for Liberty, illustrated by R. Caton Woodville, will be continued through the winter. Two papers on St. Clair's defeat and Mad Anthony Wayne's victory, by Theodore Roosevelt, with graphic illustrations will be printed during the year.

A noteworthy feature of the Magazine during 1896 will be a series of articles by Caspar W. Whitney, describing his trip of 2,600 miles on snow-shoes and with dog-sledge trains into the unexplored Barren Grounds of British North America in pursuit of wood-bison and musk-oxen. Mr. Whitney's series will have the added interest of being illustrated from photog aphs taken by himself.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the number current at the time of receipt of order.

Remittances should be made by postoffice money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss. Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Bros.

Harper's Bazar
IN 1896.

The twenty-ninth year of Harper's Bazar, beginning in January, 1896, finds it maintaining its deserved reputation both as a Fashion Journal and a weekly periodical for home reading.

Every week the Bazar presents beautiful toilettes for various occasions, Sandoz, Baude and Chapuis illustrate and engrave the newest designs from the finest models in Paris and Berlin. New York Fashions epitomizes current styles in New York. A fortnightly patter-sheet supplement with diagrams and directions enables women to cut and make their own gowns, and is of great value to the professional modiste as well as to the amateur dressmaker. Children's Clothing receives constant attention. Fashions for Men are described in full detail by a man-about-town. Our Paris Letter, by Katharine De Forest, is a sprightly weekly recital of fashion, gossip, and social affairs in Paris, given by a clever woman in an entertaining way.

Both the serials for 1896 are the work of American women. Mrs. Gerald, by Maria Louise Pool, is a striking story of New England life. Mary E. Wilkins, in Jerome, a Poor Man, discusses the always interesting problems of the relations between labor and capital. Short stories will be written by the best authors.

Special Departments, Music, The Outdoor Woman, Personals, What We Are Doing, Women and Men, report and discuss themes of immediate interest.

Answers to Correspondents. Questions receive the personal attention of the editor, and are answered at the earliest practical date after their receipt.

The volumes of the Bazar begin with the first number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the number current at the receipt of order.

Remittances should be made by postoffice money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss. Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Bros.

Harper's Weekly
IN 1896.

Harper's Weekly is a journal for the whole country. It deals with the events of the world that are important to Americans.

In carrying out this policy, in 1895, Julian Ralf visited China and Japan, and journeyed through the west; Richard Harding Davis took a trip through the Caribean Sea; the evolutions of the new navy were described and illustrated by Rufus F. Zogbaum; Frederic Remington presented studies of army and frontier life; Poultney Bigelow attended the opening of the Kiel canal.

In 1896 like attention will be given to every notable happening. The chief events in art, literature, and music and the drama will be artistically presented. W. D. Howells, in the new departure, Life and Letters, will discuss in his interesting way books and the social questions of the time. E. S. Martin's sprightly gossip of the Busy World will be continued. The progress of the transportation commission around the world will be followed, and Caspar Whitney will conduct the department of Amateur Sport.

In 1896 will occur a presidential election. In its editorials and through its political cartoons the Weekly will continue to be an independent advocate of good government and sound money.

In fiction the Weekly will be especially strong. It will publish the only novel of the year by W. D. Howells, and a stirring serial of a Scotch feud, by S. R. Crocket. The short stories selected are of unusual excellence and interest. In every respect Harper's Weekly will maintain its leading place in the illustrated journalism of the world.

The volumes of the Weekly begin with the first number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the number current at the time of receipt of order.

Remittancer should be made by postoffice money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss. Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Bros.
