APPEALS TO SOUND SENSE.

Address of Major McKinley at Canton Fall of Sound Logic.

"Now what is this thing called 'business confidence'?" It is a belief in the stability of values, faith in our markets and our money, faith that the consumption of next year will be as great or greater than the present one; faith that men will have work and that the currency of the country will be fixed and stable, and undepreciating in value. (Great applause.)

"The merchant has confidence when? There may be some merchants in this audience today. The merchant has confidence when he stocks his shelves with more goods in expectation of large sales.

"The manufacturer has confidence when he increases his machinery, hires more men, adds a new factory, lays in his material in advance, certain that it will not decline before his finished product is sold, confident that he can pay wages to labor and prices for his raw material, and not find that in the end his goods will be driven out of the American market by foreign goods under a free trade policy.

"Tremendous cheering and cries of 'That's the stuff!'"

"The laborer feels this confidence when, assured of steady employment, he buys a lot and starts the building of a house for himself and family. The farmer feels this confidence when he plants generously, confident that what he reaps will be in demand and bring him fair return for his toil. The railroad company feels it when it extends its lines and its switches, gets new equipment and gives employment to workmen. The banker feels it when he loans freely of his capital and deposits and knows that when his loans are returned they will be in good sound money. (Great applause.) And the depositor feels this confidence when he takes his money from his hiding place—where much of it is today—and puts it in a bank, sure that he can draw it out according to his necessity or inclination in as good money as he put in. (Great cheering.)

"This thing called 'business confidence' never shut up an American mill; never reduced wages or curtailed employment; never refused loans; never stopped a mine; never got up a run on a bank; never created idleness among laboring men. (Applause.) When confidence is present with us the sheriff has less to do (great laughter and applause) and the court registers fewer judgments; public charity is less evoked, and the 'free soup house' is unknown and unnecessary. (Tremendous cheering.) When confidence is shaken, misfortunes come not singly, but in battalions, and suffering falls on every community. (Applause.)

"No part of our population is exempt. It may come from one thing or it may come from another. "Doubt in the business world is death to business. (Applause and cries of 'That's right!') We have it now. We know the hour it came. (Great cheering.) We know what brought it, and I think we know how to get rid of it. (Tremendous cheering and cries of 'You bet we do!') We have had it in the United States to a greater or less degree from the moment it was settled in 1892 that our protective laws were to be changed. "It continued until the changes were actually made, and still longer until the people in 1894 elected a republican national house of representatives and made it impossible to cut deeper into the industries of our country. (Great applause.)

War Among the Natives. Judge Archer's court is busy today trying the case of state vs. David Rice, who is charged with assaulting his next door neighbor, John Lane. John says that he rented some land next to the Rice domicile and that he had cut some wood on his land which the Rice family had pilfered and used, and as it is a long lane that has no turning, so this Lane turned and accused the Rices of stealing his wood. This raised the ire of the family, and as they say in the scriptures, "with one accord they set upon him," resulting in severe bruises on the body of Lane from coming in conflict with clubs and rocks and serious loss of peace of mind. This was John's story, but the Rice family talk very differently, claim to be quiet and law abiding and intimate that John must have clubbed himself. The county attorney appears for the state and A. J. Graves for defendants.

Death of Mrs. Lockard. Mrs. Martha Lockard, mother of Mrs. J. H. Gray, died at the residence of her daughter in this city on Sunday morning at 4 o'clock after a very brief illness. She was taken with a stroke of paralysis from which she never rallied. Her remains were taken to her former home at Shelby, Neb., for burial this morning.

The Cigar-makers' Ball. The cigar-makers' ball Saturday evening at Sokol hall was quite a social as well as financial success. The music was good, and a nice time is reported by those present. Miss Cora Frye won the prize, an elegant gold ring, for being the best lady waltzer.

MANLEY NEWS

Mrs. T. F. Keckler is visiting friends in Council Bluffs this week.

Corn husking has been begun and the crop promises a good yield.

Miss Grace Stanley is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Clark, this week.

The rain Saturday and Sunday in this locality has made the roads in very muddy.

Mr. Long has purchased the C. G. Taber property at this place, and is repairing the buildings.

F. M. Andrus, with his mother and sister, removed to Lincoln this week, where he will attend the medical college.

A. Jenkens commenced the work of remodeling his house recently. Mr. Sumner of Louisville and Wm. Bull are doing the work.

The political meeting announced for Saturday evening was postponed until Wednesday evening on account of the bad weather. On Wednesday evening the people had the pleasure of listening to Messrs. Graves, Pollard and Davies, who expounded republicanism in an able manner. Mr. Graves opened the meeting by a brief review of the republican party, and complimenting the candidates for the coming election and closing with remarks upon the financial question. Mr. Pollard then took up the financial question and discussed it from its birth as a system to the present time. Mr. Davies followed, presenting the matter of amendments to the constitution, remarks and demonstrations on the ratio of 16 to 1 and compliments to the house for good order.

Woman's Club Meeting. The beautiful home of Mrs. Perry Walker, was again thrown open to the Woman's club last evening. The department of current literature held its first meeting, with Mrs. Dell Mungler as leader, and, it might be said here, that the ladies could not have made a better choice of leader. This department promises to be very popular.

After the routine business and election of new members, philanthropic work, that the club might do, during the year, was discussed. Miss Margaret Wright opened the program with a biography of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward, of whom it might be said, "To know her is to love her."

"A Singular Life" was reviewed, in a very entertaining manner, by Mrs. Atwood. As a preface to her review she said: "A Singular Life" has impressed me, perhaps, more than any book I have ever read. It is one which men and women will be better for reading. Every line is worth re-reading. The theme is one which might jar inexpressibly unless handled in a skillful manner. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, the authoress of this book, is satisfied with nothing less than the best, in life, in love and religion. She wakes us to a conscious effort, she revives hope and buxicles on the armor of life."

Mrs. Chapman read a very able criticism of "A Lady of Quality."

Mrs. Howland read an interesting paper on "The Modern Novel," after which this subject was discussed by members. The ladies then adjourned, feeling that they had spent a very pleasant and profitable evening.

Board of Trade Meeting. The board of trade meeting held at the county judge's office last evening owing to the many political counter attractions, was not largely attended. Nearly all the members of the city council were present in order to hear a discussion of the proposition to lease the electric light plant. The matter was not discussed, but on a motion a committee composed of M. D. Polk, Wm. Neville and F. G. Fricke was appointed to investigate the light question with the standing committee of the council and report at the next meeting of that body. The committee was also to look after securing cheap rates over the ferry and a good road to the landing, down the river where the old B. & M. track used to reach the transfer landing below the bridge.

President Windham, on motion, was authorized to appoint delegates to the sugar beet convention at Grand Island with a view to awakening an interest in beet culture and factories here in this county. The committee will be announced next week.

"Gen'l" Kelly Speaks. "Gen'l" Kelly, of Coxey army fame, was in town last night and spoke at the McKinley club room. Although advertised only a few hours, the hall would not hold half the crowd that sought to hear the labor orator, whose speech to many, was a revelation on the tariff question, as he brought down the facts of history and logic of events so irresistibly in proof of protection that to hear him was to be convinced. The democrats and a brass band were trying to hold a meeting at White's opera house, but they in no wise detracted from the Kelly meeting. An effort will be made to have Mr. Kelly speak here again next week, and it is hoped with success.

A BUNCH OF GOLDEN-RODS.

From the Lincoln Call. Bill Greene came as near getting to congress as he ever will when he attended Buffalo Bill's congress of rough riders at Omaha the other day.

The Methodist people of York have just completed a handsome new edifice of worship. There is some hope for Sedgwick of the Times yet.

While the free silverites are standing on the street corners howling that there is not enough money in circulation, the farmers are offering a dollar a day and board for corn huskers. It don't take much of a field glass to expose the liars in this case.

There was a split in the Red Cloud band the other day because the majority of its members refused to play the "Conquering Hero Comes" on the night that Mr. Holcomb made a speech there. Seven or eight of the members of the organization resigned and their places were immediately filled by republican musicians. Red Cloud now has one of the best bands in the state since the change.

THE PLATTSMOUTH NEWS thinks that the republicans of Lincoln, while a fairly shrewd crowd, should not have neglected to have the spirits of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson interrogated on the silver question at the recent session of spiritualists in this city. THE NEWS is modestly informed that such an opportunity was not neglected, and that when the spirits of those noted democrats appeared in answer to the question and saw McKinley's portrait on the wall they smiled and winked the other eye.

Was Severely Injured.

August, the little three-year-old son of Chris Petersen, while out playing with his dog yesterday afternoon got too near the heels of a horse, which, although quite gentle, in an attempt to kick the dog landed its heels in the little fellow's face. The cheek bone was broken and a flesh wound which laid bare the bone was the unfortunate result. D. Cook was called and sewed up the gash in the face and dressed the painful injury. The boy was unconscious from the time of the injury up to noon today, when he recovered his senses and now seems in a fair way for recovery.

Views of Tilden on Unsound Finance.

Uncertainty is the prolific parent of mischief in all business. Men do nothing, because they are unable to make any calculations on which they may safely rely. They undertake nothing because they fear a loss in everything they would attempt.

They hope and wait. The merchant dares not buy for the future consumption of his customer. The manufacturer dares not make fabrics which may not refund his outlay. He shuts his factory and discharges his workmen. Capitalists cannot lend on security they consider unsafe, and their funds lie almost without interest. Men of enterprise who have credit or securities to pledge will not borrow. The people need to know that the government is moving in the direction of ultimate safety and prosperity, and that it is doing so through prudent, safe and conservative methods which will be sure to inflict no new sacrifice on the business of the country. Then the inspiration of new life and well-founded confidence will hasten the restoring processes of nature and prosperity will begin to return.—From Tilden's Letter of Acceptance, 1876.

From all accounts Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a Godsend to the afflicted. There is no advertisement about this; we feel just like saying it.—The Democrat, Corrollton, Ky. For sale by all druggists.

Mothers
