A CARD. Appreciating the sentiment of that class of citizenship in Plattsmouth that stands for economical government...

THE slot machines must go. Their doom has been sealed. THE war flurry is not over. Save your money and buy a gun.

DR. COOK, cooked a dish for his opponent that was a stunner. When he gets a nomination the other fellow had as well take to the woods.

WE lost Oswald, but he is all right for a better job next time. He makes more out of his place in the shops than he could as police judge anyway.

J. F. HINSHAW won a big victory in the second ward by defeating one of the cleanest, squarest democrats that could have been pitted against him.

EVEN the Pine Ridge Indians are patriotic and offer to enlist against Spain and fight for the Stars and Stripes. Our Col. Kroeber at the head of a company of Sioux would be invincible. Let the war go on.

THE great state of New York which could whip Spain single handed has appropriated one million dollars as a war fund. Ohio has favored a similar appropriation and if the treacherous Spaniards think Uncle Sam's family is not united let them proceed.

THE municipal elections throughout the state show surprising republican gains everywhere. Good citizens must recognize in these victories the fate that will befall the worst state administration we have had in twenty years.

SOME cringing today, who wisely conceal his identity, writes to a mugg-wump newspaper in Boston that "what this country needs is a good thrashing." If the author of that sentiment had signed his name to his communication it would probably be arranged that the thrashing process should begin on him.

"SLIPPERY SAM," as usual, played horse with his professed friends. His attempt to throw dirt at Judge Newell will only react on himself. His anxiety to disturb the harmony and good feeling which exists among the men employed at the shops on account of his dislike for some of the prominent employes of the company, is seen to have done him no good.

FOREIGN capital continues to flow into the United States in the interests of American workmen under the operations of the Dingley protective tariff. Silk factories are being established through New England and Pennsylvania, many of them taking the places of the cotton mills removed farther south.

Light Brahmas. And fancy Game Bantams for sale; also eggs for setting. Enquire of William Gilmour, or leave orders at Egenberger & Troop's, where some of the chickens may be seen.

TO CURE A GOLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Broom Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

Seed Potatoes. For sale fine early rose, early Ohio and other choice seed potatoes at A. H. WECKBACH & Co's.

Hay For Sale. Either in the bale or loose, as may be desired. C. L. STULL, Oreadpolis, Neb.

Bring the gatling gun, well loaded. And my uniform of blue; Spain at last has got me gounded. Till I want a shot or two.

Awful thoughts my mind are filling. I have lost all taste for grub. In this newer one for killing— Holy Moses, where's a club!

It is probably only a fake, that rumor that a band of Spanish guerillas from Mexico are planning to overrun and capture Texas as soon as war breaks loose. The Texas cowboys would have 'em all lassoed and branded as Mavericks inside of two weeks. Don't weep for Texas.—Ex.

The war of western roads over rates on packinghouse products and dressed beef is spreading, already covering not only business between Kansas City and Chicago, but also that from Sioux City and St. Paul. The Milwaukee and St. Paul announced that it would meet the Santa Fe's cut of ten and one-half cents from Kansas City, and would apply the same rates from Sioux City. The Alton announced a rate of fifteen cents on dressed beef from Kansas City to Chicago, and gave notice that it will apply the same rate to live cattle and hogs.

Some funny things, says an exchange, are happening these warlike times. Down in Penney county Kansas, (of course it was in Kansas) Earl Cannon was a few days ago married to Ethel Ball. A justice of the peace pulled the trigger.

Burglars broke into the city steam laundry at Omaha and carried off a quantity of underwear. The police were considerably encouraged to hear that the laundrymen thought they could recognize the garments if they saw the burglars wearing them around.

The reader must be hard to please who does not find in the April Forum something to suit his taste. Matters commercial, political, musical, and literary, all are duly represented; and the list of writers includes none that is not an expert in his own particular sphere. The table of contents is as follows: "The Dangerous Demands of the Interstate Commerce Commission," Milton H. Smith; "England and France in West Africa," Thomas Gibson Bowles, M. M.; "The Political Situation in Europe," Maj.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles; "Central America: Its Resources and Commerce," William Elmer Curtis; "The Economics of Genius," John Mackinnon Robertson; "The Handel Revival in Germany," Prof. Bruno Schrader; "The English Governing Oligarchy," Sidney Low; "Professor Munsterberg's Attack on Experimental Psychology," Prof. C. Or Our Savior in Art. This magnificent publication has been placed in charge of Frank H. Wilson of this city who will represent the Society of Sacred Arts in the state of Nebraska. The book is one of the finest art publications issued. The engravings as the title indicates, illustrate the life of the Savior and have been copied from paintings by the best masters. The copies secured at a cost of over one hundred thousand dollars reproducing at moderate cost the treasures of the art galleries of Europe.

B. F. Goodman has his new laundry fully equipped with latest devices, now in running order, and asks a share of your patronage. His work is his best advertisement, and if you try the new laundry there will be no longer any excuse for sending goods away. Nothing too good for our patrons is our motto. Work called for and delivered.

From the Baby in High Chair. To grandman in the rocker Grain-O is good for the whole family. It is the long-desired substitute for coffee. Never upsets the nerves or injures the digestion. Made from pure grains it is a food in itself. Has the taste and appearance of the best coffee at one-fourth the price. It is a genuine and scientific article and is come to stay. It makes for health and strength. Ask your grocer for Grain-O.

Alaska is a country of more square miles than square meals, and the legendary governor of North Carolina would have found little else but muddy Yukon water, assaying 50 per cent solids to the liquid ton, in which to quench his celebrated thirst. "Do as you please" is the motto. In civilization coats are worn for various reasons, "on the Yukon" because it blows up cold or rains. Nappkins, tablecloths, sheets and pillows do not "go" on the Yukon, or have not heretofore. Even the Klondike millionaire packs his blankets and takes what he can get.

"What is a song recital, Uncle Christopher?" "A song recital? Well, somebody sings all afternoon, and an audience of women talk through the whole performance."—Detroit Free Press.

The "Prisoner of Chillon" did not suffer in the cause of liberty. He was a troublesome rogue sent to prison for mischief making and spent his term there in making indecent verses.

The vineyards of Italy cover nearly 3,000,000 acres. The Daily State Journal and the Evening News make a combination that can't be equaled. All the local home news and the news from every corner of the globe at your door every day for only 20 cents per week.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve lunch at the "Exchange" election day. Sandwiches, baked beans, doughnuts, pie, coffee, tea and milk. Price 5 cents each.

WHEN YOUR EYES SMILE TOO.

When your eyes smile too—when your eyes smile too, It's then I know your hidden heart is laughing out with you. It's often I have seen your lips go searching up a smile. And, oh, I somehow knew your heart was greeting all the while. And the sky was dark and gloomy and the birds sang were so few. And the sun forgot his shining—till your eyes smiled too!

When your eyes smile too—when your eyes smile too, Oh, the listen of the willows and the glisten of the dew! Oh, the brightness of the meadow and the lightness of the grain. And the music of the little winds that laugh along the lane! Oh, the whisper of the valley and the deepness of the blue. And the glory just of living when your eyes smile too! —New York Press.

FIRING ON THE MOB.

The Scene After the Death Dealing Volley Had Done Its Work. The yelling mass below neared the walls. A whistle pierced the tumult. From the windows jetted swift lines of flame, and a shattering volley tore the air.

A crash, and then stillness on the mob, an intense hush, a swift paralysis; a line gray smoke cloud flung up the walls and out over the jailyard. Men gasped, then held their breath. From their nests in the eaves started sparrows flew above the crowd with frightened twitterings.

In the jail corridor sounded the clink, clink of empty shells falling to the floor as nervous fingers fumbled at boxes or shoved fresh cartridges home with a snap, snapping of breechlocks, while staring eyes were fixed upon the scene outside.

From below came a new sound, the noise of agony. On the outskirts of the crowd men were running. The mob surged back from the jail walls. In the space left clear lay prostrate forms outstretched or huddled in attitudes of grotesque horror on the stone paved way. One figure half arose, wavered backward and then fell toward the retreating mob with a gasping cry. Men running back from the crowd with apprehensive glances at the windows carried off the limp forms. In the crowd men bore up other men who reeled and staggered to and fro.

The corridor was very still. The guard stood in silence. Here and there one drew a long breath, with a slow heaving of the chest and a lifting of the shoulders. Turning their eyes with an effort from the mob, they glanced at each other as though seeking confirmation for their thoughts, to be assured that all this thing had happened, that the dark forms on the pavement below had been a grim reality. A slight, pale faced private threw his rifle to the floor and turned his face from the window, with a burst of shuddering sobs. Others swore apparently at nothing and busied themselves with their weapons. No one paid any heed to the private who wept except that his next rank man stooped and picked up his rifle. The small of a burned powder hung in the air.—H. H. Bennett in Lippincott's.

Doghouses and Dog Kennels. Doghouse is the name applied to a house made for a dog to live in out of doors; dog kennel to a house or box built for a dog's quarters indoors. The doghouse is likely to be for a big dog; the kennel, in private houses, for a little dog. There are a few doghouses used in the city, and in proportion to the number of pet dogs not a great many kennels, but still the number of kennels in the aggregate is considerable.

Doghouses are made with a sloping roof to shed rain. No such necessity exists in the case of the kennel, and kennels are always made with a flat top. Things may be placed on top of them. The kennel is practically an oblong box made of yellow or white pine or of whitewood, and customarily painted white and without ornamentation. The kennel has a grated opening in the top for purposes of ventilation, with a cover to put over to prevent draft. Formerly the doors of such kennels were made of wire cloth; now they are all made with bars of a very small sized gas piping.

The kennel of this kind is so made that it is raised at the corners enough to make the bottom clear the floor, and it is often mounted on casters, so that it can be conveniently moved about from room to room. Such kennels are made by carpenters, and they cost $5 to $10 each, according to the size.—New York Sun.

What "Goes" on the Yukon. In "The Century" there is an article on "The River Trip to the Klondike," written by John Sidney Webb. Mr. Webb says: Alaska is a country of more square miles than square meals, and the legendary governor of North Carolina would have found little else but muddy Yukon water, assaying 50 per cent solids to the liquid ton, in which to quench his celebrated thirst. "Do as you please" is the motto. In civilization coats are worn for various reasons, "on the Yukon" because it blows up cold or rains. Nappkins, tablecloths, sheets and pillows do not "go" on the Yukon, or have not heretofore. Even the Klondike millionaire packs his blankets and takes what he can get.
