KENSINGTON TEA PARTY.

A MOST PLEASANT GATHERING AT MRS. F. D. LEHNHOFF'S.

The Event Attended By About Fifty of Plattsmouth's Society Ladies—Other News Notes.

From Saturday's Daily.

"The prettiest party of the season," was the unanimous verdict of those who attended Mrs. F. D Lehnhoff's Kensington yesterday afternoon. The rooms were most artistically decorated, pink being the prevailing color; trailing curtains of similax, divided the rooms and vases of American beauty and LaFrance roses enhanced the charming arrangement. The bay window was made a veritable bower by curtains of similax and pink drapery.

Mrs. George Lehnhoff who dispensed chocolate, assisted by little Miss Dovey, was most charmingly gowned in pink. The receiving party, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. August Rhinehackle and Mrs. Dr. Cummins, assisted the hostess, the electric lights showing off their pretty gowns and those of the guests to the best advantage.

The ladies spent most of the afternoon in social chat and needle work, and the elegant luncheon at 5 o'clok was so daintily served that it will make this particular Kensington an event long to be remembered.

The invited guests were:

A Warm School Meeting.

The Stull district had a school meeting today, and the feeling out there being red-hot, the sheriff was requested to be present and prevent bloodshed. He went out, but the proceedings were not marred by any serious disturbances.

Attorney Charles Grimes, with his client, Lawrence Stull, was on deck, and Attorney Dwyer representing the other side. The district claims that Stull owes it money which he withholds, and Stull says he owes nothing. By a vote of 21 to 10 the board was authorized to carry the case through court. Intense interest was shown and standing room in the school house was at a premium.

A Bootless Errand.

Sheriff Wheeler received a telegram from Cedar Creek yesterday from Joe Winkelhaus telling him to come up there at once to his place, two or three miles east of that town.

The sheriff hitched up his team and drove through the mud until he reached the farm house. On enquiry he found his man who was in such dire need of a sheriff had gone to church. He waited until his return, only to learn that the fellow wanted to know something about his son who had gone to Plattsmouth and had not returned home. The sheriff was "hot," as he had a right to be, and he made the fellow fork over $5 for causing him his long drive through the mud for nothing.

Roofing the Armour Building.

Working on the roofs of three of the Armour buildings is now progressing rapidly and one building is already under roof, says the Bee. When the structures now in hand on the north side of the tract are completed the length will be 483 feet with a width of 150 feet. The buildings nearing completion are all seven stories in neight.

Charley Good In Jail.

Charley Good, the Rock Bluffs young man charged with bastardy, was unable to give the $800 bond required by Judge Archer for his appearance at district court, consequently he was sent to jail to await trial. He brought up some bondsmen but they were all so full of whisky that Judge Archer refused to accept them. One fellow said in maudlin tones that he would sign the bond, but that it would only hold good til he got sober, when he was sober he wouldn't sign bonds. As court will convene in March, Mr. Good will not have long to wait in the Hotel McBride.

Take Off the Horns.

The undersigned is now ready with a good portable chute and tools, to remove the weapons of horned cattle at 10 cents per head for a herd of cattle, 25 cents for a single animal. It never gets to cold to dehorn cattle. Any time after fly-time, until the first week in April is the right time. After that it is too late. If those who wish to have such work done will address me at Rock Bluffs, Neb., they will be promptly answered.

S. L. FURLONG.

The Burlington station at Louisville was unceremoniously converted into a bunk house Thursday night by unknown parties, presumably tramps. Entrance was effected by smashing in a window. None of the office effects were disturbed, the tourists being satisfied with free lodging for the night.

M. L. Frederich was in from Eight Mile Grove precinct today. He says fall wheat is looking first-rate, but there is very little sown in that part of the county. H. D. Crabtree, who played quite a role as deputy game and fish commissioner in this city some time since and who made a number of arrests on the Iowa bottoms, but failed to prosecute, has after a grandstand tour of the state of Iowa, lost his commission. This is as it should be, for his talk of "what I did," and his refusal to prosecute men after making an arrest made every one weary here that he came in contact with.—Nebraska City News.

Postoffice Burglarized.

RISING CITY, Neb. Feb. 3.—The postoffice at this place was burglarized last night, the burglars securing $275 worth of stamps and $80 in money. These items were left last night by Postmaster Roberts in the safe, which was blown open by dynamite placed on the safe door just below and to the left of the dial. The door was blown across the room, one piece of the safe going through the north window, opposite to where the safe sat on the farther side of the room. The floor of the office was considerably damaged by the safe door, which gouged practically through it in one or two places in its passage across the room. Otherwise there was but little damage to things in the room. The window behind the safe and within eighteen inches of it, was not broken. The explosion must have occured at twenty minutes to two this morning, as the office clock stopped at that time, probably by reason of the jar of the explosion.

There is nothing known as yet as to who are the guilty parties. Two or three strangers have been seen about the town in the last three days. Two of these were in the guise of tramps. It has not yet been ascertained as to where the tools for drilling were obtained, if obtained here, as all of the blacksmith shops have not been visited. Postmaster Roberts said this morning that there was not a stamp in the office.

Wife and Mother.

Keeping her house well and making the little world over which she rules happy, faithful, beautiful, the womanly woman has neither time nor inclination for the life of out-of-door glaring publicity which many of the sex affect. What ambition she has goes to the fame and well-being of her husband and to the future success of her sons. She feels that it is a far more blessed thing to be the wife and mother of heroes than a "personage" on her own account, and that the glory cast by the man whose name she bears is brighter and more sufficing than any which she is able to surround her own name. She does not wish to make speeches on the platform, to see her name in the newspapers, to be a leader of movements, to talk arrant nonsense on difficult subjects; but she helps her husband in his study in his laboratory, and many a man has owned as much of his fame and success to his wife's quiet and silent aid as he has owed to his own native power.—Christian Work.

At the Christian Church.

Rev. H. A. Lemon, the evangelist, assisted by Prof. C. R. Travis, soloist and song leader, commenced a series of meetings Saturday night, which will continue for several weeks at the Christian church. Rev. Lemon is a very interesting speaker, and those who missed hearing him last evening, on account of the crowd, should come early. New seats have been added and the crowd will be properly cared for tonight. Prof. Travis sung a solo last evening which was rendered in a very artistic manner. The subject tonight is "Heaven," and everybody should hear Rev. Lemon on this very important subject.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Martin vs. Long. Appeal from Cass county. Opinion by Commissioner Irvine.

An infant was adopted by strangers. The articles of adoption provided that if she should remain with them until her majority she should receive $500. The articles further bestowed on her "equal rights and privileges of children born in lawful wedlock." Held, that the first provision was not exclusive as to property rights; but that upon the death of the foster parents intestate, before the child reached her majority, she was entitled to inherit as if their own.

Cleghorn vs. Obernalte. Appeal from Cass county. Reversed and dismissed. Opinion by Comissioner Ragan.

A husband and his family lived on a rented farm. The husband worked at his trade of plasterer, was an habitual drunkard and squandered his earnings, devoting none of them to the support of his family. The wife and children conducted the farm, she doing the labor of farm hand. During this time she purchased on executory contract a piece of land and made the first payment thereon out of the earnings of her labor. She and her husband then moved on the land purchased, the husband continued to conduct himself and the wife to labor and manage the new farm as before, and from her earnings thereon with his consent, she made the deferred payments on the land purchased when the vendor by inadvertence or mistake, deeded the land to the husband. Held (1) that the money earned by the wife was her property; (2) that the land purchased belonging to the wife; (3) that the husband held the legal title to said land in trust for her; (4) that said land was not liable for a debt of the husband contracted before the date of the conveyance to him.

2. Where land is paid for with a wife's money but deeded to the husband he will hold the title in trust for her; and she is not estopped from claiming the land as against her husband's creditors unless her conduct in the premises induced them to believe that the husband was the actual owner of the land and extended credit to him on the strength thereof.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES.

The Art department of the Woman's club entertained a small portion of its members last evening, but those who were there were well repaid for their attendance. Mrs. Snyder's "Art Talks" are always interesting and were supplemented by carefully prepared and well written papers on the works of the old masters, by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Waugh and Mrs. Wise. Photographic copies of the pictures under discussion were furnished by Mrs. Waugh and added interest to the evening's program.

Mrs. Chapman read some art extracts written by Gail Hamilton, which were much enjoyed. Next Friday evening the program will be in charge of Mrs. Travis and Mrs. Chapman, leaders of the Current Literature and Current Topics department. Further notice will be given of the subjects to be discussed.

REPLIES TO L. G. TODD.

To the Editor of THE NEWS:

I hope Brother Todd will not think me impertinent if I ask a few questions about statements made in his letter of January 28. He says "English gold was sold in the United States for greenbacks one dollar in gold for two dollars and a half in greenbacks."

What of it? Gold was sold at a high premium in New York on Black Friday. What was the reason? It was because at that time it looked doubtful whether greenbacks or bonds would be worth anything in three or four years. It was during the darkest period of the war that greenbacks were so cheap compared with gold. Mr. Todd says these greenbacks were exchanged for United States bonds bearing a good interest. What was there wrong in that? It was the men who lent the government money or greenbacks for its bonds that made the war a success.

I will answer the rest of the letter in instaliments—I don't wish to weary the typesetter. D.

LOUISVILLE ITEMS.

From the Courier.

The county commissioners last Thursday employed A. L. Todd of Plattsmouth precinct to superintend the county poor farm the ensuing year at a salary of $650 All county charges after that date must be taken to the poor farm. The fact is undisputed that the tax payers are flimflammed out of thousands of dollars yearly by people who are too lazy to work and depend on the charity of the country for support. The commissioners are to be congratulated on their decision in this matter and should have acted long ago.

The Union Ledger has suspended publication, and the editor has moved to Kansas to live with his wife's folks. It is bad enough when a Nebraska editor will fall back on his wife's parents for support, but when it is known that he went to Kansas—well, that is too much.

Steamship Leaves For Alaska.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb., 4.—The steamship Queen, the finest vessel in the Pacific waters, and which has been heretofore the summer excursion ship to the ice fields of Alaska, sailed from Tacoma tonight for Skagway and Taiya. It carries northward 650 passengers, 1,300 tons of freight, 200 dogs, thirty horses and a score of carcasses of dressed cattle, hogs and sheep, the latter for the markets of the coast cities, Juneau, Skagway and Taiya. The passengers are from every quarter of the globe.

The customs officers searched the ship here and found 150 bottles of whisky, all in small lots, which was confiscated.

A RUSE BOTH WAYS.

How an Actress and Doctor Were Fooling Each Other.

In French theaters the doctor of the theater has a seat given him for every performance. He must be there every evening. Naturally, after he has seen the same piece a score of times he longs to be elsewhere and prefers to give his seat to some of his friends. M. Ernest Blum says that when he was a young man a friend, the doctor of the Theatre Porte St. Martin, gave him his seat. Just as he was becoming interested in the first act the stage manager rushed up—the heroine had a nervous attack and required medical aid! Blum had nothing else to do but to follow him. In the lady's dressing room he found the manager with anguish depicted on every feature and the lady wringing her hands and shrieking.

"Now, doctor, quick! What's to be done?"

Blum grew as red as a lobster, and as he could not say anything he just ejaculated: "Hm! Let us see! Let us see."

He took the lady's hand in a wild attempt to feel her pulse. She shrieked more than ever and writhed like a snake.

"Have you poured any water on her head?" he asked.

"Yes."

"And no effect?"

"None."

"Then don't pour any more."

After this display of medical knowledge he continued:

"Give her a sniff of eau de cologne."

"Haven't any," was the answer.

"Then go fetch some."

Off rushed the manager and the stage manager, and Blum was left with his patient.

Suddenly she opened her eyes and smiled.

"Doctor," she said, "you are a good fellow, aren't you?"

"Yes, ma'mselle."

"You must be, doctor. Now listen. There is nothing the matter with me. You would have found that out soon. I want a couple of days off. Can't you manage it?"

"Delighted!" he replied joyfully. "Now, ma'mselle, you're a good fellow too. I am not a doctor. I came in on the doctor's ticket, so you must not give him away."

By this time the manager and stage manager came back, each with a bottle of eau de cologne. He told them that it was unnecessary now. The lady was quite composed and could appear without any danger. But she must have a few days' rest. They made wry faces, but granted the holiday.—Philadelphia Times.

Parliamentary Humor.

The London World gives this as an illustration of the keen humor of Justice Darling: On one occasion, when Mr. Gladstone was beginning to give up the lead in the house of commons to Sir William Harcourt, it was noticed by the members that he left the house at the dinner hour and Sir William Harcourt led for the rest of the sitting. Mr. Darling one evening drove Sir William to fury, on failing to elicit a definite answer to an inquiry, by casually observing in the course of his speech, "I have noticed that lately the party opposite, adopting an ancient precedent, has set up a greater light to rule the day and a lesser light to rule the night."

"My wife couldn't go to the concert last night because the baby threatened to have croup."

"That was too bad."

"Yes, and now she is hopping mad because the baby didn't have croup after all."—Chicago News.

English farmers, who know it is against the law to use ferrets to drive out rabbits, place in the burrow a rubber hose with a tin horn on the end inserted. Then they blow the horn, and bunny comes out in quick order.

"The World Against Her."

The play is regarded as one of the strongest now before the English-speaking public. It is full of action—all the incidents stir the blood; the language is vigorous, the character sketches vivid, and each climax is ingeniously contrived and thoroughly effective. The plot is decidedly absorbing and, as worked out in incidents, situations and dialogue, appeals strongly to the sympathies of men, women and children alike, exciting the purest emotions of human nature. The melodrama abounds in scenes that are highly exciting, and in one the villain engages in a pitched battle with bare knuckles, fighting for the possession of the child of the woman who has "the world against her." Incidentally a number of bright and up-to-date specialties are introduced. It was in the part of "Madge Carlton," now played by Agnes Wallace Villa, that Kate Claxton scored one of her greatest successes
