Too much attention is giver to politics now, but the idea Cass county. Sheriff Holloway had of a college professor thinking he can teach politics is extremely ludicrous. If President Harper has more money than he knows what to do with, we suggest that he give it to the poor, unless he chooses to make laughing stock of his institution by turning out a few political graduates.

ST. JACKSON, one of the democratic deities, is to have special honors shown his memory on January 8 at Omaha by the faithful residing in this part of the commonwealth. Jackson's cannonization as a saint was brought about on account of his coining the famous significant watchword, "To the Victors Belong the Spoils," which has endeared him for all time to the democratic heart. Billy Bryan used to be present and lend zest to these feasts, but he has outgrown Omaha and this year his chair will be vacant, while he sheas the light of his countenance on a larger and more distinguished crowd than will gather 'round the banquet boards in Omaha.
