Treasurer E. Kenbury was at Union today, Deputy Pollock was sick, Mr. Munger was called into court, which, for a part of the day, made Miss Alice Eikenberry the officer in charge. The young lady is as capable as any other member of the force, so that the county was well represented, anyway.

The Missouri river touched its highest point—11 and 4-10 feet—last evening. Quite a current poured over the banks on the east side, covering a vast acreage of the bottoms with water. This morning the river had fallen a little, and it has steadily but slowly receded all day, so that no danger need be looked for here at this time.

A BRACE OF RUNAWAYS.

Ed Fitzgerald, Father Carney and Sheriff Holloway Have a Close Call.

Yesterday afternoon Ed Fitzgerald and Father Carney drove down to Union and as they were returning home about 7:30 o'clock out just this side the fairgrounds they were startled to hear a team coming toward them making noise enough for a freight train. Ed could see nothing but he drove out to the side of the road to escape the furious team that was bearing down upon them in the darkness. He had no sooner got to the side of the road than the team hove in sight dragging a buggy and running squarely toward them. He gave his horses a stroke with the whip to get out of the way, but as the team lunged forward the double-trees broke and away went the team, and at the same instant the runaway struck the buggy with the force of a cyclone. For a moment, men, horses and buggies were piled up in confusion, Father Carney was thrown into a barb wire fence, and his clothes were literally torn off of him and he received a deep gash in his right thigh. Ed Fitzgerald escaped with but a few bruises and the horses of neither team were seriously injured, though receiving some ugly cuts on the barb wire fence.

It turned out that the runaway team was Sheriff Holloway's. A neck yoke casting had broken which let the tongue down and as the buggy was quickly upset, the sheriff thrown out and the vehicle was being dragged when it struck Fitzgerald. Mr. Holloway was not hurt. It was certainly fortunate all round that it was no worse. Both buggies looked like they had been fed to a threshing machine.

Something Extra Nice.

Wm. Neville & Co., has just received from Pabst Brewing Co., Milwaukee Wisconsin, a new brand of beer called, "Doppelbraue" (double strength) always on draught. Call and try it. It speaks for itself.

IT WAS A CLOSE CALL.

A Resident On the Sand-Bar Compelled to Make a Hasty Retreat.

While the floods have been creating such terrific havoc in the south and at other places over the country, we have not been destitute of experience at home. Mr. Walker, who has been a resident for some time past on the sand-bar just above the water works pumping station, had a singular and exciting experience yesterday afternoon. The muddy waters of the Missouri have for several days past been encroaching upon Mr. Walker's domain, and yesterday it had gotten so high that he considered the danger point reached. He immediately came to town to secure help in getting his family and property out of danger.

Drayman Ezra Perry took two teams and endeavored to remove the stock and household goods, but the water has raised so rapidly that it was almost impossible to get out with a lead. The beaten track was covered with several feet of water, and one of the teams ran upon a stump, which had to be cut off under the wagon. In the meantime the water had reached the wagon bed and thoroughly soaked the contents. At another place one of the horses got tangled up in some grape vines and had to be unhitched and drawn out and hitched at the end of the wagon tongue. A wire fence, which crossed the road, was next struck and had to be cut under the water. Mr. Perry lost his hat and whip. The Walker family, when they finally got away from the clutches of the murky waters, seemed satisfied that the "contested land case," as far as they were concerned, had been settled by the "supreme court"—the Missouri river.

Mr. Walker and family moved into a house owned by John Reuland.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT MYNARD.

Frank Raath Has a Close Call for His Life at the Hands of James McComb.

Last evening an affray, that might easily have resulted fatally, occurred at Mynard. It seems that Frank Raath, a farmer living in that vicinity, has had a man in his employ for some time named James McComb. McComb had been discharged and in the course of a settlement some words passed, when McComb drew a revolver and fired two shots at Raath and then escaped in the darkness.

One of the bullets grazed Raath's body a little below the heart, he having his side turned toward his assailant, and the other passed through the muscle of his right arm near the shoulder.

The sheriff was notified and tried to apprehend the criminal, but so far with no success. He has sent out telegrams and notices, and has no doubt of bringing McComb to justice later on.

Positively Awful.

Joe Teahon, traveling passenger agent of the Wabash, the Omaha World-Herald says, has returned from a trip through the state and tells this story:

"As we were approaching Talmage the other day a lady with a poodle dog came into the smoker. A traveling man called her attention to the character of the car and told her she had better go into one of the others. She declared that she was going to remain right there, and she told him that he must not light and smoke the pipe he was filling with tobacco. He opened the window and calmly lighted his pipe, and was pulling away when she again demanded that he desist. He again told her that she could go into one of the rear cars. It went on for a few minutes when she leaned over and snatched the pipe from his mouth and threw it out of the window."

"That traveling man was at a white heat with rage, and he turned around and, grabbing the poodle, chucked it out of the window. Then she went on the war path. She declared she would have him arrested at Talmage, where she said she knew everybody, and he said if she did he would have her arrested for stealing his pipe. The argument was hot and heavy, and when they got off the train they rushed around for the town marshal and finally found him, and were telling him their troubles when the poodle came running up the track with the pipe in its mouth."

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with a gripe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at F. G. Fricke's drug store. 5
