A New Paper. Word comes from a reliable source that a new paper, backed by some wealthy populist farmers residing in the south part of the county, is to be launched in this city within the next two or three weeks. It will be a stock company with ample capital, we are told, and will probably espouse the doctrines of Tom Watson.

M. S. Briggs of this city has been offered the position of editor, which he will probably accept. What the course of the paper would be toward democratic fusion, we were unable to learn, but it is given out that it will hew to the line and warmly espouse the populist candidates.

There is an article by Frank M. Chapman in St. Nicholas on "The Little Drummer of the Woods," giving the woodpecker. Mr. Chapman says: If we had a woodpecker in our hands, we should see in the beginning that its bill is not slightly hooked, with the upper mandible turned down at its end and overlapping the under mandible, as in the crow and other birds that "pick up a living," but that both mandibles are of equal length and cut squarely off at the tip. It is, therefore, like a Perhaps the tip of the bird's tongue
