W. B. Allen, not "windy" although he feels much larger, wears a very pleasant smile these days. It is not on account of election, but a wee bit of an American who has come to his house to sleep. The boy and mother are doing well and Billy will pull through with good treatment.

Prof. Keno the world's greatest illusionist, is drawing immense audiences each evening, and giving satisfaction to everybody. He surpasses any artist in his line who ever appeared here; many of his experiments seem to border on the supernatural, such as lifting a heavy piano by one finger, and causing the tables and chairs to float without support through space. He is marvel.—Springfield, Mass., Daily News. At White's opera house, Monday, November 14.

The Picture of Lewis Cass. When the court house was built and dedicated, Hon. J. Sterling Morton presented to Cass county, to be hung in the district court room, a picture of Hon. Lewis Cass, and which has graced the wall behind the judge's stand until the last spring when it was replaced by a painting which means nothing, yet it was intended to represent a masterpiece.

The Cass county bar together with others have petitioned the commissioners to have the picture of Hon. Lewis Cass replaced and thus to remain as a historic relic of Cass county. The commissioners have so ordered and the portrait of the name-sake of Cass will grace our district court room walls again.

Royally Entertained.

The members of the German Frauenverein and their invited guests spent a most enjoyable afternoon yesterday at the pleasant home of Mrs. F. H. Steinkor. The ladies learned that it was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Steinkor and resolved to give her a pleasant surprise in commemoration of the event. They carried with them baskets of refreshments and at five o'clock a tempting supper was served. The ladies surprised Mrs. Steinkor on arriving and still were so on leaving as several beautiful and valuable gifts were left as testimonials of the affection from the guests. The hostess when she recovered from her surprise, with the aid of her daughter, Mrs. Hayden, made the time pass so pleasantly that the afternoon will long be remembered by those present. The ladies present were: Mesdames Stadieman, Golding, Vallery, Wise, Root, McBride, Pearlman, Reich, Wohlfarth, Miss Eidman, Fanger, Schroeder, Tippens, Ebinger, Spies, Hild, Schuidica, and Hayden.

A Plain Drink.

Wm. Dodd, a long haired inhabitant of one of the islands of the Missouri river, came to town yesterday and hearing of the election going contrary to what he had expected, attempted to drown his grief in beer and whiskey, and caused such a disturbance at Dodd's place that the proprietor called upon Deputy Sheriff McBride, who invited him to take a visit to the county jail, which was immediately accepted. This morning after a few terrible dreams, Sir William appeared before his honor, Judge Archer, who gave him one dollar and trimmings, and the docket had a charge of Wm. Dodd, plain drunk.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Last night a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Steinkor, gave them a very pleasant surprise at their residence on South Sixth street.

Games and social conversation were indulged in until a late hour, when all departed declaring they had had a very pleasant time. A silver cracker bowl was presented to Mrs. Steinkor. Among those present were Messrs. and Mesdames J. C. Petersen, Jas. Leick, J. H. Gray, G. A. Hay, K. F. Dean, V. Berkel, G. Lingenberg, A. Schuidica, T. L. Davis, Misses Spies, Edmann, Mrs. Hayden and Corpse at W. H. Carmack and nurse.

Only a Dog Fight.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Robt. Karnes came to town with two loads of wood, a bull dog followed the wagons, another canine of the same variety belonging to the Fair store, grazed across the way, something in the personal appearance seemed to strike the other as repugnant, and with one accord they made a dash at each other, and the fight was on. A large crowd was attracted and the dogs had to be pulled apart. A little bad feeling was engendered over the affair.

The Christian Social.

The ladies of the Christian church gave a social and oyster supper in one of the rooms in the Wattenkamp block last night for the benefit of the church. A large crowd was present and an enjoyable time was had. The receipts were something over twenty dollars.

County Superintendent Farley yesterday decided the school district question which has been on the tapis for some time, where it was sought to create a new district out of No. 2, the Horning school, and No. 5 the Rock Bluffs school. The new district asked in the petition would have reduced the assessed valuation of property remaining in Rock Bluffs district to less than $1,200, which would have been contrary to law, as the statute prescribes that no new district shall be formed or one divided when the assessed valuation is less than the above stated amount.
