

THEY FIXED OUR CLOCK.

A Spanish Masked Battery Slays American Marines.

A TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYED.

Spain Scores Her First Victory—But She Loses More in the Pacific—Sampson is Bombarding San Juan.

KEY WEST, Fla., May 12.—A masked battery at Cardenas fired on the torpedo boat Winslow yesterday and killed Ensign Bailey and four seamen. The torpedo boat was fatally wounded, and is now here. The dead were brought in on the gunboat Hudson, which also towed the ruins of the Winslow.

The Winslow, Wilmington and Hudson were cruising off Cardenas, and about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the little torpedo boat moved in close to shore. She could see the main battery for a mile and a half ahead, but had not thought of a masked battery. They reached a point nearly 500 yards from shore, when suddenly the shrill whistles of a heavy cannon boomed out. The Spaniards were too close to miss. Heavy shot and shell hit about the torpedo boat, solid shot tore through her hull and the forward boiler blew up, but her men did not flinch. Another shot tore away her rudder, and she drifted helplessly.

The Hudson steamed into the harbor and took the Winslow in tow. The hawsers were creely fastened with a shell burst directly over the damaged boat.

Ensign Bagley was instantly killed and four of his men who were working the rapid fire rifles fell with him.

The Wilmington had reached easy range about this time and opened with her heavy guns. The Spanish held down on her and she was hit by a dozen shots. She was hurt but not crippled and bore the brunt of battle until the Winslow was safe out of the harbor. She lost no men.

The Spanish batteries were silenced eventually and a number of men were killed and wounded.

BOMBARDS SAN JUAN.

St. Thomas, May 12.—Sampson's squadron began the bombardment of San Juan, Porto Rico, at 9 this morning. All the ships engaged.

Hong Kong, May 12.—The Concord had an engagement with a Spanish gunboat at Lillolo this morning and after two hours desperate fighting sunk her.

No Americans were killed or damaged. The Boston is after another gunboat. These are the last Spanish war craft on the Asiatic coast.

New York, May 12.—A Hong Kong special of this date says that a trading vessel from the Philippines reports having witnessed the destruction of a Spanish warship by the United States gunboat Concord at Lillolo. The fight is said to have lasted two hours at the end of which time the Spaniard went down with colors flying. There were no casualties on board the Concord and no damage was done to the gunboat.

There are, it is alleged only two other Spanish vessels in Asiatic waters and one of these is in dry dock at Hong Kong, while the cruiser Boston is searching for the other, under orders to engage and sink it.

Patriotic Girls.

Yesterday the NEWS contained an account to the effect that Mrs. C. E. Westcott's class of girls in the M. E. Sabbath school, organized a year ago a society called the "Willing Workers," to aid in raising the church debt. They succeeded in raising their apportionment and considerable more. Monday they elected officers and voted to respond to the first call for aid for our wounded soldier boys.

Miss Mabel Eaton was elected president, Miss Nellie Whalen secretary, Miss Sadie Black treasurer. It is a noble band of patriotic young ladies, and we heartily endorse the good work they have done, yet we trust their resolution will come to naught—that they will never be called upon to minister to the suffering of any of the brave American soldier boys.

M. L. Youm, Cameron, Pa., says "I was a sufferer for ten years, trying all kinds of pills, remedies, but without success. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me. I used one box. Did Not Want Him.

From Wednesday's Daily

Yesterday the NEWS published an article about a man being arrested here for a crime committed in or near Council Bluffs. The man refused to give his name yesterday but we learn today that his name is Armstrong. Sheriff Morgan of Council Bluffs came here yesterday for the fellow after learning from Chief Fitzpatrick that the man was here. When Morgan arrived here yesterday the chief of police informed him that Armstrong was working at Collector Johnson's house on the hill near the high school building. The chief and Sheriff Morgan planned to capture the fellow by the chief entering the front door of the house where he was at work and the sheriff coming in at the back door. Their plans worked all right and Armstrong was easily entrapped. When informed that he was to consider himself under arrest, he demanded sight of a warrant which Sheriff Morgan presented him. Armstrong consented to go with the Iowa officer but when they got to the train for Omaha and were about to board it the fellow refused to go without a requisition. Morgan turned his man over to the chief of police and took the train for Lincoln to obtain a requisition. Today the sheriff wired the chief of police to liberate Armstrong which was promptly done. The offense he was charged with was assault and battery, which is not a requisitionable offense, hence the Iowa officer could not get a requisition. The Iowa sheriff seems to be very much of a chump.

Two Dollars on the Side.

From Wednesday's Daily

Judge Spurlock's face opened like a cellar door today when a nice looking gentleman and lady from Omaha presented themselves in his court and asked him to say the words which would make their two hearts beat as one. By virtue of an act entitled an act to allow a county judge to commit such an act he proceeded to proceed with the ceremony which tied up Mr. Irving Crane and Miss Nellie Hartwig, both of Omaha, into a knot which we trust they will never wish to untie, at least not before old Gabriel gives the nod to his horn. The judge raked in $2 as his fee in the transaction and immediately invested it with a very winsome young lady book agent for a history of Cuba and its troubles. His honor has a very acute eye for things winsome. The young couple returned to Omaha after the nuptial performance, happy as two bugs in one rug.

It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. England's grand old man is nearing the end and can live but a few days at most. He no longer takes any interest in mundane affairs and only desires rest and quiet. He suffers no pain and seems to gradually lessen his hold on life.

A man stands on chance of being elected to the mayorship of a city unless he enjoys the confidence and esteem of his neighbors. Geo. W. Humphrey is the popular mayor of Swanton, Ohio, and under date of Jan. 17, 1896, he writes as follows: "This is to certify to our appreciation of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My family and neighbors have tested it, and we know it is an excellent remedy for coughs and colds.—GEORGE W. HUMPHREY." Sold by all druggists.

A Touching Tragedy.

In 1880 while looking over the lime stone hills twenty-five miles south of Deadwood and eight miles northwest of Rochford, some Minneapolis parties came across the skeleton of a white man and that of a black bear close together, showing that after a struggle the monarch of the mountains in inflicting death upon the man had also suffered a death wound and together both passed from life. The condition of the skeletons showed that the encounter must have taken place at least thirty or forty years ago, and the fact that the Indians had not allowed the whites to enter the Hills until about twenty-two years ago added much interest to the find. The skeletons were carefully articulated with wire and were taken away to grace the rooms of a city museum.

Last fall, while prospecting in this vicinity, A. B. Todd of this city and Fred Buck, a brother of John Buck, the German farmer residing near town, came across an old English fowling piece, a smooth bore flint lock rifle, made by Chaney & Son, London. It was found about one hundred feet from where the skeleton of the man and bear were found, and the stock had rotted away and fallen from the barrel. The ram rod, which laid near by, fell to dust when they attempted to pick it up. Mr. Todd soaked the iron part of the gun in kerosene several weeks and got the rust off so that it made a presentable appearance. The stock was wired on and when he brought the queer looking shooting iron down with him from the Hills yesterday it attracted much attention.

A load was found about six inches from the breach where the bullet had stuck which is doubtless the secret reason for the tragic death of the unfortunate hunter. He could not load his rifle, the bear closed in on him and death ensued, the rest of the story can only be gleaned from the surroundings. The strange gun which looks like it might be a hundred years old was turned over to Ben Hompel today to add to the G. A. R. museum at the court house, but the name and history of its unfortunate owner who died in a struggle with the fiercest animal which inhabits the mountain fastnesses of the west must ever remain a sad mystery.

Mobile, Ala., May 10.—Gustavo da Cardenas, a prominent Cuban of this city received the following letter from Havana yesterday dated April 26:

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often abated long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and $1 bottles at F. G. Fricke & Co. drug store.
