The Plattsmouth Weekly Tribune will make its initial appearance next week. It will be independent in politics and starts out with plenty of capital behind it to make it a stayer. The office is in one of the rear rooms of the Sherwood block, opposite the Bank of Cass county.

G. FRED WILLIAMS was one of the Hitchcock brand of patriots who kept carefully to the rear and yelled for war, and then as soon as it is over he has nothing but scoundrelous criticisms for those who were loyal to the flag and tried to uphold it. Such citizens are worth nothing to the country, and their political opinions should be looked upon as trash.

NEVER in the history of Cass county has a populist held a county office and as long as they tie up with democracy they can count on it that democracy will take the lion's share of the spoils. Old democracy has played her cards well but the game is becoming old and some of the more intelligent people are opening their eyes and will refuse to be made cat's paws to rake democratic chestnuts from the fire.—Louisville Courier.

JOHN BULL seems to be getting his fighting clothes on. A recent order to begin to work on the ships of the reserve squadron that would detain them over forty-eight hours, looks as though he wanted to run a big bluff on his French neighbor, or else he wanted to be ready to fight on short notice. The order is a portentous one in any event, and will be read all over Europe today with unforgotten interest.

IN these days of sudden friendship and overbounding love for the old soldier it might be well for them to reflect that candidates on the republican ticket never have to make special personal professions of a "liberal pension policy." The traditions of the republican party make such unnecessary. Friendliness and liberality toward the men who saved the union is instinct in a republican, others of course may acquire it, and sometimes do so, but it is so unusual and so unexpected that they have to speak about it, lest it be overlooked.

THE speeches made by President McKinley at Omaha, St. Louis, Springfield, Chicago, and intermediate points, are a new revelation of the greatness of this simple-minded, unpretentious, conscientious man who occupies the post of chief executive. In all that he has said there has been no bombast and no rant. He has spoken plainly, feelingly and unreservedly of the problems that confront the administration and the country. He has not glorified himself nor the republican party. He has pointed to certain results and indicated the line of policy that would be pursued in the future.—Kearney Hub.

It may be said, in parenthesis, that we are now making in this country nearly all the tin plate we are using. In 1890, the year we put the justly celebrated McKinley law on the books, we bought 318,000 tons from Wales, whereas last year we bought $5,517 tons and the amount has been growing rapidly and beautifully less every minute since. And it will be remembered that Mr. Bryan and the rest stood up and everlastingly howled at the tax on tin, just as he and the rest six years later howled at the "iniquitous gold standard" and tin plate is cheaper now than then. Stand up for American tin and the gold standard.—Ex.

HON. J. P. DOLLIVER: It rests with the American people now to say whether the business world is to be allowed to go on in security or whether we are to give a new commission to the defeated leaders of 1890 to organize another rail upon the credit and integrity of the community. I do not believe it ought to be done. It is hard enough to make a living even in good times, it is so easy to scare and drive into selling capital seeking investment, and it appears to me little short of a crime, now that the trouble is so near, to so nearly over, to cast the shadow of new doubts and uncertainties upon the pathway of business and commerce.

THE people of the First congressional district of Nebraska cannot afford to send to congress a man whose political associations will in any way hinder his best and heartiest support to Major McKinley in the closing up of the Spanish war. A free silver congress could not enact a free silver law, nor a free trade congress displace the Dingley law, for McKinley with his veto could defeat any such legislation, but either could, and undoubtedly would, absolutely defeat Mr. McKinley's plans for settling the Spanish entanglement by attaching to administration measures free silver and free trade riders. The next two years in congress will be taken up in adjusting this war, and if the people have confidence in McKinley's honesty and ability to conclude these war matters as successfully as he has prosecuted them, then they should surround him with men who at all times, and upon all occasions will be unembarrassed by political prejudices. Vote for E. J. Burkett and support the administration.

JUDGE CRITES of Chadron expresses himself on the fusion situation in the following terse letter which is worth perusal: "Affairs in the state, in the congressional districts, in the legislative districts and elsewhere, have been so conducted as to leave demerits nothing worth striving for. Indifference and apathy, not to say disgust, prevails among them all over the state, and the best reasons exist therefore. The democratic party can not continue to be a mere loiterer at the tables of the populist Dives, accepting crumbs and kicks with equal equanimity. I am not opposed to fusion, but I am opposed to absorption. Fairness and justice are quite as applicable to politics as well as to other affairs and had these principles prevailed during the last four years you would now behold a much different sentiment among democrats all over the state. To quiet them and hold them in line, it is now said that all opposed to republicanism will, in another year, classify themselves and act as democrats, but such an expectation seems to me to be as baseless as Judge Crites' plea, the race for county attorney insures the election of W. H. Fanning, the republican nominee, as it is believed that the entire democratic support will be thrown to him.

Because Senator Thurston captured and controlled Senator Allen's vote in the senate on numerous occasions, it has been claimed that Thurston is now supporting Allen for re-election, which is without the slightest foundation in truth. Thurston's loyalty should not be questioned.

E. J. Burkett, the republican nominee for congress in the First district, as a man whom every voter can take pride in supporting. He came to Lincoln a young man without an acquaintance. He devoted himself studiously to the legal profession. He was an indefatigable worker and attended to the business entrusted to him with such care and energy that he grew into a fine practice in a comparatively short time. He is a man of excellent character, and good judgment. He will support President McKinley in carrying out republican principles and a republican policy.—State Journal.

On the surface of things France may need a war to preserve the government by diverting attention from domestic scandals, and yet it is scarcely possible that a test of strength with England would do more for the government than the Franco-Prussian war did for the dynasty of Louis Napoleon. France needs, more than anything else, a big importation of Anglo-Saxon sense and patience. Until the people learn to look upon public affairs more calmly and philosophically the material welfare of the nation is bound to be seriously impaired by political discord, if not actual revolution.—Ex.

The Nebraska exponent of yellow journalism is doing its best to divert attention from the state house ring by wildly beating the air in the direction of a modest scientific gentleman in Philadelphia. The ruse will not work. Nobody knows that the Philadelphian ever did anything wrong, but the whole state knows that the states house people have sent out false campaign material, have broken every pledge they made to get into office, and have involved nearly every state institution they control in scandal and mismanagement. The republicans are perfectly willing to discuss state as well as national issues in this campaign, but they refuse to enter into a debate over Dr. Haidelkoper just because the World-Herald can find nothing else that it dares to discuss.—State Journal.

A CRITICAL TIME
 During the Battle of Santiago.

SICK OR WELL, A RUSH NIGHT AND DAY.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba were all Heroes. Their Heroic Efforts in Getting Ammunition and Rations to the Front Saved the Day.

P. E. Butler, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago de Cuba, on July 23, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect savior of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in our cases it absolutely saved life."

The above letter was written to the manufacturers of this medicine, the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by all druggists.

Cambell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head.
