Dr. Jackson Found.
The readers of the News will remember that last April a woman representing herself as the wife of Dr. Jackson and said she lived near Pacific Junction, was in town looking for her husband. Well, the sequel of the story comes from Omaha and is as follows: Mrs. Jackson relates that last April her husband sold his farm for $1,000. Within a short time afterwards he departed for a short drive on some business with his farm wagon and a few implements. He went toward the Missouri river and the next day the team and clothing, recognized as the doctor's, were found on the river bank. No trace was discovered of their owner, and the woman naturally mourned him as dead. As a consequence of not being able to locate the money which the farm brought, she has had an exceedingly difficult time to support herself and child.

Lately she has heard rumors that her husband had been seen in Omaha and she came yesterday in the hope of finding him. The only clue in her possession was the letter head of a hotel near the depot, the back of which her husband had once used when writing her from Denver. Together with Officer Hoff she visited the hotel and found that her husband had indeed been there. A porter was found who said that he had carried the man's baggage to a very indifferent lodging house near Eleventh and Mason streets. It was one rarely frequented by others than cheap people and is otherwise a cheerless and forbidding place.

The man was there, however, and not in a specially prosperous condition. So little so, in fact, that he was glad to give up all attempts to become a cosmopolitan and was relieved at being able to return once more to his country connections. Mrs. Jackson had become painfully aware by this time, of course, that her husband had done serious things that for a while there had been another woman in the case. In spite of it all, however, her heart was not equal to the task of abandoning him and she forgave him, free and entire. And so the man went down with his family toward the river, the remnant of the thousand in his pocket, and his little boy by the hand.—Nebraska City News.

Mother's Meeting.
Yesterday afternoon at the charming home of Mrs. Westcott, a mother's meeting took place. The comfortably filled parlors and genuine interest of the women present attested to the interest felt in the theme for the afternoon viz: "The Influence of Mothers." Mrs. Winslow, superintendent of the department, presided and was a charming example of the motherhood of which the ladies had met to consider.

Extracts from Willard Hall Echoes, were read and commented upon. A touching solo, entitled "Beckoning Hands," was most feelingly rendered by Mrs. James Herold.

The large number present led one to expect that a rare treat was to be enjoyed, nor was that expectation void when Mrs. Stoutenborough was called to the floor and read a carefully prepared paper on the afternoon's theme. Mrs. Stoutenborough paid a most beautiful tribute to the memory of the mothers who have "gone hence," and impressed most strongly on her hearers the value of the daily influence in the home.

At the conclusion of the paper, a few remarks from some of the members, the ladies were asked to carry, while a social cup of tea with wafers and cake was served by the ladies of the department. The afternoon was a thoroughly enjoyable one, and those of us who want as guests, returned home with the full determination to go in the future as members.

Prosperity in the West.
Arthur B. Smith, assistant general passenger agent of the B. & M., has returned from an extended trip through the northwest. He says that the return of prosperity to Idaho, Utah, Montana and Wyoming, as well as Nebraska, is real and not fanciful. He says the stock men, the sheep men and the growers of grain and fruit all through those states are enjoying better returns from their investments than for a long time. While at Salt Lake, Butte, Boise and Billings, Mr. Smith heard considerable inquiry about the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, and did not overlook any chances to boom the same.—Bee.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros. Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

INFORMATION AND OPINIONS.

The last hope of the popocrats has vanished, with the fact that late corn is out of reach of the frost.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, the personification of true democracy and the exemplification of all that is grand and noble in man.—Plattsmouth Journal.

Such hero worshipping slush as the above is only a fair sample of the stuff which is forced onto the public by the idolatrous press of the silver propaganda. If Bryan should be translated to the other sphere, the world would surely return to the darkness of the middle ages.

A little outcast kitten which found its way into the Boston post office four years ago has become one of the notable cats of the city. She is perfectly familiar with the government building, and makes her daily tours about it, but always by means of the elevators. She seems to know the rank of every official, and conducts herself with corresponding dignity. Other cats she ignores, and she is a terror to dogs, of which she has never shown the slightest fear. It is quite a sight to watch this high-toned puss enter the postmaster's office and seat herself as if she was one of the consulting authorities of the place.

Pekin's Kin Pan is the oldest newspaper in the world, having been published continuously for nearly a thousand years. It began as a monthly, became a weekly in 1361, and since the beginning of the century has been a daily. It now publishes three editions a day, and in order to prevent cheating the first is yellow, the second white, and the last gray.

T. S. Becker, a prominent young attorney of Nebraska City, was in town today on his way to Northern Nebraska and South Dakota, in search of a good location. Mr. Becker is an old time Cass county boy and with his education, pleasant address and good business qualifications, we shall expect him to make a name to be proud of in his new home.

The Des Moines Register, to tantalize the silver crowd, publishes the following inscriptions taken from banners carried in torchlight parade during the campaign a year ago: "Corn 8 cents a Bushel"—"Burn Your Corn"—"Dear Money Means Low Prices"—"A Vote for McKinley is a Vote for 10-cent Corn"—"To Restore Prosperity, Restore Silver." In the light of developments these have a peculiar sound.

How Is This.
A banker sauntering home for his dinner saw a $10 bill lying on the curb stone. Of course he picked it up and took the number in order to find the owner. While at home, his wife remarked that the butcher had sent in a bill for meat amounting to $10. The only money he had with him was the bill he had found, which he gave to her and she paid the butcher. The butcher paid it to the farmer for a calf, and the farmer paid it to the merchant, who in turn paid it to the washerwoman, and she owing the banker a note of $10, went to the banker and paid the note. The banker recognized the bill as the one he had found, and which, up to date had settled $50 of debt. On a more careful examination he found the bill was counterfeit. Now, will some of our financial friends tell us what had been lost in this transaction and by whom, if any.

THAT OLD FUR GARMENT

is worth almost as much today as the day you bought it; but you don't know it. As long as the hair is on the skin it is GOOD. Moth eaten or worn spots can be taken out without even showing a seam. The only question is what can be done with it. Its out of style and worn. Maybe it needs new lining, or should be stylishly trimmed. The old coat would make a beautiful full sweep cape, and capes are just the thing this season. There's that old fur garment you haven't worn for years, because it is all "fagged out." Why, that will make a beautiful collarette; just the thing for fall and spring wear. Then just look at that garment. It is entirely "gone up." The hair stands the wrong way on it and it is worn and matted. "It's no earthly use." Well, it does look bad, but by the process of glazing the fur is brought out and cleaned and then, when remodeled, it is like new. During July and August of this year, we will make a specialty of ALTERATIONS and REPAIRS. Our system of measurement is such we can fit you as well by mail as by personal measurement. We make NEW FUR and PLUSH GARMENTS to YOUR ORDER. ALL WORK GUARANTEED. Write to us. 1018-20 WALNUT STREET, KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up his constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.
