Are After Brass.

The Burlington railroad company has been considerably annoyed for several years by people stealing brass and lead from its shops in this city and the amount taken at the different times would amount to a considerable sum. None of the metal had been missed for several months until last Saturday or Sunday night when someone effected an entrance to the brass foundry and metal taken to the amount of about $10. Officers have been on the lookout since then, but so far have been unable to get any trace of the thieves.

"Our Boys" the Coming Event.

The library board of the city have decided upon a very excellent plan by which to raise funds that will enable them to increase the efficiency of the public library. "Our Boys," a comedy drama from the pen of Henry J. Byron, the greatest of English playwrights, is the play selected.

It will be produced by home young people at White's opera house Friday and Saturday evenings, March 19 and 20. "Our Boys" is pronounced by all as one of the best comedies ever written, having had a continuous run of 1,500 nights when first produced at the Garrick theatre, London, in 1875.

The library board is to be congratulated on having secured the leading dramatic stars in this city. Among those who will take prominent parts are Guy Livingston, A. J. Beeson, Lee Atwood and Mrs. Geo. Dovey, the Misses Rose Hyers, Mabel Swearingen and Tilly Vallery.

There will be no excuse for anyone missing this splendid opportunity of helping the library and at the same time enjoying a genuine dramatic treat.

Scene of a Second Riot.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The polling booth at 96 Oak street, where Gustave Colliander was murdered during an attempted ballot box raid two years ago, was again the scene of trouble at the democratic primaries this afternoon. A crowd of politicians, among them a number of members of the famous Market street gang, raided the polling booth and attempted to destroy the ballots. A riot call was sent in and within a short time officers were on the scene. The leaders of the gang took to flight and no arrests were made. The polling booth was kept closed for several minutes, when a new box was taken and the balloting in that precinct begun anew. No further trouble was experienced.

A HIGH PRICED ATTOR EY.

Judge Broady Claims J. E. Hill Owes Him a Large Amount.

The suit wherein Judge J. H. Broady sues Captain J. E. Hill for $10,000 for defending him in the suit brought against him when he was state treasurer and in the impeachment proceedings instituted, is being tried by Judge Hastings of Saline county, says the State Journal. The plaintiff claims that he defended Captain Hill when the supreme court tried the first time to recover $236,000, which had been lost in the Capital National bank. He thought his services in that case were worth $8,500. Then he claimed $1,500 for looking after the defendant's interests in the impeachment proceedings which were begun by the legislature in 1893. He denies that he has received $114 for his work and whereas he thinks $10,000 would be a reasonal fee.

Captain Hill denies that he owes Judge Broady anything whatever. He says no agreement was made when Broady entered into the case other than that a reasonable fee should be paid. He claims that he paid $2,000 and thought that liquidated the debt.

Shoots His Cousin For a Tramp.

HAMBURG, Ia., March 9.—Frank Hammond, son of Postmaster Hammond, was shot in the back last night by his cousin, Smith Jones. Hammond recognized Jones coming nome and tried to play a trick on him The night was dark and he hid by the fence. Jones passed by. Hammond then started on his way. Jones thinking he was a tramp drew his revolver and called to him to halt, but he started to run. Jones fired in order to scare him. He called to him to to halt again, but he did not heed and Jones fired again and struck Hammond in the back. Hammond fell and cried, "Smith, you have shot me!" Then Jones realized what he had done. Hammond was taken home and Dr. Jolly was sent for, but could not find the ball. He did not consider the wound serious, but this morning the injured man showed unfavorable symptons, and it is possible the result may be serious.

Bring Butler to Time.

DALLAS, March 10.—Milton Park, a populist leader of Texas, acting as chairman of a special committee appointed for the purpose at the recent Memphis meeting of the National Reform Press association, has mailed to Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, national chairman of the populist party, a letter demanding a meeting of the populist national executive committee on a date not later than May 1, 1899.

The letter is said to be in effect a declaration of war on Chairman Butler's policy and a determination to fight what is known as the Bryan democratic element of the populist organization.

The "Calico" Ball.

Star lodge No. 4, Daughters of Honor, gave one of the most pleasant dancing parties of the season at Waterman's hall last evening. Owing to the fact of this being the Lenten season the crowd was not as large as was expected, but those who were present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The Bohemian orchestra furnished the music which was first-class, and an elegant supper was served at Stadelman's. The proceeds of the ball only about paid the expenses, but those who had charge were fully compensated for their trouble.

Maxwell Leaves For Washington.

FREMONT, March 9.—Hon. Samuel Maxwell left this morning for Washington to assume his duties as a member of congress. His son, Jocob Maxwell, who was his stenographer during the latter part of his term as judge of the supreme court, accompanied him as secretary. The judge's family will remain at their home in Platte township.

INFORMATION AND OPINIONS.

One of the nicest books for those interested in biblical investigation is the new work recently published, and well named, "Improved helps to Bible study." Mrs. Senter of this city is agent for the work, which from a cursory examination, we are certain must prove invaluable.

In another column will be found a letter from Superintendent O'Brien in regard to the seining of La Platte sloughs. We have heard much severe criticism over the way our fishing grounds were despoiled by the fishery people a few years ago and from reading the report of Superintendent O'Brien for 1896 it was very natural to suppose the same offense had been committed. If any seining of fish ponds in this vicinity is to be engaged in we prefer that our own people do it rather than those from abroad. However, we willingly give Mr. O'Brien an opportunity to state his side of the controversy.

She "loved not wisely, but too well," is the plaint of a young girl at Monroe, Ills., against Rev. Hampton, who attended school at Cotner, and, who was well known here. If the charge be true the parents of the young lady should see to it that no court could get a chance to white wash such a pious fraud.

C. A. Ziegeham of Ellis, Gage county, was thrown from the top of a car by a sudden check of the train. He lit on his back between the rails and iminent death stared him in the face, for the train was coming on him. He seized the brake beam and hung on for dear life until it came to a stop, when he was extricated with bruised back, but he saved his precious life by his grit and presence of mind.

The suit of Sam Chapman vs. Herman Neitzel comes up for trial to a jury in Judge Spurlock's court tomorrow. Mathew Gering, who remembers with caressing tenderness how nicely he was treated by Chapman in the Thompson case, appears for Mr. Chapman as one of his attorneys. We will have a stenographer present to take down the testimony for publication, as it may be of interest to farmers and others who are not familiar with the inside of a law suit.

Another Fast Train.

The B. & M. sent another fast train over the road this week that was almost equal to the Mayham train. It consisted of one baggage car one day coach and five pullman coaches making a heavy train, yet it ran from the Junction to Lincoln in one hour and twenty minutes and took coal and water at Ashland. The Mayham train made the run in one hour and two minutes, but made no stop at Ashland. The train was a special containing postal clerks from the east on their way to Portland, Ore. The crew consisting of conductor Erwin and his regular force went right through to Ravenna without change.

Comfort to California.

Every Thursday afternoon, a tourist sleeping car for Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles leaves Plattsmouth via the Burlington Route.

It is carpeted; upholstered in rattan; has spring seats and backs and is provided with curtains, bedding, towels, soap, etc. An experienced excursion conductor and a uniformed Pullman porter accompany it through to the Pacific Coast.

While neither as expensively finished nor as fine to look at as a palace sleeper, it is just as good to ride in. Second class tickets are honored and the price of a berth, wide enough and big enough for two, is only $5.

For a folder giving full particulars, call at the nearest B. & M. R. R. R. ticket office. Or, write to J. Francis, Gen'l. Pass'r. Agent, Burlington Route, Omaha, Neb.

THE editor of the Crete Democrat, Colonel Bowlby, is mild as a summer's day in his criticism of Senator Farrell for punching him in the face. We hardly expected such magnanimity. Here is what he says editorially in his paper: "Ye editor got into a little scrap with Senator Farrel on the floor of the senate yesterday over an article appearing in these columns a few weeks since, relative to his position on the stock yards bill. No one was seriously hurt, nor much gore spilt. It is but fair to the senator to say that the senate was finally forced to accept as a compromise the report made by the minority of the committee sent out to investigate, of which Farrel was one. It seems that the editor who dares to interfere with the stock yards rule is in danger of getting his head punched. There is one satisfaction, however, these stock yard senators will never again be honored with a seat in the senate. It may be the democrat was too severe on Senators Farrell and Johnson, but it was no more pronounced in its criticism than the populists and democrats in conversation relative to the acts of these."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

Many of the Books an Insult to the Intelligence of Young People.

Edward W. Bok has been making a careful and comprehensive examination of Sunday school libraries, and in The Ladies' Home Journal he confesses himself disgusted with the literature thus placed in the hands of our boys and girls. A less complete investigation, Mr. Bok says, would not have made it possible for him to believe that the libraries of our Sunday schools were stocked with such piles of rubbish—"wishy washy literature," as he terms it. He quotes the titles and gives the themes of a number of books he obtained from Sunday school libraries, and these seem to completely warrant his conclusions. "Such books," he contends, "are an insult to the intelligence of the young people and have a pernicious influence. Instead of being healthy books they are decidedly unhealthy in tone and teaching. Surely we are cultivating a dangerous taste for reading in the young when we feed them on such rubbish."

Mr. Bok unhesitatingly lays a part of the blame upon the publication boards and societies, which are influenced by a denominational spirit that narrows their choice of books. Then, again, it is shown that the most mediocre sort of "talent" is employed to write these books, and that beggarly prices—less than $80 per book—are paid. A share of responsibility, Mr. Bok asserts, rests upon the men who purchase Sunday school libarries, who, as is most frequently the case, are not qualified for the task and whose object is to secure a library as cheap as possible. Mr. Bok warmly urges that the selection of Sunday school books be left to women, who "instinctively know and feel the kind of a book which a boy or girl will read and enjoy." He insists that women should be given carte blanche to make the selections so far as the prescribed amount of money will go. "A hundred good books," Mr. Bok concludes, "are far better than 500 books of indifferent interest," which are bought simply because they are cheap. "A Sunday school library cannot be created in a day, and no discouragement should be felt if the financial means of the church are contracted and necessitate the purchase of only a few books at a time."

Helpless as to Bread.

Captain Bliss was like all seamen, a strict disciplinarian, and his crew respected him beyond measure. Not one of them would have dreamed of interpreting a command otherwise than according to the strict letter of the law. Things must be done shipshape under his rule.

One day, while the ship was in a certain port, the captain gave a dinner to some town acquaintances, and as the resources of the ship were not great some of the sailors were deputed to wait on the table to re-enforce the insufficient number of stewards.

As these men were not used to such work each one was told exactly what service would fall to his share.

The hour came, and the dinner went merrily on. Presently, however, one of the ladies wanted a piece of bread. There was none very near her, and the finely disciplined stewards seemed to be quite oblivious to her need. She turned her head and spoke very softly to the man at her elbow.

"Bread, please," she said.

He looked regretfully at the bread and then at her. It was evident that he would fain have helped her if it had been in his power. He saluted in fine naval style.

"Can't do it, ma'am," said he. "I'm told off for taters."—London Telegraph.

Lord Nelson's Spirit.

Captain Alfred T. Mahan writes an account of "Nelson In the Battle of Copenhagen" for The Century. Captain Mahan quotes the following from the account of the engagement written by Colonel Stewart of the British forces: "Lord Nelson was at this time, as he had been during the whole action, walking the starboard side of the quarter deck, sometimes much animated and at others heroically fine in his observations. A shot through the mainmast knocked a few splinters about us. He observed to me with a smile, 'It is warm work, and this day may be the last to any of us at a moment,' and then, stopping short at the gangway, he used an expression never to be erased from my memory and said with emotion, 'But, mark you, I would not be elsewhere for thousands.'" With this spirit may be compared his rebuke some days after the battle to a lieutenant, who during the action had made a hopeless report about the grounded ships, "At such a moment the delivery of anything like a despondingopinion, unasked, was highly reprehensible and deserved much more censure than Captain Foley gave you."

Brains Bigger Than Man's.

According to Professor Max Weber of Amsterdam, the only animals which surpass man in the absolute weight of their brains are elephants and whales, but there are several that rank ahead of him in the ratio of the brain weight to the total weight of the body. All of these, however, are comparatively small animals. Among them are many monkeys and certain members of the squirrel and mouse families. No animal of greater bodily size than man has a brain which is relatively as large as his. Upon the whole, it seems that man's mental superiority is due rather to the quality and organization than to the size of his brain.
