The insane commission did not think Micka a fit subject for the state hospital, and he was set at liberty. He is certainly in a bad frame of mind, and his relatives should see to it that he is not allowed the use of fire arms, as he is liable at any time to kill someone. He has been growing worse for some time, and if not clearly insane now he certainly will be ere long.

Jim Sievers was unloading a load of straw last evening in the alley back of Fred Brown's, when his team became frightened and ran away. They scattered straw and parts of the wagon over that part of town, and at last accounts were headed for Louisville, where they had formerly been kept, and unless some one stops them on the road, they will probably go back to that place. No one was hurt but the wagon was badly scattered.

LIGHTNING ROD SHARKS.

They Succeed in Robbing a Cass County Farmer of $300.

Henry Schleuter, who resides with his family out near Murdock on a nice farm which he owns, was a recent victim of the lightning rod sharks, who ought to be sent to the penitentiary on general principle.

The facts about the matter, as near as we could glean them, are as follows: A well dressed man drove up to Schleuter's place, ostensibly to buy some mules for the government, but the farmer had no mules and the conversation drifted onto the subject of lightning rods to protect the substantial buildings which Mr. S. had erected. The stranger said if Mr. S. would give him a contract he would have his house rodded and take it out in board, and estimated the cost at $11.55. The farmer bit like a gudgeon and signed the contract. The next day two or three men drove up and rodded the house, barn and everything else on the place except the live stock, and then called on Mr. Farmer to settle. According to the terms of the contracts they figured out his bill at $455. The farmer nearly fell dead, the boys and the mother cried for mercy. The scoundrels were inexorable and said if it was not paid they would take the farm. Finally, after much talk, they agreed to take three notes of $125, $100 and $75 to be paid in one, two and three years, to settle the matter and the frightened farmer bit again and signed the notes, after he had examined them more carefully than he had examined the contract. The next day another stranger came and enquired of the farmer if he had signed the notes above described and he mustered up courage enough to say he had, fearing that some more developements were to be made and felt relieved when the stranger said he had bought the notes, and only wanted to know if the signature was genuine. Now Mr. Schleuter has $25 worth of rods and $275 worth of experience to his credit for having done business with a stranger. Had he been a reader of the NEWS-HERALD he would have known the trick was an old one, and the repeated warnings we have printed about signing anything for strangers might have saved him the loss of the $300 which he will now have to pay at ten per cent interest. Cass county farmers who read live papers never get caught by these scoundrelly sharpers.

Hay Burned by a Tramp

Last Tuesday Chas Banning who lives near Nehawka, suffered the loss of 30 tons of hay which burned in the stack valued at $150. It is supposed that the fire was caused by a tramp sleeping in the hay and smoking, who threw away a lighted match catching in the hay.

It seems that no one is secure from the depredation of these public paupers. The tramp nuisance should be abated. There is no excuse for anyone being out of work these times. If the vagrancy laws were thoroughly exerted much work and money could be saved the community.

Harry Stevens Wanted.

Stevers, the man who worked for the B. & M. here until recently, is wanted at Pacific Junction where he forged two checks, one for $35 and one for $40. When the officers came here for him he had flown, and it is thought he is in hiding at Lincoln. The young man always conducted himself in an orderly way here, and had the confidence of his employer.

As an external liniment of most wonderful penetrative and curative power Ballard's Snow Liniament is not equalled by any other in the world. Price 25 and 50 cents. F. G. Fricke.

Schmidt, of New York City. The happy couple will leave the next day for the east where they will make their future home. The wedding will be the event of the season.—Nebraska City News.

E. J. Burkett.

E. J. Burkett, republican candidate for congress in the First district, was born in Mills county, Iowa, in 1867, and is the oldest of nine children. His parents, were German, as the name indicates. Young Burkett attended the common schools, finishing the course at the age of seventeen. His parents desired to give him a college education, and the family income being too small at that time to meet the increased expense, he worked his way through Tabor college, acting as assistant janitor and doing other odd jobs to pay his way. He graduated with honors in 1890, having also won two first prizes in oratorical contests. He came to Nebraska in 1891 as principal of the Leigh High school, and in 1892 entered the law course of the state university. In 1895 he received the degree of L. L. B., and in 1894 the degree of L. L. M. In 1896 he was selected by Tabor college to deliver the alumnal address, and was also elected to the board of trustees of the college. Acting in that capacity he drafted the new constitution for the school. In the meantime he had gained a large law practice in Lincoln, and in the summer of 1896 was nominated to the legislature. He made a brilliant canvass and led the ticket at the election. In the legislature he was the most forceful and eloquent speaker on the floor, quick and combative in debate, yet retaining the respect of his opponents. He did particularly good service in the advancement of educational bills. He was a strong presiding officer, and occupied the chair during the two days' stormy debate on the Trans-Mississippi educational bill. The ability and personal character of Mr. Burkett commend him to the suffrages of the voters of the First district

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief" says," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trials bottles free at F. G. Fricke's drug store. 4

Rev. Stein, the Lincoln minister, was too clean and honest to become a member of the city council of that town. He was appointed to a vacancy by the mayor but enough members voted against his confirmation to prevent his taking a seat with that odoriferous crowd. Dr. Stein has our congratulations for his escape from uncongenial associates and unpleasant duties.
